"A child's among you take'n notes, And, faith, he'll print it."

Any subscriber who fails to receive the REPORTER AND POST every week is requested to report the failure. We want to see where the fault is.

Sun rises 4 55; sets 7 5.
There are two prisoners in jail.
Day's length 14 hours 9 minutes.

Corn is selling in Danbury at 90 cents.

The lily of the valley brand of flour is selling here at $2.70.

Wheat is looking well in the north-west part of the county.

We have seen corn in the Brown Mountain section knee high.

The railroad stockade near Tom's creek is ready for occupancy.

The new Methodist church at Kernersville will be dedicated June 5th.

We see some fine lots of grass about town, good things to have to be sure.

The season during this week has been all that could be desired for planting tobacco.

The Forsyth Riflemen have gone to the National Military Drill at Washington this week.

A convict on the C. F. & Y. V. Railroad was shot and killed while attempting to escape week before last.

The following license to marry has been returned to the Register's office: J. B. Smith to Emma Kierson.

The striking arrangement of the German clock seems to require some adjustment; it strikes too slow.

The showery weather this week has had a good effect on vegetation, for the up land was beginning to need rain.

The Missionary Baptists will meet in conference at Covington's meeting house to-morrow Friday 27, Saturday and Sunday.

This writer was the recipient of a dish of luscious strawberries from Miss Etta G. Joyce last week; the first he had seen this season.

The train leaves Walnut Cove at 2 10 p. m., arrives at Greensboro at 5; leaves Greensboro at 10 15 a. m., arrives at Walnut Cove 1 p. m.

Some farmers who had planted thousands of tobacco plants say that not more than one tenth of them are living, the flea bug having destroyed them.

The boards of assessors are required to be present with the magistrates at the next meeting of the Commissioners which occurs next Monday week June 6th.

The plaintive voice of the dove is not as commonly heard in this county this season as in other years; but cooings of partridges may be heard "bob-whiting" as in other years.

After that the bridge across Town Fork shall have built and nine trestles put up between Walnut Cove and Germantown there will be no obstruction as far as known to delay the track laying to Dalton.

Mt. Airy has so far progressed as to have a bank which makes the announcement "Checks on Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston cashed." Danbury has not as much as a money order office.

The tinsmiths are at the McCanness House repairing roofs for the summer season in order to accommodate the crowd of visitors that may be expected at that popular stopping place for health and pleasure.

Salvation Oil always cures pain. It should be the companion of every traveling man. It extinguishes pain, whether resulting from a cut, a burn, a bruise, or a sprain. Get only the genuine. Price twenty-five cents a bottle.

We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation to the Regiment Encampment Ball complimentary to visiting military companies of the second regiment North Carolina State Guard by the Wilmington Light Infantry, Friday May 20th.

We learn that one of three railroad companies will build a road to this place in the near future to get our lime, iron, timber, manganese, &c. It will be a big thing for the company that gets it if they want freight; it is a prize worth striving for.

We are surprised that some of our people do not go into fish culture and raise carp, as they seem fond enough of fish flesh to induce them to contrive some means by which they could have a better supply than the uncertainty of getting them from the river.

The next and sixth Union Meeting of the Pilot Mountain Association meets to-morrow Friday with Brown Mountain Church, near Covington's school house. Introductory Sermon Friday, at 11 o'clock, A. M., by H. A. Brown.

How tantalizing to one's appetite to read that at Swansboro. "Mr. W. J. Provow went out last week and caught about 150 conchs, a bushel of large stone crabs, besides bushels of fine fat clams. They sell very cheap now—hardly any sale for them at all."

We have before us the last annual catalogue of the University of North Carolina. It contains the names of 204 matriculates. There are 17 lecture rooms, 6 laboratories and museums for daily scientific work; a large general museum; a select library of 25,000 volumes; a reading room of 80 papers and journals, and a fine supply of maps and illustrative apparatus.

A flock of four ravens sailed by here this week; they are common at this season of the year on the mountain, but are not often seen about Danbury. The peculiar character of its voice lead some persons to think the sound proceeded from a human being in distress one morning; indeed it can be taught to imitate the human voice and even to pronounce a few words with great distinctness. Its scientific name is Corvus cornix.

