Maxwell the Man.

In this day of America's most serious financial crisis, when the Federal treasury is faced with a 2-billion dollar deficit; when the State of North Carolina is struggling to keep its honor unimpaired and its institutions open, and when county, city and town are in the throes of embarrassing fiscal difficulties, the need is felt for strong men at the head of governmental affairs, able men, honest and clean men, men of stout hearts and husky hands, and men in whose ability and integrity we can put our trust to pull us back to safe waters.

On every hand industry lies prostrate. Agriculture is stricken almost unto death. Trade is stagnant, business droops with sick heart. On the doorstep of a hundred thousand American homes depression broods with folded wing. Millions of men and women, out of employment, walk the streets and the highways in the direst need of the barest necessities of life.

The day of wild inflation is over. The vast orgy of expenditure and waste has had its end. Now payday looks us in the eyes. The State's obligations are sacred, and must be met though the heavens fall. But we must be careful to incur obligations, we must be cautious when we mortgage the future.

It takes a great general to conduct a successful retreat. Napoleon couldn't do it. On the return from Moscow his legions succumbed to the natural elements.

North Carolina cannot recede from her vast programs of progress and prosperity, in a day, like the twinkling of an eye, without permanent injury to the ideals of her great citizenship. Be careful lest the recoil wreck the carriage of the gun.

Maxwell stands for schools and roads and education and progress. But he believes in the steady and systematic retrenchment that must come if income endure outgo. Maxwell believes in economy, and has always believed in it. In no other way can the crisis be met, coped with and overcome. Current expenses of government can be reduced, and revisions and readjustments are possible in many ways. His school book plan will save many thousands of dollars to the taxpayers. He opposes the sales tax, which would lay additional burdens on the shoulders of those who are unable to bear them.

Maxwell knows taxation like no other Carolinian knows it. He has studied it, slept over it, prayed over it, dreamed it. No man knows the State's possibilities and its limitations better.

In the present crisis of nation, State and county we believe A. J. Maxwell to be the ideal and logical man for Governor of North Carolina. He is able, clean, honest and fearless, frank, aggressive and patient. These qualities make a man great.

Remain Seated.

Out on the highways motorists sometimes meet a large truck loaded with furniture, and fronted with this legend; "Hoover Chair Company."

Those who are sticklers for euphonious cognomens, or the appositeness of names, find no flaw here.

Take Care of the Children.

Two separate school bus accidents in North Carolina last week took two little lives. In both cases, care and caution by the drivers would have saved the children.

The driver of a school bus who is not a careful, conscientious person, with tender regard for the freight he is entrusted with should be summarily fired.

The Reporter is requested to bring to the attention of the school authorities the question of safety for the children.

Are the bus drivers young men who can be trusted, or are they wild, reckless, smart, dangerous, untrustworthy.

Tales of the Street.

He stood around the grocery store until he thought the clerk was not looking. Then he slipped into his pocket half a dozen eggs, two oranges and a piece of cheese.

This incident happened in Winston-Salem last week.

Before the young man—30 years of age, intelligent, and with an air of having seen better days—got far, he was cornered by the cops, and carried off to the coop.

What a price to pay to satisfy the pang of hunger for a meal. But the law was vindicated, and society was satisfied when the key turned in the big lock.

And the seven million marchers march on.

Wheat to Be Distributed

The Winston-Salem chapter of the Red Cross is prepared to distribute wheat to the needy of Forsyth and Stokes counties. This wheat is a part of the 40 million bushels of grain donated to the American Red Cross by congress.

A Personal Testimony

How the Security Life & Trust Co. has benefitted one Iredell County man and his family!

"I was taken sick two years ago. Was taken to the Davis Hospital at Statesville, N. C. Examination proved that I had appendicitis, some gall bladder trouble and a very badly ruptured heart. My condition would not permit of an operation and I knew when I returned home, that I would never get better. "I thank God that I had a three thousand dollar Life Insurance Policy with sick benefit with the Security Life & Trust Company of Winston-Salem, N. C. As a result, I've been receiving promptly $30.00 each month from these good people, and I don't know how I would have gotten along without it. "Friends and neighbors, if you haven't any Life Insurance, or apply to the home office in Winston-Salem for a policy at once. Take money and pay for it. That's what I did. Every young man, and old too, should have fifty thousand dollars worth of life insurance, and I consider that of all companies doing business, the Security Life & Trust Company the best to do business with. Signed, C. L. NELLSON, Troutmans, N. C."

Don't Gamble

with the future of your Loved Ones!

The poorhouses are crowded with people who could do better with their money. A policy with your Home Company will protect your loved ones against want.

New Varieties

The old reliable catalog of Wood's Seeds this year is fairly sprouting with new varieties. There is the new Break O' Day Tomato, the latest development of Dr. Pritchard of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture for which a wonderful future is predicted. And there is Wood's Sumptuous Peas—tender and more delicious than any blackeye—a large yield and easy to shell. Superba Cantaloupes—Earl-green Cucumbers—Tender-green All-Season Salad are other varieties offered for the first time.

WOODS SEEDS

Tested, selected seed of the same high quality that made their excellent reputation and at lower prices this year than for years. The best seeds are the cheapest seeds to plant. Write for catalog.

The Mark of Genuine Aspirin..

Bayer Aspirin is like an old friend, tried and true. There is no satisfactory substitute for either one. Genuine Bayer Aspirin is the accepted antidote for pain. Its relief may always be relied on for an occasional headache, to head-off a cold, or for more serious pain from neuralgia, neuritis and rheumatism. Bayer Aspirin bears the word "genuine" in red, and the name Bayer, on the box.
