MAY HAVE A FAIR

Citizen Thinks Walnut Cove the Logical Point For Such An Enterprise.

BAPTISING SUNDAY

Death Of Young Lady—A Queer Spectacle—Capt. Landreth On the Weather—Personals and Other Items From Walnut Cove.

Walnut Cove, July 13.—The remains of Mary Emily, the eleven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Lackey, of Winston-Salem, and the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. R. Lackey of this place, arrived here Monday on the afternoon train and were carried to the family burying ground near Lawsonville where interment took place today. The little girl passed away early Monday morning at the City Hospital in Winston-Salem after an illness of several days of appendicitis. Her parents, four brothers and four sisters survive.

As a result of the recent revival meetings held here a few weeks since by Rev. J. W. Ham five persons were baptized Sunday afternoon in the pool near the Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. A. L. McLendon. Services were held at the Baptist church immediately after the baptizing ceremonies.

A queer spectacle, humorous in its aspect, greeted the sight-seers on the streets late Sunday afternoon when a large automobile approached drawn by the motive power of a horse and a mule. In the car were seated six stalwart young men who had started out for a pleasure trip from Mayodan to the mountains of Stokes. The usual thing occurred, the engine stopped and for reasons of its own remained immovable. As a last resort the mule and horse were pressed into service to tow the ponderous machine to a repair shop at this place. After depositing the burden in the garage the young fellows walked over to the station in the face of a strong rain and secured a berth on the northbound freight.

Capt. W. P. Landreth, who is quite a novice along agricultural lines as well as a proficient mechanic, was on the street Saturday demonstrating some big, juicy red strawberries which grew as a second crop this year. The captain speculates on weather conditions somewhat and he informs us that if it rains on the first day that it will rain each day for forty days. Only a few drops fell here on that day and according to the conclusions drawn the next six weeks will be reasonable but not to extreme.

A progressive citizen casually asked the other day why Walnut Cove could not have a fair. He wisely stated that this was the logical point for a county fair on account of its accessibility to every section of the county and that one of the warehouses could be used for an exhibit hall. It would be a great step toward establishing a close relationship between the farmer and the business man while the capital required would be a small matter. It is a question for the wide awake board of trade to consider.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Dodson and daughter, Miss Willie, spent Saturday and Sunday at Piedmont Springs.

Messrs. Chas. and Ballard Jewell, of East Radford, Va., are visiting relatives, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morefield, this week.

INSTITUTES SOON.

To Be Held For Farmers In Stokes Next Month.

Farmers Institutes will be held in Stokes at Walnut Cove on August 5th and at Dillard on August 12th. At the same times and places Institutes for women will be held and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. T. B. Parker, who is the director of the Farmers Institutes to be held in the State, writes as follows:

Farmers' Institutes have passed the experimental stage. The development along all agricultural lines is a silent testimony of their worth to the farmers of the State. But we are not content with past achievements. We want to go forward and lend our influence to a still higher agricultural development.

This year we are laying emphasis on diversification of crops; soil improvement; more live stock; more corn, wheat, oats, hay, etc., so as to make our farms self supporting and enable our farmers to keep the money at home that has heretofore been going to other states to purchase the things that we should grow at home. Anything that you can say to help bring the farmers out to the institutes, and help bring about the wholesome condition of growing our own feed and food products will be greatly appreciated.

It is our purpose to hold women's institutes in connection with the institutes for men. We want the farmers' wives and daughters to attend these institutes. While the men are discussing the more important topics of health, food for the family, how to lighten women's work, the care of children, the value of a garden, the necessity of fresh milk and butter in the home, and a number of other things that lie close to the hearts of the women on the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Chilton left this morning to attend the funeral of Mr. Chilton's niece, Mrs. Robert Frans, of Francisco, who died early today. The interment will be made at the burying ground of Westfield Baptist church.

Messrs. Peter George, Ed. Hicks, Jesse and Paul George returned Saturday from City Point, Va., where they have been employed for several weeks by the Dupont Powder Co. They report the growth of City Point almost marvelous and that wages are high and times good in that section. A year ago the town was merely a bend in the James river while today it is a city of about twenty thousand inhabitants.

The store of Mr. Paul Fulton, adjoining the Stokes Grocery Co., is nearing completion.

Messrs. Carl Joyce, S. H. Stewart, Paul Fulton, Watson Joyce, E. O. Creakman and Elwood Boyles made a trip to Piedmont, Moores' and Vade Mecum Springs Sunday.

MANAGER BELL CO.

Making Effort To Secure Telephone Line From Danbury To Rural Hall.

HERE THIS WEEK

Mr. W. B. Little Negotiating With Big Creek Telephone Co. For Purchase Of Some Of their Lines.

Mr. W. B. Little, manager of the Bell Telephone Co., at Winston-Salem, spent yesterday and today in Danbury and other parts of Stokes with a view to establishing better telephone service between Danbury and Winston-Salem.

Mr. Little stated that he was negotiating with the Big Creek Telephone Co. for the purchase of their lines between Danbury and Rural Hall, where the Big Creek Co. taps the lines of the Bell Company.

At present and for some time past there has been practically no service at all between Danbury and Winston-Salem on account of the poor condition of the line between this place and Rural Hall and Mr. Little stated that if his company could buy this line it would be put in first-class condition and kept so. If this line cannot be bought Mr. Little stated that his company would likely build a line of its own from Danbury to the nearest point where the Bell line can be tapped.

It is very gratifying to know that the Bell people are interested in getting better telephone service to Danbury because they know how and will give good service.

Danbury Route 1, July 13.—One of the most enjoyable entertainments given by Miss Addie Mabe was that on last Saturday night when she entertained for the second time this season a large number of friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bennett. A more ideal play could not have been thought of for the pleasure and fun of those present. The play consisted of an apron hemming. All during this time music was furnished by Messrs. Charlie Nelson and Gilbert Alley. Six aprons were presented by the young ladies to be hemmed after which they were given to the judges, Messdames J. R. Bennett, Chesley Taylor and Powell Mabe. After close inspection the judges decided that Miss Annie Mabe received the best hemmed apron by Mr. Charlie Oakley, who thanked the judges for their wise decision. No premium was awarded. Those present were Misses Annie and Dora Mabe, Biddie and Gracie Taylor, May and Addie Mabe; Messrs. Sam and Gilbert Alley, Reggie Hartman, Harry and Mose Harger, Dillard Dodson, Jonah and Banner Woods, Jim Finchum, Charlie Nelson, Jesse, Sherman and Strawdy Mabe, Bib, Arthur, Gorrell, Ollie and Sandy Mabe, Edgar Nelson, Oscar Smith, George Harger, Moir and McKinley Reid, William Simmons and Alex Adams.
