A PAPER FOR THE PEOPLE

Entered at the Danbury N. C., Post-office as Second Class Matter.

THURSDAY, JULY 16, 1885.

THIS PAPER may be found on file at Geo. P. Rowell & Co's Newspaper Advertising Bureau (10 Spruce St.), where advertising contracts may be made for it IN NEW YORK.

Senator Vance is at Black Mountain.

Gen. Grant's life is ebbing away slowly but surely.

Kernersville is to have a Methodist Protestant church.

Professor W. C. Kerr is very ill at Durham, and it is feared that he will not recover.

Raleigh it is said proposes to exempt tobacco factories from taxation for a term of years.

The editor of the Lynchburg Virginian wants Gen. Early to write a history of the civil war.

When Sam Jones, the revivalist, was asked why he chewed tobacco, he replied: "To get the juice out."

New York has 1,553,730 inhabitants. With Brooklyn and other neighboring cities it has at least two and a half millions.

The Charleston News and Courier has made a calculation and says that nine out of every ten of the Confederate soldiers were non-slaveholders.

Gen. Butler writes that he does not intend to take part in politics save when he may be called upon. That settles it. Gen. Butler's retirement is final and complete.

It is about time to stop "shaking hands over the bloody chasm." Let Mr. Cleveland fill up the chasm with "offensive partisans." Nobody will weep for them, and then the unsightly rent will be lost to the mind's eye for ever more.

According to a veracious exchange Mary Hill, of California, is twenty-two years old, good looking, owns 400 acres of land, shoots a revolver, and advertises that she wants to marry a newspaper man. We publish this for the information of susceptible contemporaries.

Miss Emma Long, the 13-year old daughter of the Register of Deeds of Jackson county, stole a marriage license from her father's desk and ran away with Oscar B. Coward and married him. Such a Coward-ly transaction could not take place in Stokes; fact is, we don't believe our Register has any 13-year old daughter.

Sam Jones makes a great mistake in saying that certain men "ought to have been in hell long ago." Outside of the patent wickedness of such language, Samuel should try to get the consent of his mind to allow the Almighty the credit of doing what is best in such matters. If Samuel were running the machine, too many people would be damned.

WHO SHOULD FILL THE OFFICES?

The Warrenton Gazette answers the above as follows: "It is agreed that all the offices under the Federal Government should be filled by approved Democrats; that these Democrats should be fully competent; that they should be from the working Democrats, and not the drones It is not fair or just that those who have given of their time, talents and means to the cause, should be thrust aside when the victory has been won and the honors are to be awarded. Such a course would soon destroy the strongest party that was ever formed. And lastly, all other things being equal, the offices should be given to the poor men of the party."

Who says this is not good doctrine? We thank our brother of the Gazette for his sensible, manly utterances. But few have failed to observe that poverty, however worthy the applicant for office, is most generally a disqualifying impediment. The politicians should remember that the humblest man among us can control at least one vote. The poor men collectively control in all elections. We repeat, it is not well to lose sight of this fact.

Good Reading for Young Men.

The late Edward Pierrepont, who distinguished himself as secretary of the American legation at Rome, once received a letter from his father which contained the following sound advice:

Dress like a gentleman; never be peculiar or flashy, but dress as becomes you, not as becomes some one else. Never talk about your expenses or your money, and never be ashamed to live with economy; on the contrary, be proud of it. Your business is now to acquire knowledge, and you need not be anxious to display yours, especially to older men, but always try to learn of them.

Never say to another what it would be unpleasant to have him say to you.

Remember that good manners are of great importance. Manners should be frank and easy, with dignity.

Avoid fawning, toadying ways as you would the foul fiend. Never fawn to a prince or swagger to a peasant. Be courteous and manly everywhere and to everybody.

Let your manner be quiet; nothing is more underbred than a flurried address, with a face wrinkled all over with grinning delight.

The countenance can express pleasure and welcome without idiotic contortions, and when these appear, whether in the son of a duke or a drayman, they are intensely vulgar.

You cannot have good manners in the drawing room if your habitual manner is bad; the habit will betray you; let the habit be always good.

Far better that you look frigid even, than that you degrade your countenance with silly hilarity

Be a gentleman, feel like a gentleman, and you will look and act like one.