A young fellow brought a horse to Danbury last week which he offered for sale to Sheriff Dalton for $35, stating in answer to a question of the Sheriff that his mother lived on the land of Dr. Frank Pringle and that she was in want of means to buy provision. Mr. Dalton on enquiring learned that Dr. Pringle had no knowledge of the man, who was then taken into custody and committed on suspicion. The same day the owner of the horse turned up in Mr. McMillen a citizen of Carroll county Va.

The Jefferson Appalachian Philosopher came to us last week changed in name, form, and management. It has passed into the hands of Mr. J. Warren Gardner of Westley, R. I., and appears under the name Jefferson News. Mr. Murchison the former proprietor of the paper, a native of Salem, has gone to Westley, R. I., where he takes charge of the Westley News, which he purchased from the editor, Mr. J. Warren Gardner. We do not know whether the abolition of State governments will continue to form a characteristic feature of the paper, but we note that hygiene and temperance retain a conspicuous share of attention.

Passing a few days since through the nearest dead town we ever saw a gentle man of the place advised us to leave our back woods home, and come to his place. How presumptuous, it may be thought (presuming on our part) that he thought we would give some life to his dead town. If we were to argue the question with that good friend, we would say that few places in the State have a brighter future (near future too) than Danbury, located in the very midst of the finest iron in the State, with timber as good as in any other section, and water power that would run every spindle in half a dozen States, a climate as healthy as probably any in the world. Now that the C. F. & Y. V. Railroad is completed to within ten miles of us capital will not be long in finding what we have and then in place of being a back woods town Danbury will be a second Birmingham.

We are glad to say that Mr. Whitaker, who was shot a few days ago, is improving as fast as could be expected. We hope he will be out soon.

Married on last Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, Mr. J. A. Mirony, to Miss Carrie T. Pogram, by Rev. T. H. Pogram, at Mr. Pogram's residence.

WINSTON-SALEM.

I spent a day or two in Winston last week, and found there, all its citizens—with but few exceptions—to be highly elated with the prospect of an extension of the N. W. N. C. R. R., to Wilkesboro. They may see prospective benefits from this new improvement that one like myself cannot discover, where these cities are to trap such great rewards that from improvement. It will make the Salem station a way station, only an hour or two distant from Greensboro, which is a railroad center, and the energy displayed by the citizens and town authorities of the "City of Flowers," looking to a system of water works, electric lights, street railways, &c., it will soon be to the State of North Carolina what now, Atlanta is to Georgia. Does Winston-Salem wish to build up a rival town which already has so many advantages over them? It looks so to one living in Stokes county.

What has made Winston-Salem such a thriving place within the last decade? It is the thirty or more tobacco factories, the cotton and woolen mills, the flour and corn mills, and many other industries which draw trade from all surrounding counties. Now what will Winston-Salem get by tapping Wilkesboro with a railroad? Wilkes county does not produce cotton and but little wool to supply the cotton and woolen mills nor much tobacco to supply the many factories, and the chief trade from that county will be corn, wheat, Irish potatoes, vegetables and fruit which are the legitimate trade of the merchants and grocers. Why did not Winston-Salem put their $60,000 in the road from Roanoke through Henry county, Va., by the vast iron deposits in Stokes, or to their towns to Mooresville?

Stokes county by her trade has contributed more than any other county to build up Winston-Salem, the county of Forsyth not excepted, and her citizens are partial to these cities, and notwithstanding we have the iron horse puffing through our southern border inviting our trade to other towns, we dislike very much to see them investing their money in a suicidal scheme. I will show Winston-Salem more cogent reasons in my next, for the building a railroad that will benefit instead injure them.

If the times are too hard for you to pay just a part of what you are due on this paper after reading it three four or five years without paying a single cent, they are too hard for us to continue sending it; and if you who are so far behind, do not show some appreciation of our effort to build up yourselves, and your county, we will be compelled to drop your name from our mail book. We do not ask all you owe us, but ask you to send us some part of what you are due on subscription, if you want your paper continued. This is not intended for prompt paying subscribers, who are only one or two years behind, but for subscribers who can pay something if they would and are several years behind. Remember printers expect their pay whenever they call for it, print paper, ink and type are cash articles, and a paper cannot run without money. Send us something if but a dollar or two, it will help to keep the paper going and show that you appreciate our efforts in working for the interest of your county.
