

Mrs. Max Genet Entertains At "Pine Hall"

On Thursday evening Mrs. Max Genet entertained at a bridge party honoring Mrs. Richard Cooke Lowman, a recent bride, at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. S. Hanes at "Pine Hall."

The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with early fall flowers.

Miss Lucy Booe won high score prize, a scarf. Miss Margaret Fulton won second high, artificial flowers. Mrs. Lowman was presented with six ice tea glasses and a bon-bon dish.

Refreshments were served to the following:

Mrs. Lowman, Miss Margaret Fulton, Misses Annie Hill and Helen Tuttle, Mrs. Edwin Green, of Walnut Cove, Miss Lucy Booe of Wakekerton, Mrs. William McCannless and Miss Luna Taylor of Danbury, Mrs. Tom Preston and Mrs. Max Genet of Pine Hall.

Charley Young—Printer

Look over the elaborate display of advertising in this "Go-To-Town Reporter," and imagine one man setting practically every ad in it. This was done by Charley Young, who has been a faithful printer on the Reporter for nearly 45 years. We daresay this record cannot be beaten in this or any other state.

I have several tobacco, cotton and grain farms for sale in Richmond, Robeson and Pender counties.

"BUNKUM" and the shorter word "bunk" both derive from Buncombe, the name of a county in North Carolina. During a famous debate in Congress many years ago the representative for the district insisted on making a rambling speech when the House was impatiently waiting for an opportunity to vote. The speaker explained his insistence by saying the people of his district expected it of him; so he was bound "to make a speech for Buncombe."

Do not say, "That is an entirely different matter than the one you have in mind." "Than" indicates a comparison. Distinction or separation is indicated by "from." Say, "That is an entirely different matter from the one you have in mind."

The Rocketship Soars—At New York World's Fair

NEW YORK — (Special) — The dream of the mechanical age and perhaps the commonplace event of the World of Tomorrow—a trip to Mars in a rocketship—will be produced in tangible form in steel and glass when a model working rocketport is placed into operation at the New York World's Fair 1939.

Now being constructed by Raymond Loewy, industrial designer, the operating planet-line will be part of a free, focal exhibit in the transportation section of the Fair.

More than a thousand visitors will be able to see the show at one time. After an interesting, activated display of transportation from the day of the cave man to the present, illumination in the auditorium will be shifted to spotlight the rocketport.

Airplanes, liners, railroad trains and taxicabs of futuristic design will bring passengers and twinkling elevators will begin loading the rocket-ship's cargo. When the time comes for departure, sirens will sound, machinery will hum, a giant crane will lift the rocketship and place it in the breach of the gun and a brilliant flash and an explosion will indicate that the world-folk are off on a visit to another planet.

By means of an ingenious invention resembling the shutter of a camera, placed in the sky-ceiling, the audience will seem to see the rocketship vanish into the vast reaches of space.
