

WHISKEY PAPER
THE SHAKESPEARE CONTROVERSY.

Whether the authorship of Shakespeare's plays should be attributed to Francis Lord Bacon is a question that has been recently revived by Mr. Ignatius Donnelly in an article contributed by him a few months since to the New York Sun. We allude to it as a revival of this discussion though the numerous papers that have so severely commented on Mr. Donnelly's theory seem to quite ignore the fact that the discussion of the question is not a new one.

Of all the petitions which have reached the Governor of Illinois, for and against clemency in the case of the Anarchists, there is only one formal petition, and that comes from an interior town in New York, with only eight signatures attached, and the Governor thinks there is nothing before him upon which he can legally take action.

WASPS IN THE WINDOW LIGHTS.-- Those persons who have been killing the wasps that swarm in the window lights of our houses, during the last two weeks, have been surprised by the tenacity of life exhibited by this insect. Some of the boys who have been amusing themselves by cutting the insects in two with a knife or scissors have witnessed the singular fact that the body of the insect retains life and freedom of motion apparently as well as before the body was severed, while those insects that are left for dead, in many instances, are found the next day to still retain vitality.

Gov. Scott has appointed Thursday, Nov. 24, as a day of thanksgiving and praise.

The Fayetteville Observer is our authority for noting that a firm in that town received week before last in one shipment from the Walnut Cove and Pilot Mountain section of the C. F. & Y. V. R. R., twenty-nine crates of cabbage and barrels of apples. It rightly observes that "Low freights on this road will make us independent of Northern cabbage, apples, butter, etc."

Winston Daily. We learn from Mr. George W. Hinchshaw, chairman of the railroad committee, that he has succeeded in making an agreement by which responsible parties agree to iron and equip a railroad from Winston-Salem to Danbury, on condition that the people along the line grade, crossing and bridge the road. He has also made an arrangement by which eight miles of the Winston & Wilkesboro road can be used for the Danbury line.

A Terrible Surgical Operation
A FATAL MISTAKE.

The Cleveland (Ohio) Press, of February 23d, 1883, published an account of a fatal surgical operation which caused a great commotion among medical men throughout the whole country, Dr. Thayer, the most eminent surgeon in Cleveland, pronouncing it scandalous. It appears that a Mrs. King had been suffering for many years from some disease of the stomach, which had resisted the treatment of all the physicians in attendance. The disease commenced with a slight derangement of the digestion, with a poor appetite, followed by a peculiar indescribable distress in the stomach, a feeling that has been described as a faint "all gone" sensation, a sticky slime collecting about the teeth, causing a disagreeable taste. This sensation was not removed by food, but, on the contrary, it was increased. After a while the hands and feet became cold and sticky—a cold perspiration. There was a constant tired and languid feeling. Then followed a dreadful nervousness, with gloomy forebodings. Finally the patient was unable to retain any food whatever, and there was constant pain in the abdomen. All prescribed remedies failing to give relief, a consultation was held, when it was decided that the patient had a cancer in the stomach, and in order to save the patient's life an operation was justifiable. Accordingly, on the 22d of February, 1883, the operation was performed by Dr. Tuckerman, Dr. Perrier, Dr. Arms, Dr. Gordon, Dr. Capner, and Dr. Halliwell of the Police Board. The operation consisted in laying open the cavity of the abdomen and exposing the stomach and bowels. When this had been done an examination of the organs was made, but to the horror and dismay of the doctors there was no cancer to be found. The patient did not have a cancer. When too late the medical men discovered that they had made a terrible mistake; but they sewed the parts together and dressed the wound that they had made, but the poor woman sank from exhaustion and died in a few hours. How sad it must be for the husband of this poor woman to know that his wife died from the effects of a surgical operation that ought never to have been performed. If this woman had taken the proper remedy for Dyspepsia and Nervous Prostration (for this was what the disease really was), she would have been living to-day. SPARKER'S EXTRACT OF ROOTS, OR SEIGEL'S CURATIVE SYRUP, a remedy made expressly for Dyspepsia or Indigestion, has restored many such cases to perfect health after all other kinds of treatment have failed. The evidence of its efficacy in curing this class of cases is too voluminous to be published here; but those who read the published evidence in favor of this dyspeptic remedy do not question its convincing nature, and the article has an extensive sale.
