

LOCALS

Received a pleasant visit from James F. Smith of Meadows, father of Register of Deeds R. L. Smith. Mr. Smith is now 87 years young, and has never been sick a day in his life. Isn't such health as this worth a million dollars?

With genuine regret the people of Danbury lost to Mount Airy the G. H. Alford. Splendid folk, Mrs. Alford was always in the center of social and church activities, and our ladies miss her. Mr. Alford is one of the government's most conscientious and efficient workers in his position as farmer's loan administrator. While losing the Alford we gain with welcome and pleasure Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Marshall and little daughter. They return to their former home here from Bethesda, Maryland.

Solicitor Ralph Scott is attending Caswell court this week.

Mrs. Nellie M. Taylor has returned from a visit of several days with Mrs. Saml. Taylor, John M. Taylor and other relatives in Winston-Salem.

Pastor Love filled his regular appointment at the Methodist Church Sunday a. m.

Nellie Louise Taylor was the weekend guest of her sister Angela, at Salem College.

Miss Mary Taylor, teacher at Germantown school spent the weekend at her home here.

Rob Sisk of Winston-Salem spent a while in Danbury this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Sisk.

William F. Marshall of Walnut Cove was in town Tuesday attending business.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Joyce and son, Stephen, of Winston-Salem, visited Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Joyce and family Sunday.

Mrs. W. E. Joyce, Mrs. Charlie Martin and H. M. Joyce visited in Charlotte Wednesday.

Mrs. N. A. Martin and Miss Nannie Pepper spent the weekend in Reidsville with Lucille Martin.

Easley Joyce, Jr. spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. W. E. Joyce. He is stationed at New River Naval Base.

Katherine Sisk spent the weekend with Margie Petree at Lenoir-Ryne College at Hickory.

Fred Ellis was in town Sunday. Mr. Ellis is one of Stokes county's best farmers, and he is also one who raises at home the supplies needed for home. So he has a supply always to sell to his neighbors and friends.

Visiting Danbury Saturday night and Sunday were Reid Forrest, Jr., Reid George, Ernest Beasley and Travis Tuttle, all employees of the very efficient State highway camp at Meadows: except Beasley who is now holding a position with the government at Wadesboro, Anson county.

Attending the N. C. State-V. P. I. football game in Winston-Salem Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Smith, Marjorie Peppers, Elmer Petree, Mrs. Doris C. Beck, H. P. Loftis, Reid George, J. C. Wall and R. R. King.

R. R. King, bridge constructor for the government near Asheville, is spending a few days at home because of a shortage of steel made possible by the enormous demands of national defense.

W. Sanders Hart of Lawsonville was in Danbury Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Smith of Lawsonville visited Danbury Monday.

W. R. Stovall and daughter, Miss Marie of Lawsonville, stopped over a few hours Saturday evening. They were enroute home from Winston-Salem and Walnut Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Rhodes of Beckley, West Va., visited relatives here and at Lawsonville Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes formerly lived at Lawsonville.

Jones Brown was here Wednesday from Mount Airy.

Sherill Kiser was a visitor here Wednesday from King.

Tom Gray, merchant of near Lawsonville, was here Wednesday.

Powell Flinchum was here this week from Route 1.

Mrs. E. G. Lawson of Lawsonville was here this week on business.

STUART THEATRE Stuart, Virginia Friday and Saturday Nov. 14-15 "ROUNDUP"

Richard Dix—Patricia Morison Preston Foster Sunday and Monday, Nov. 16-17 "BILLY THE KID"

Robert Taylor—Brian Donlevy Ian Hunter—Mary Howard Gene Lockhart In Technicolor

Tues. and Wednesday Nov. 18-19 "BRIDE CAME C. O. D."

Lois Davis—James Cagney Thursday November 20 "D. KILBAIRE GOES HOME"

Low Ayers—Lionel Barrymore Laraine Day

WANT ADS

FOR SALE OR TRADE Steam outfit sawmill with edger. SAM TAYLOR, Lawsonville, N. C.

LOST Between Stuart Va. and my home a tan canvas truck cover 14X16—nearly new—Finder notify— R. AYERS, Stuart Va. R. 5 or office—Liberal reward

J. S. Wilson and L. E. Smith will be at Sandy Ridge next week for the purpose of trading and selling mules.

Jim Flinchum was here this week from Route 1, near Hartman

Roy Lee and Bud Venable were visitors here this week from Hartman.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Hall, the Misses Hazel and Virginia Hall, of King, explored the famous Endless Caverns at New Market, Va., while on a motor trip through the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia.

Charlie Fulton of Mount Airy was here Monday.

Bryon Cromer of King was here Wednesday.

Gilbert Alley of Hartman, was here this morning.

Merton Jessup of Tobaccoville, was in town today.

Magistrate Elkin Smith of Walnut Cove, was here at the courthouse today.

