COME TO MEET MONDAY, FEB. 1

Geo. Snow To Explain About Rationings—Carson Will Also Talk On Point-Rationing System—School Principals To Learn Of Their Heavy Duties—And Brumfield Will Explain About Farm Staff—All Citizens Invited.

Mr. George Snow, Assistant Director Office of Civilian Defense will be at the courthouse at Danbury, Monday, Feb. 1, at 1:30 p. m., and at that time will address the people of Stokes county as to various phases of present day rationing of commodities affecting every home and especially as it relates to the war effort. Mr. Snow is a native and prominent attorney of Mt. Airy, but for the past year has been identified with civilian defense work throughout North Carolina, in which he has made a most enviable record. At the same meeting Mr. J. C. Carson, who is serving as Community Service officer will present some facts relative to the coming point-rationing system. He will have with him principals of all the schools of the county who will acquaint themselves with the heavy duties with which they will be charged when point-rationing begins. County Agent Brumfield will explain the method of allotting farm machinery, discuss ODT requirements as to farm trucks and commercial vehicles. Price ceilings too will be discussed and much information will be available relative to products affected by new regulations of interest to merchants and consumers.

The seriousness of the tire and gas situation is revealed in a release from Office Defense Transportation to the effect that operation of school buses after Feb. 1 will depend upon "demonstrated proof that every precaution has been made to conserve buses, tires and gas to the fullest extent." It is highly probable that shortened and that many children may have to walk further to reach available stations.

COFFEE AND SUGAR

Coupon No. 28 will be good for one pound of coffee until Feb. 8. No. 26 will be good for one pound from Feb. 8 to Mar. 15.

Coupon No. 10 is good for three pounds sugar thru Jan. 31. No. 11 will be good for 3 pounds from Feb. 1 to Mar. 15.

Many people are requesting additional quantities of sugar. There is no provision for the board to issue at this time supplemental ration. Even sugar to feed bees is now limited as spring approaches.

GAS, TIRES, FUEL OIL

Coupon No. 4 in "A" gas book is now valid and must last until April 22. After Jan. 31 no gas or tires can be issued for trucks not holding O D T Certificates of war necessity.

During February holders of B, C and T gas ration books must have tires inspected.

Holders of A books have until Mar. 31 to have tires inspected.

Fuel oil coupon No. 4 becomes valid on Jan. 30. No. 3 will not be good after that date.

Motorists are warned not to "push their luck" by doing unnecessary driving. So far few violations have been reported in Stokes county, however, there has been some border line cases, especially on Sundays and at night. Officers are being requested to check closely on any suspected violation and report it to the board. Any aggravated case will be rigidly dealt with by revocation of gas and tire allocation. Driving more than 35 miles per hour is strictly prohibited at any time. Both cars and trucks are affected by these rulings.

Elkin, N. C.—Governor J. Melville Broughton as he pressed down the detonator which set off nearly 400 sticks of dynamite, officially reopening the century-old state owned lime in Yadkin county. D. B. McCrary, acting chairman of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, looks on as the Governor fires the charge.

Letter From A Soldier Boy

Jan. 13, 1943

Mr. N. E. Pepper,
Editor Danbury Reporter,
Danbury, N. C.

Dear Sir:-

Would you please give space in your next issue of the Reporter for the few words below that I would like the people of Stokes county to read? My home is at Lawsonville, N. C. I am now somewhere over seas.

To whom it may concern:-
Have you ever been at the station when the boys were going away? If conditions were normal these boys would much rather stay at home with their families and friends. But their country was calling them and they are doing their duty.

Gathered around these boys were groups of loved ones and friends. Lots of mothers and sisters had handkerchiefs to their eyes—they couldn't keep back the tears. To many a boy it was a terrific wrench at his heart. He took it because he had to. Many of these boys as they wound their hands when the bus or train pulled away were seeing their home town and families for the last time. They will never come back. They are giving their lives that freedom and Democracy may live.

These boys must not have died in vain. You must carry on. The best way for you to do your part is to buy stamps, bonds and treasury issues to meet the cost of this war and bring the boys home as soon as possible.

Signed—

William B. Watkins,

P. S. Mr. Pepper, please send me a copy of the paper that you put this in. If you do print it.

Pessimist

James W. Young, prominent citizen of Meadows township, and a big farmer was among the crowd here Monday. Mr. Young is a natural born pessimist. He sees things always in a dismal light. If the day is bright and beautiful like it was Monday Jim says: "Wait a minute, you see that little cloud back yonder in the west. Watch it. It is going to rain soon."

We told him the difference between an optimist and a pessimist, which is this:

"The optimist, the pessimist, The difference is droll— The optimist sees the doughnut, The pessimist, the hole."

But maybe it is well for some of us to see the darker side, else we all might get too gay.

Mr. Young, though, is one of Stokes county's most successful farmers and most substantial citizens. He knows tobacco, people, money. And that is a liberal education for anybody.

Hints For Motorists

By Joseph R. Rollins
The Atlantic Refining Company

WHEN a car refuses to start after it has been standing in the rain for a long time, the trouble is usually due to water working its way into the distributor. Nine times out of ten, the remedy is simply to remove the distributor cap, wipe off the moisture between the contacts, and replace the cap.

Spark plugs will give longer, better service if they are cleaned every 3,000 miles. If your car starts to back when slowing down in high gear, or when you step on the accelerator, it is often a sign that the spark plugs need attention.

Windows On New Worlds

Hair-splitting is no longer a joke with the new electron microscope, which makes visible a whole world that has previously been too small for scientists to study.

1. Using particles of electricity instead of light, the instrument makes a mosquito's stinger 1/1000 the diameter of a hair, look like this.

2. Crystals, dust particles, disease-producing viruses can be enlarged to a million times to examine their nature and structure.

3. Portable, operating from ordinary power lines, it is expected to aid war research in laboratories, colleges and war plants.

4. After the war, it may be useful in many fields—for example, in searching for the cause of such diseases as the common cold.
