PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY

DANBURY, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JULY 10, 1929.

For Judge, John D. Humphreys.

Since Judge Shaw and Solicitor Spruill have both announced their respective retirements when their terms end next year, there will be a new judge and a new solicitor to elect in this district, and the Reporter rises right now to remark that the judicial ermine could not be more fittingly laid than on the shoulders of Hon. John D. Humphreys of Danbury.

Mr. Humphreys is splendidly qualified in every respect to be judge. His long experience in the practice of the law, his calm temperament, his education and his integrity eminently equip him for this high position. Moreover, his loyal service to the Democratic party of North Carolina entitles him to this recognition.

Guilford and Davidson counties have furnished the judicial and solicitorial timber heretofore, and very able timber it has been. No jurist in the State has eclipsed Judge Shaw in ability or efficiency, his opinions being quoted everywhere, while Solicitor Spruill has been one of the most successful prosecutors in the annals of the State. His record is almost unexcelled anywhere. Both of these men have signally honored their respective counties, the State and themselves. During this time, Stokes county has not been distinguished with a high position in either the judicial, executive or administrative affairs of the State. Not that Stokes county has not had men who were capable of serving with ability and honor, but rather because of the greater political balance being outside of our domain. Now Stokes county feels its chance has come. It deserves this recognition, and demands it for its son.

Let the nomination for Judge in this district be given to John D. Humphreys, in fairness all around. We believe that a nice sense of what is right and just and true—of which Guilford and Davidson are capable—will lead them to concede the judgeship to Stokes.

Danger to Piedmont North Carolina's Tobacco Interests.

It is a distinct disappointment to farmers and business men of the old belt of North Carolina and Virginia that the Tobacco Association failed to arrange an earlier opening of the markets than October 1. It is a long time until October 1 as measured by the crying needs of tobacco growers who are making this crop under unusually difficult conditions. The result is bound to mean considerable loss of sales by the warehousemen of Piedmont North Carolina. As early as 1926 farmers of Rockingham, Stokes and other counties learned to go as far east as Durham and Oxford with first primings to sell, returning home the same day. Trucks on hard surface roads can cover large distances between daylight and dark. The eastern Carolina markets open September 3 this year, a month earlier than ours. There is no question that heavy sales of Piedmont belt tobacco will occur this year in the eastern markets, as hundreds of farmers are in need of quick money to meet their pressing needs.

The tobacco interests of Winston-Salem, Reidsville, Danville, etc., may well take cognizance of the impending and rapidly growing danger to their business which is encouraged by modern easy transportation but which condition is precipitated by the arbitrary rulings of the Tobacco Association.

Risking Credit to Crop-Gamblers.

Farmers have been taught the lesson this spring with more emphasis than ever before that a farmer's most reliable resource is himself. With his credit impaired or exhausted at the bank, and with his supply merchant on a cash basis, the tobacco grower who ran out of feedstuffs in May or June, has been up against the real thing. When a farmer goes to the store to buy food for his family or for his mules, hogs and cattle, he marks himself as a poor risk for credit. One-crop farmers never fail sooner or later to become bankrupt. The bank or merchant who undertakes to feed farmers will rue it, some day. The risk is fundamentally unsound. Because you pay up this year is no reason why you will pay up next year, if you are a crop-gambler.

County Board Of Agriculture Meets

Walnut Cove, July 10.—The first meeting of the Stokes County Board of Agriculture met in the grand jury room at the court house Monday afternoon. This meeting was attended by twenty-three leading farmers of Stokes county. Many valuable suggestions were made as to the needs of Stokes county. The county agent will be largely guided by these suggestions in developing his work in the county.

The Board elected Mr. J. H. Robertson, of Pine Hall, as chairman, and Mr. H. G. Tuttle, of Walnut Cove, was made vice-chairman. The county agent will act as secretary.