Sometimes you will be neglected and your vanity will feel wounded. Never let this annoy you. Be absolutely sure that in due time all will come right, and that you will have all the consideration that you merit. No one can do you any permanent injury but yourself. The world is so constituted that it is not in man's power to withhold respect from loftly character, real ability and good conduct.

You may be invited to a ball or dinner because you dance or tell a good story; but no one since the time of Queen Elizabeth has been made a cabinet minister or a lord chancellor for such reasons.

Joining the Church on a Guano Note.

A colored brother removing from Coweta to Meriwether brought along his church letter. Settling near Rocky Mount he concluded to become a member at Bethel, a colored church near him. It so happened that in the same pocket in which reposed the certificate of church membership was also deposited last year's guano note. In handing in his letter to the church the brother made a mistake and gave his guano note instead. The church clerk not being a very good reader never detected the error until several months afterward. Being at a loss what to do about the matter he called upon a learned white brother in the settlement for advice. The white man counseled that the matter be allowed to stand, saying that a guano note was more binding than anything else in the world. It forbid him even to take a homestead against his religion, and if one lived up to the note's requirements he thought the church ought not to complain. So the guano paper entitles the colored applicant to full membership at Bethel.—Meriwether (Ga.) Vindicator.

We cannot consent to give up the alphabet or the spelling book. They are both, it is true, very old timely; but we are not ready to jump to the conclusion at the mere word of bold modern innovations, to condemn the experience of all time and claim that we are wiser than our fathers; we are not ready to say that, because we seem to be more advanced in science and art than they, and because we get about the world quicker than they, that we can therefore get over the field of learning faster than they did. A royal pupil in old times, impatient to be as learned as the philosophers around him without the fatigues of study, was bluntly told there was no royal road to learning. If he would become learned, he must dig and delve and hew, and work like the son of the peasant. There is no royal road now; and the very beginning of the labor of education is in laying its foundation in the acquirement of its principles, a thorough knowledge of the component parts of language and training in the scholarly use of them.—Asheville Citizen.

Farming in South Carolina.

A farmer from Lexington was in town yesterday, and when asked what he was doing here said he was very busy at home fighting grass but had to stop long enough to come over and buy hay for his horses.—Columbia (S. C.) Register.

A MARVELOUS STORY

TOLD IN TWO LETTERS.

FROM THE SON: "28 Cedar St., New York, Oct. 28, 1882.

"Gentlemen: My father resides at Glover, Vt. He has been a great sufferer from Scrofula, and the inclosed letter will tell you what a marvelous effect has had in his case. I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years; but it did not show, except in the form of a scrofulous sore on the wrist, until about five years ago. From a few spots which appeared at that time, it gradually spread so as to cover his entire body. I assure you he was terribly afflicted, and an object of pity, when he began using your medicine. Now, there are few men of his age who enjoy as good health as he has. I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case.

Yours truly, W. M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER: "It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores. The humor caused an incessant and intolerable itching, and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved. My sufferings were great, and my life a burden. I commenced the use of the SARSAPARILLA in April last, and have used it regularly since that time. My condition began to improve at once. The sores have all healed, and I feel perfectly well in every respect—being now able to do a good day's work, although 73 years of age. Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case, and I tell them, as I have here tried to tell you, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Glover, Vt., Oct. 21, 1882. Yours gratefully, HIRAM PHILLIPS."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.

of Moore's Knob, the Hanging Rock, and other prominent peaks along the Sauratown mountain. The lots are well covered with large and small forest trees, which will afford shade in summer and form of the purest mountain water, entitling it to the Indian name, "Camaca," a land of springs, which, together with the pure mountain air, would bring color to the faded cheek, and strength to weary frame, even if there was no real mineral water within a hundred miles of the place.

Beautiful Groves.

The whole is

The undersigned propose also to erect a saw-mill, planing machine, &c., that they may build cottages or furnish lumber to those who wish to purchase lots in this healthful locality, where no malaria ever comes, and a case of typhoid fever was never known, except it was contracted out of the neighborhood.

The price of lots this season, 50x100 feet, will be $25 each. For further particulars addres,