A. F. Marshall was here from Walnut Cove today.

J. F. Brown of Lexington, was at the courthouse today on business.

Candle Tea At Moravian Church Home

Friday, November 14, the traditional Candle Tea will be held at the Moravian Church Home, 604 S. Main Street (directly opposite Salem Square.) The building, formerly known as the Brother's House, Circle 8, of the Home Moravian Church, with Mrs. T. Holt Haywood as leader, will sponsor the tea. Mrs. Graydon Pleasants is the general chairman in charge of arrangements. The proceeds will be used for the work of the Home Church Auxiliary.

Between the hours of 3:00 and 9:00 p. m., all persons interested in seeing the bees wax candles made by hand, and having the legend of the "Little Red Man" told in the historic sub-basement, are asked to call.

Also a display in the sub-basement will be the traditional Christmas Pute featuring the Nativity Scene.

Coffee and sugar cake will be served during the afternoon and evening, and home-made candies and sugar cake, as well as Moravian literature will be on sale.

Members of the Auxiliary who are receiving or helping serve will be in quaint Moravian costume of other years.

The price of admission is: Adults, 25; school children, 10 cents.

MATRESS PRODUCTION IN HIGH GEAR

Mattress making here is becoming to be quite an industry, turning out as many as 7 in one day. The regular run is 4 to 5.

The Bookmobile Making Rapid Progress

The numerous and effective modern methods of transmitting information are tied in with most of today's social and economic problems. Newspapers, periodicals and books have been the backbone of our educational and informational systems. Today, however, their places of prominence in education and newsgiving are being challenged by radio and motion picture, which have quickly spread in education, the application of beyond the entertainment fields. These modern methods of communication may well effect a complete change in methods of education both the child and the adult, but an educational background through good reading is an everlasting accomplishment that no one can take from us and in return we have a broad knowledge and undertaking of everything.

Experts in the field of library problems report that the foremost public library need in this country is more adequate distribution. 45 million persons in the United States have no library service and that a like number has inadequate service. The problem of providing service to these groups is of primary importance in the development of library service.

As for differences between town and country services, authorities have found that library services are far more inadequate for the rural than the urban population. Even where library service is actually extended to the rural areas, it is reported to be seldom equal in quality to that which is given to residents of cities and towns. The library needs of the scholar and the student have been found to be usually better supplied than those of the general reader in the small town or in the country.

In order that students may satisfy their intellectual needs, a large collection of books covering a wide variety of subjects is essential. The realization that children in elementary schools need many library books to read in developing reading and comprehensive ability has resulted in greater consideration for younger readers in library purchases. The trend in buying has in recent years been toward providing library books at all grade levels and thereby equalizing library opportunities.

Considerable care has been taken to keep the books in the libraries in as good repair as possible. The major portion of mending has been done through the Library Project of WPA which has furnished the labor for the work.

The Book mobile, sponsored by the County Board of Education, is making rapid progress in the circulation of books throughout the county. The bookmobile covers all parts of the county, and the books circulated by the bookmobile are proving helpful to teachers students and all book-minded persons in both rural and urban localities of the county. By this method of circulation, the rural communities have the same opportunity as the urban communities in the selection of books they choose to read.

Woman's Society of Christian Service Meets.

(Reported) The Woman's Society of Christian Service met for the regular November meeting Monday night November 10, in the Ladies Parlor of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Dallas C. Kirby, president presiding.

"Work For the Night is Coming" was the opening song. "God's Dwelling Place is With Men" was the subject for the evening.

Mrs. Kirby used for the devotionals a portion of 2nd chapter of Hebrews followed with prayer. 100th Psalm was used as a Thanksgiving topic for an interesting talk by Mrs. J. L. Love.

Origin of the hymn "I am Coming to the Cross" was read by Mrs. Reginald Marshall.

The parables have been an interesting study for the Society. Mrs. W. C. McCanless is the leader. The following will be discussed for the December meeting, "The two Debtors," "The Merciless Servant" "The Good Samaritan" and "The Friend at Midnight."

After the program a business session was held, Secretary's report read and approved. Report from the Standing Committees, 3 memberships, Mrs. Burk Smith, Mrs. Reginald Marshall.

Ways And Means, Mrs. Charlie Martin, Chairman.

Baby contest a success, and the improvements in the church by the Society. Entertainment—Mrs. Jessie Christian.

Music—Mrs. J. W. Hall. . . . . Decoration of Church—Mrs. Reid George.

Program—Mrs. W. C. McCanless Visiting—Mrs. J. L. Love. Plans were perfected for the new pulpit furniture. Each member of the Society is a part of the large committee now working on these plans.

Mention was made that Mrs. Kirby the president and Mr. and Mrs. Love attended the district meeting of Zone No. 1 held at Pine Hall with the Pine Hall Methodist Society as hostess. A report from our Society was given.

Arm Broken

Mrs. Alex Southern of Germantown Route 1, fell and broke her left arm near the wrist Wednesday.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING AT YOUR SERVICE TO HELP YOU SELL

Sears SUPER VALUE DAYS Value COAL or WOOD RANGE $59.95 Cash ALSO SOLD ON EASY PAYMENTS

Big Special At M. O. Stevens' Store One Mile South of Lawsonville Sale Will End Nov. 15

all I know is you get dates easier if you wear Sam Clothiers SUITS & COATS 4th at Liberty WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.