Piedmont Springs Hotel has recently been enjoying the greatest season in its history. On account of the fact that it is so easily reached hundreds of people come here now every week, and especially on Sunday the hotel management is hard-worked to feed the throngs who come up to spend the day. There are about 100 regular guests at the hotel and with the large crowds who come up to spend the day it makes it look like quite a little town here on Sundays.

How to Get Trusted.

In these days of skyscrapers unusual attention is being paid to foundations. They were always important, but now that the buildings are going higher than ever, the foundations must receive greater care than ever.

We see illustrations constantly of this same fact in the building of lives and careers. The office boy who puts a letter in the wrong envelope when he is sending out the mail; the clerk who makes mistakes in his weights and measurements; the stenographer or teacher who lets little errors slip through her work; the helper of any sort who cannot be trusted to get things just right—these are not the people upon whom heavier burdens are put. The people in authority do not care to build important structures of responsibility and opportunity upon these unsafe foundations.—The Christian Herald.

WALNUT COVE NEWS

Pretty Wedding of Mr. T. J. Covington and Miss Bessie Shaw Perkin.

LARGE INDUSTRY

May Materialize For Walnut Cove In the Furniture Factory Spoken Of—Other News of Interest.

Walnut Cove, July 15. — A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride at Old Trinity last Wednesday evening at eight o'clock when Miss Bessie Shaw Perkin became the bride of our townsman, Mr. Thos. J. Covington. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. S. Raper in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The bride, who was beautifully attired in a gown of white, was attended by her sister, Mrs. E. F. Pepper, of Thomasville, while Mr. C. C. Smith, of Winston-Salem, acted as best man. The bride is from one of the most prominent families of the Old Trinity section and has been teaching in the school at that place for some time. Mr. Covington, who is well known in this county, is one of our town's progressive business men, at present being the successful owner and manager of the Walnut Cove Motor Co. The happy couple have the best wishes of their many friends at this place.

It is rumored that a High Point concern is anxious to erect and operate a large furniture factory here, provided they can secure the proper encouragement from the citizens and property owners of the town. Such an industry would mean much to the community and will doubtless have the co-operation of the citizens who realize the urgent need of a manufacturing industry. Nothing definite has been learned as to the identity of the firm that has the matter under consideration.

A severe hail and wind storm visited the Old Town section a few miles east of here Thursday, doing considerable damage to the corn and tobacco crops besides unroofing several buildings.

Since the recent rains the farmers who come to town on business are very enthusiastic about their crops especially the tobacco which they had almost given up as being beyond the aid of rain. While many are confident that the crop cannot be as large as in previous years, it is generally conceded that there will be a far greater yield than was expected a week ago.

A great many of the young people from here spent Sunday at Piedmont Springs and other places up in the mountains making the trip by automobiles. No people derive more pleasure from the blessings of good roads than the folks of Walnut Cove. There are more than twenty cars owned here which is probably as many as any town of its size in the state can boast of. With the Republican primaries only a few days off politics is waxing warm as it usually does at this place. The main target seems to be the office of county treasurer with as many as four aspirants from this immediate section. Messrs. Fagg, Petree, Glidewell and Fowler all have strong following and many active friends and the fight promises to be an interesting one to the finish.

Almost all the business houses here are taking up the slogan, "Swat the fly," and the champion germ carrier is the victim of various traps and snares. To Dr. Critz, however, belongs the honor for devising the most destructive of all the methods which is just a box covered with wire with small wire funnels on the bottom, the bait is placed beneath the box, the fly, after satisfying his appetite, flies up into the funnel and is trapped. The little boxes were placed along the streets Saturday and since then it is safe to say that no less than a million flies are dead as a result. The little boxes are inexpensive and no other method is near so effective.

Mr. C. M. Miller, who is making road surveys in Surry county, was here last week on business connected with the roads here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fulton, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Davis and Geo. Fulton visited relatives in Greensboro Sunday.

Miss Cleo Marion, of Winston-Salem, is visiting the Misses Boyles this week.

Capt. R. L. Murphy spent Thursday in Winston-Salem on business.

Mr. Stokes Linville and sister, Miss Nora, spent the week end here with friends.

Elder J. A. Fagg went to Clear Spring Sunday where he officiated at a baptising and delivered a sermon.
