AN EDITORIAL.

Some Attractive Homes of Stokes County

This issue of the Reporter is dedicated to the promotion of better homes for our good county of Stokes, more comfortable homes, more sanitary homes, homes furnished and equipped for the pleasure and the happiness of those who spend their lives in them.

In another section of this paper Mrs. Dorothy Clay Nance, an accomplished and sincere woman of Winston-Salem, writes for the Reporter an editorial entitled: "Home—Where We Live, and Where We Hope to Die."

No more inspiring theme for an editorial can be imagined than this, and Mrs Nance has done justice to her subject.

The Reporter longs to see the people of Stokes county build, repair, remodel, repaint, re-furnish, re-equip their homes.

Is there any purpose in the world to which we should be more sincerely dedicated than this?

What better investment can we make with our money than to provide a beautiful, comfortable and convenient home for ourselves, and for those we love and cherish—all of whom live in this home, and hope to die there?

We can invest our savings in stocks, bonds, lands and industries, and deposit them in banks. But money which is used to make our short lives happier, is money best spent, and here is a safe, secure, lasting investment. One that depressions cannot wipe away.

In the columns of the enlarged newspaper this week you will find the announcements of those who are ready and waiting to assist you in the work of building, remodeling, repairing, re-furnishing your home for the lasting convenience and pleasure of yourself and your family.

If you have money, invest at once in a modern home. The government advises you to BUILD NOW.

If you do not have the capital, the government agencies, the B. & L. associations, the banks will help you.

Get the work going today—you will never regret it.

Build after modern plans, and use the facilities offered to you by honest and experienced builders and contractors.

When you build, you should equip and furnish your home with the labor-saving and the convenient and thoroughly efficient appliances which make modern homes places of restfulness, of relaxation, of comfort and delight.

Put in it modern furniture, modern appointments, radios, electric conveniences, and all these things which make for real living.

The Reporter today offers you many firms who are glad to help you, and will co-operate with you in every way honestly and sincerely, to create for you a modern, convenient, sanitary and entirely comfortable—HOME.

Below we print the pictures of a few attractive homesteads of the county, homes that are pleasing to the eye with their lovely foregrounds of shrubberies, evergreens and different species of growth which add so much to the attractiveness of homes.

There are many other lovely homes in the county, which we plan to present to our readers later.

At this time quite a number of new homes are being planned.

A WALNUT COVE SCENE

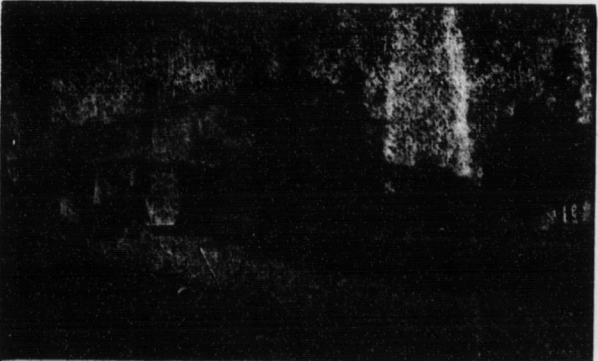

This is the handsome and dignified residence of Dr. J. W. Neal at Walnut Cove. Was built in 1914.

LOOKS LIKE MOUNT VERNON

Beautiful home of Mrs. J. Spot Taylor at Danbury. This place has recently been remodeled in Colonial style.

A WAREHOUSEMAN'S DOMICILE

John C. Hutcherson and family have shown excellent taste in the arrangement of shrubberies in the foreground of their delightful little cottage.

STOKES BOYS TAKE NOTICE

WAR DEPARTMENT GIVES YOU CHANCE TO GET MILITARY TRAINING AT FORT BRAGG—MUST ENROLL AT ONCE.

The War Department on July 15th notified Major General Moseley, the Commanding General Fourth Corps Area, that the number of trainees allowed to attend the C. M. T. C. at Fort Bragg, N. C., between August 3, and September 1st, has been increased from 575 to 700. This means that 125 more young men are to have the advantages of this camp.

Brigadier General Manus McCloskey, Commanding General Fort Bragg is most anxious to see that the young men of North Carolina and South Carolina avail themselves of the opportunity to secure Uncle Sam's prize one month vacation at the Citizen's Military Camp, which is to be held at Fort Bragg, N. C., the largest Artillery Post in the United States, from August 3rd to September 1st, 1937. This opportunity will be lost to boys of Stokes county unless they enroll quickly, according to information received from General Manus McCloskey, the Commanding General of Fort Bragg.

Camp life featured by Military drill under experienced regular army instructors is the main attraction in the mornings, while the afternoons are devoted to athletics and swimming. Discipline is strict, but fair and sympathetic. During the evenings there is the motion pictures to attend and occasionally a dance is given which is supervised by the camp hostess. On Sundays a church parade to divine service is the

AS THE LIQUOR ELECTION COMES ON

FORSYTH COUNTY SENDS DIRECTOR TO STOKES TO DIRECT THE FIGHT FOR THE DRYS—J. A. MCKAUGHN IN CHARGE WITH HEADQUARTERS AT DANBURY—HOW WILL THE ELECTION GO?

The election on liquor control approaches—August 17.

And the Forsyth county dry organization sends over a man to direct dry forces of Stokes. Mr. J. A. McKaughn, lawyer of Winston-Salem, is here and has established headquarters in Danbury. He is now busy in the organization of the dry voters at every precinct in Stokes county.

In the meantime the question hourly arises—how will Stokes vote in the election of August 17.

Anybody's guess is as good as anybody's else.

The man on the street will tell you that it will be a victory for the prohibitionists hands-down, that the wet element won't come out and vote, while every dry will be at the polls with his ticket in his hand at sunrise.

Then you will meet another fellow who advises that the people are afraid of taxes, and that hundreds of them believe that the only source of increased taxes to pay old age pensions, etc., is from an embargo on drinks.

If the "control" crowd has any organization, the Reporter has not heard of it.

The voters were never so silent as now.

No man can tell what the figures will say at sundown on the third Tuesday in August.

OUT IN THE ENTRANCING WOOD

Country residence of Mrs. Ruth Hairston, near Dan river in Sauratown township. Mrs. Hairston lives in Mocksville, Levee county. Note the beautiful trees, especially the magnolias.

A HAIRSTON HOMESTEAD

Few more lovely vistas may be seen than that of the Mrs. Wm. Hairston home a half-mile out of Walnut Cove.

LOVELY PINE HALL HOME

Here is the Chisman-Hanes homestead of ante-bellum memories and traditions.
