McCONNELL WINS JURY'S VERDICT IN LIBEL CASE

in Returning a Decision Favorable to the Davidson Faculty Member.

Dr. J. W. McConnell, of the Davidson college faculty, won the jury here in a $12,500 libel suit preferred against him by Loan Archey after two days' legal battle before Judge Nat A. Townsend, Archey asked damages upon the claim that letters from the Davidson man to citizens of Concord, charging him with stealing a dog, had injured his reputation and

Connell were the law firms of Hartsell and Hartsell, H. S. Williams and Colonel T. L. Kirkpatrick, of Char The plaintiff was represented by Armfield, Sherrin and Barnhardt The suit for libel by Archey wa based on several letters to men of this city from the defendant, follow ing the disappearance of the dog from his home in Davidson on October 19, 1926. These letters were introduced into court by counsel for the plaintiff and read before the

These, they charged, were of such a nature as to materially hurt the reputation of the plaintiff as well as to cause him much mental suffering. In taking the stand on his own be half, Archey told how he had lost position following the receiving of the letters in this city and how cer tain young men of the city had tor mented him unmercifully by audibly barking when he passed them.

Counsel for the defense proved that in none of the fetters had Dr. Me Connell actually called the plaintiff a thief, that they were written solely for the sake of getting back the dog and not to damage, in any way, Ar chey's reputation. The defendant, in his testimony, declared that he had CLUBS DEVOTE STUDY not meant to damage the plaintiff. that his sole purpose in writing the that he shad only mentioned Archey because he was said to have resembled the person seen taking the dog

The jury's verdict was received after they had been out almost an hour following the forty-five minute charge by Judge Townsend, who briefly sketched the evidence in the case and urged the members of the jury to make their decision according to their own recollections and interpretations of what they had heard.

Dr. McConnell won the verdict in the Cabarrus Superior Court Tuesday, following a legal battle of two lays, when the jury awarded a devision of no damages. Hartsell and Hartsell, H. S. Williams and Colonel T. L. Kirkpatrick, of Charlotte, were he counsel for the defendant.

Archey's suit, instigated upon the laim that letters from the Davidson man to citizens of Concord, charging him with the theft of a dog, had injured his standing in the community and hurt his earning power, is expected to reach Supreme Court in the Spring term if the appeal is granted.

Miss Cannon Complimented at Buffet Supper.

One of the most charming parties given in Concord honoring Miss Ruth Cannon was the buffet supper given by Mrs. C. F. Ritchie, Mrs. William A. Ritchie and Miss Margaret Ritchie

A delicious supper was served buffet fashion in the dining room. The guests then formed their places at small tables, by the means of dainty brides bearing each name.

Mrs. W. F. Cannon and Mrs. Jay Lee Cannon presided at the beauti fully appointed table which presented a picture with it's color scheme o out. White snapdragons, white carnations and fern were artistically arranged in a green bowl, with green candles in green candle holders on either side. Green and white mints further carried out the color note.

Those present included Misses Can ion, Ava Carter, Alva Goswick, Ruth Crowell, Penelope Cannon, Magaret Ritchie and Annis Smoot, and Mrs. J. A. Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lightsey, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Lee Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cannon, Mr. Greensboro; F. C. Wise, Atlanta; Mrs. W. F. Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. George Means, Mr. and Mrs. Patter-Henderson, N. C.; W. R.
