

Briefs Adrift.

Mr. W. M. Mabe, of Meadows, was here today.

It is learned that Mr. F. W. Owens, of Delk, is very low with grippe.

Mr. Samuel Johnson, of Walnut Cove R. F. D. No. 1, was here yesterday.

Mr. John G. Fulton, one of Walnut Cove's hustling merchants, was here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Davis, of Pinnacle, visited their son, Mr. A. W. Davis, the past week.

Messrs. Z. N. Moran, Matt Covington and Bud Williams were here from Meadows Monday.

Messrs. Levi W. Ferguson and John Campbell, of Germantown Route 1, visited Danbury Tuesday.

Mr. W. L. Hall, of Vade Mecum was in town Monday. Mr. Hall reports the illness of his son, Gorrell, who has been sick for several weeks with grip and bronchitis. Mr. Hall himself has sat up with the young man for 19 nights in succession.

Dr. J. W. Slate, of Mizpah, was in town today. The Reporter is glad to learn that the report current here some time ago to the effect that Dr. Slate expected to leave the county early, is a mistake. Dr. Slate had a flattering offer recently from a well known commercial firm, which he declined. We need more such men as Dr. Slate in Stokes, rather than less.

WALNUT COVE ENTERPRISES.

Two Brick Manufactories, a Bottling Works and a Chair Factory to Be Established—Eight Thousand Dollar Hotel Talked of—Personals.

Walnut Cove, Feb. 6.—Two manufacturing enterprises will begin operation here sometime in the near future. One is the Hedge-Cox brick factory. They will begin putting in their sidetrack the coming week, if weather continues good. As soon as this is completed they will place their machinery and be ready for manufacturing the little blocks. This factory will work about 20 men, using several thousand cords of wood during the season. The Banner Brick Co. will also begin operation again in spring. The other enterprise referred to is the D. S. Boyles Bottling Works. Mr. Boyles proposes to make the drinks known as ginger ale, sarsaparilla, lemon soda, etc., and cocoa. He spoke to Mr. Darian Watkins for the latter's building on Main St., formerly used as a coffin house, for this purpose. There are two other enterprises hinted at by men in town. One a chair factory, the other an $8,000.00 hotel to be built on the hill west of the mineral spring, same to be opened in summer as a resort for health seekers and in winter as a home for the Northern people who come here to hunt. There is no definite information available about these two enterprises, however, your correspondent is of the opinion that the stock in the former has all been subscribed and by home-folks exclusively. The certainty of its immediate establishment depends upon the decision of Mr. W. A. Young, who will be the manager. The latter is in the hands of moneyed men from the North.

Trembleton, of Dillard, was on the streets here this week. Miss Maggie Adams, assistant teacher in public school here, is sick. Miss Rhoda, her sister, is teaching for her at present.

Johnson and Fulton had a nice horse to die with pneumonia last Friday.

NOT ON A PUBLIC HIGHWAY.

Commissioners Refused to Re-Build Washed-Out Stone Bridge Near Piedmont Springs—Other Matters Transacted By the Board

The County Commissioners at their meeting here Monday declined to rebuild the recently washed-out stone bridge near Piedmont Springs on the ground that the bridge was not on a public road, but is the property of the Piedmont Springs Company. W. M. Jackson, road overseer, appeared before the board asking that the bridge be replaced. The board investigated the matter and found that the road in question was never approved as a public highway, and therefore declined to take any action upon the request of Mr. Jackson.

The Board ordered the old Spanish oak road in Quaker Gap township reopened, and appointed J. B. Dunman, overseer of the same.

Clerk of the Court M. T. Chilton reported the collection of fines and forfeitures since his last report, Aug 7, 1905, to the amount of $204.91, which sum, less the Clerk's commissions, was turned over to Treasurer J. M. Reynolds.