Among the important suggestions made by the County Board of Agriculture were:

(1) The promotion of the Dairy industry through the use of more and better dairy cows and the establishment of one or more cream routes in the county. (2) Soil conservation and improvement through better terracing and the use of winter cover crops and legumes such as Japan clover and Sweet clover. (3) Growing more feed crops, especially hay and pasture grasses and winter grain crops as wheat and barley. (4) Crop diversification which means less tobacco acreage with more corn and hay.

Other suggestions were made but these seem to be the most important. There will be another meeting of the Board at the court house at 1 P. M., August 5th, at which time a more detailed program will be outlined.

J. E. TREVATHAN,
County Agent.

FOR THAT MOTOR TRIP

"WHEN we'll pack up our troubles in the old kit bag, and snuff, smile, smile!" Isn't that old song typical of the joy that accompanies the motor tripper of today? Who doesn't feel a lightness of heart as he bundles sleeping arrangements, cooking utensils and food into the good old bus and starts out, a happy vagabond?

Regardless of whether your ultimate goal is a fishing shack in the woods or the Ritziest hotel imaginable, you are part of the yellow line of the road from the time you start.

Real Camping

And regardless of whether you plan to camp out at night or spend your resting periods in the comfort of a hotel, there is one thing that you will take, if you are wise—food. The haughtiest motor may refuse to move when it reaches a particularly deserted stretch of road around noon-time. Then isn't it nice to know that in your car you have the makings of a meal? A can of beans, a can of tomatoes, some pemmican or pemmican, and perhaps a can of Boston brown bread take up very little room, and are they welcome! Also they can be replaced at any time through which you pass, or you never will be stranded away from food.

Let it be your family's preference to be real campers, spending your nights out and during your travels, the supply of canned foods will be a great help. By carrying well chosen canned supplies, the supplementing by fresh foods from villages may be done quickly and satisfactorily. Also you can get the same brands of food in most towns and so know exactly what grade you are purchasing. Flour, fat, sugar, salt and pepper, and evaporated milk are the fundamentals on which the food supply is founded. With the aid of a can of bacon and a box of baking powder, flapjacks and bacon may appear on the menu. Coffee is another essential, and this should be vacuum-packed coffee carried in airtight Mason jars. Many campers prefer to carry condensed milk with them and use it in the coffee, rather than to bother with fresh cream and sugar.

Among the vegetables which will surely appear in the food list are peas, stringless beans, corn and tomatoes; they may be combined with each other or with fresh foods to make delightful combinations, or any one served alone is most attractive. Baked beans, kidney beans and lima beans are filling foods which are easily prepared. Other foods which may be bought occasionally, or more often if your carrying capacity is large, are sauerkraut, hominy, okra, sweet potatoes, spinach, turnips and carrots.

Fruits for Freshness

Canned fruits may be eaten just as they come out of the can. Another good method is to heat the pieces of fruit in the fat left from cooking meat and then serve the hot fruit with the meat. Pears, pineapple and peaches are particularly well adapted to this use. Pineapple slices or crushed pineapple may be arranged on a thick slice of ham and cooked in a covered skillet. In purchasing fruits don't forget that the berries and cherries are among those obtainable in cans, as well as figs, grapefruit, grapes, apples, and apple sauce. Surely with such a selection and with the fresh fruit on the market in the summer, no one need lack their sweet freshness.

Plan for Variety

Salmon, tuna, mackerel, cod-fish cakes are among the standard canned fish for the trip, and many meats are canned in such a way as to make a meal only a matter of opening a can and heating the contents. Did you know that beef may be purchased canned in eight different ways: sliced, boiled, corned, dried, roast, stew à la mode, or steak with onions? Chicken may be boneless, curried, deviled, à la King, or in tamales. Veal in loaf or roast; ham, deviled or loaf or whole liver with bacon or onions.

In planning camping meals, variety must be considered carefully, for it is easy to fall into a routine. By buying fresh salad vegetables such as lettuce, radishes, endive, romaine, chicory, along the way, buying fresh eggs and meat occasionally, and fresh vegetables, especially those to be eaten raw, at the towns through which you pass, the family will stay in good health. It is important to drink plenty of pure water and eat plenty of vegetables, fresh or canned, while on the trip.
