Discharged Accidentally in Hunt For Gangsters.

Chicago, Nov. 23 .- (A) -Activities of Chicago gangsters in the war for the control of gambling and vice syndicates were responsible for the accidental shooting of Detective Sergeant Thomas Lynch by another policeman early today.

A green sedan near the home of Tony Lombardo allied with Al "Scarface" Capone, a leader of one of the rival gangs, attracted the attention of Sergeant Lynch while touring the West Side. Before police in a squad car could question the occupants of the sedan, the latter drove off. In a two-mile chase the squad car skidded on a sharp turn, and Policeman F. T. Barnes' pistol was accidentally discharged, the bullet entering the sergeant's head.

At a hospital it was said the officer probably would recover. The gangsters escaped.
