COMBINE OPERATORS MEET

Farmers who own and operate combines met June 16 with J. D. Blicke, Agricultural Engineer, Raleigh, in regard to operating combines. At this meeting Mr. Blicke pointed out that every precaution should be taken to save all the grain and not blow part of it out of the machine with the straw. The oiling and greasing of the machine was stressed since this operation makes the combine last longer and do more efficient work. It takes less power to pull and operate a well-greased machine than if it is dry and rusty.

The combines are in full operation throughout the county. Farmers state that many of the crops are good while others report a somewhat lower yield. Some people in the northern part of the county state that their wheat is yielding around thirty bushels per acre.

At this meeting the combine operators agreed to set a uniform combining price of $4.00 an acre, with the exception of one operator who is charging $3.00 per hour.

W. L. Flippin, Route 2, Mount Airy, recently purchased a registered Guernsey heifer from the Cottonade Farm, Fayetteville. Mr. Flippin keeps a large herd of good grade dairy cattle and has other registered animals. He is working toward the building up of a registered herd.

The Vade Mecum Farm, Vade Mecum, has completed the erection of a 12 by 25-foot tile silo. This will enable them to carry on a much more economical feeding program.

B. A. Turner, King, planted a 50-foot tomato bed this spring. From this bed he has set two acres for himself and has given away 3000 plants and has sold $25.00 worth of plants.

Skilled Laborers Urged to Enlist in Navy's Construction Forces

Skilled tradesmen are urgently needed for enlistment in Class V-6, Naval Reserve, for service in the Navy Construction Battalions, or SEABEES, as they are more popularly known. These battalions are comprised principally of mechanics, riggers, carpenters, steel workers, wharf builders, special equipment operators and other specialists, who build advance and mobile bases all over the world.

With the exception of men in certain vital defense areas, it is now possible for qualified resident citizens of the United States between the ages of 17 and 50 1-2 to be enlisted in the SEABEES in ratings up to and including chief petty officer, commensurate with their ability and experience.

How to Get In.

1. Get three letters of recommendation pertaining to your skill from former employers.

2. On June 28 and 29 apply at the Winston-Salem Navy Recruiting Office, present your letters to the Civil Engineer Reviewing Officer. If found qualified, he will assign you a rating. You will then be sent to Raleigh for a physical examination.

3. If you are between 18 and 38, be sure to apply immediately. You must be found physically and professionally qualified. You will be given induction papers after your physical examination in Raleigh, which you must present to your draft board for your induction into the SEABEES.

4. If you are 17 or between the ages of 38 and 50 1-2, you can volunteer—DO IT NOW!

The Navy needs construction men to fight and work with the SEABEES. Make plans now to be at the Navy Recruiting Station in the Postoffice Building, Winston-Salem, next Monday and Tuesday, June 28 and 29. For further information consult a traveling Navy recruiter in your section.

NAZIS SEE U-BOAT AS FAILURE

The European underground radio station Gustave Sigfried Eins said recently the German Armament Council has declared the U-boat obsolete as an offensive weapon.

The council sought to deprive submarine builders of priority in raw materials, labor and factory allocations as a result, but finally consented to delay action for three months after Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, commander of the German Navy, threatened to resign, the broadcast said.

The broadcast, recorded by the United Press in New York, said that the failure of the U-boat actually could be laid to the tactics of Admiral Kotz, Doenitz's deputy, and pleaded that Doenitz himself take over command of the submarine fleet and prove its worth.

Radio London, in another broadcast recorded by the UP, quoted a veteran German submarine officer as admitting that the Allies have gained the initiative in the battle of the Atlantic. He said: "The enemy is probing every corner of it with his planes. The enemy seems to be everywhere."

Joe Boyles is here attending court this week from King.

A Proclamation

By The Governor

NORTH CAROLINA DAY OF DEDICATION, JULY 5, 1943

Work is no longer merely a privilege or opportunity; it is a high patriotic duty. No man or woman, white or colored, in North Carolina or indeed in America today has any moral right to loaf or be idle even for a part of the time. We are confronted with the most urgent need for productive manpower in the history of our nation. Farm labor and industrial labor are absolutely indispensable for the protection of the national welfare and for the success of our men in arms. Under these circumstances all citizens of all classes, groups and races have a public duty to engage in productive work, even though the individual financial necessity for such work may not exist.

Trustworthy reports have come to me from virtually every section of North Carolina indicating that hundreds, indeed thousands, of men, white and colored, are either not working at all or working only part of the time. Likewise, many women, boys, and girls above the age of sixteen who could be productively employed are doing virtually nothing in the way of productive work. The time has come when every able-bodied person should either be fighting or working.

I herewith call upon the citizens of our state to respond to this most urgent need. I have every confidence that our people will rise to this need and I hope in a manner worthy of our state and its traditions. I urge the ministers of North Carolina and our teachers and school people generally, our civic clubs, representatives of the press and radio, and other public spirited leaders of the state to join in the high endeavor to get every citizen of our state productively employed on a fulltime basis. I further urge the judges, mayors, and law enforcement officers to do everything within their power and within the law to end any idleness or vagrancy that may exist anywhere in North Carolina. Furthermore, I call upon the local selective service boards to study carefully the cases of those who have been deferred on physical grounds but who are able to work and are not working. I am also calling upon police officers and sheriffs to visit places in their cities and counties where loafers and idlers customarily congregate and inquire into the reasons why they are not at work. If these efforts fail to get the necessary response, I should feel it my duty to use the emergency powers granted me by the recent legislature for dealing with these problems so vital to our national welfare.

NOW THEREFORE, I, J. MELVILLE BROUGHTON, GOVERNOR OF NORTH CAROLINA, to the end that we may act in a statewide manner on this important subject, do hereby set apart MONDAY, JULY 5, 1943, the day on which Independence Day will be most generally observed throughout the state, as NORTH CAROLINA DAY OF DEDICATION, and I urge that in the county seat of every county in North Carolina there will be held a meeting to be attended by mayors, county commissioners, sheriffs, police officers, ministers, farm leaders, health and welfare workers and other public spirited citizens, for the purpose of studying conditions in each of such counties and taking such organized steps as will effectually end any idleness or loafing that may exist in such counties.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I, J. Melville Broughton, Governor of North Carolina, have signed and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed hereto, in the City of Raleigh, North Carolina, this the 23rd day of June, 1943, in the one hundred and sixty-seventh year of our American Independence.
