FEED WHEAT

Many farmers have inquired about the purchase of feed wheat. Eleven cars of wheat have been ordered and will be for sale at King and Walnut Cove by the feed mills at these places. At this time we do not know just when the wheat will arrive but it is expected any day.

This wheat cannot be used for milling purposes but is only for poultry and livestock feeding. The feed wheat will cost much less than the local wheat. The price of the feed wheat will be $1.18 a bushel.

When the wheat arrives it may be purchased by anyone who states that they are using it for feeding purposes. You do not need to come to Danbury to get a permit or anything else. Just go to one of these millers at either King or Walnut Cove and state that you wish to purchase some feed wheat. If you do not want to feed the wheat in the grain state you may have the miller grind it at his regular grinding prices. When the wheat arrives the papers will be notified.

TOBACCO HORNWORM CONTROL

According to B. F. Coon, Assistant Extension Entomologist, Cryolite will give good control of tobacco hornworms and flea beetles, and may be safely used in place of lead arsenate, which is now quite scarce.

As a spray, use 1 pound of cryolite to 10 gallons of water, and apply at rate of 60 to 70 gallons per acre.

As a dust, use a 70 percent to 80 percent cryolite dust at rate of 10 to 15 pounds per acre.

Repeat application at 5 to 7-day intervals until control is obtained. Treatments removed by rain in 24 hours should be replaced as soon as possible.

FARMERS LOSE DAIRY COWS

Since last fall, Edgar Watts, of Walnut Cove, has lost three milk cows and his brother, Ira, has lost one. For some time it was impossible to diagnose the disease but last Sunday Dr. W. H. Kern, of Winston-Salem, thoroughly examined the diseased specimen and found the trouble to be "shipping fever" or hemorrhagic septicemia. Since the infectious disease is very contagious, Roger Slate is vaccinating cattle in the community against the disease.

This is the second outbreak of hemorrhagic septicemia in Stokes county with in the past two years. If you live in the Squire Watts section and have a sick cow, be sure to get in touch with someone who recognizes the diseases. This will help you and your neighbors since the infection is very contagious.

J. L. Lawson Buried Wednesday

Funeral services for Joseph Linwood Lawson of Pinnacle, Rt. 1, who died at his home Tuesday morning, were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Rock House Primitive Baptist Church.

Elder J. Watt Tuttle and Elder W. J. Brown officiated and burial was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Lawson was born in Stokes county, July 24, 1882, a son of William and Nannie Morris Lawson, and spent his entire life in the county. He attended Rock House Primitive Baptist Church.

Survivors include the wife, the former Miss Mary Ida Palmer; five sons, M. L. Lawson, of Winston-Salem; Jeffe F., and J. L. Lawson, both of High Point;

Joseph and Charles Lawson, of the home; six daughters, Misses Emma and Kate Lawson, both of the home; Misses Ella and Eva Lawson of High Point; Mrs. Ollie Petree, of King; and Mrs. Lois Ingram, of Rural Hall; three brothers, John L. Lawson of Pyron, Okla., G. W. Lawson of Kernersville and S. F. Lawson of Pinebluff.

Do Tells and Don't Tells for Letter Writers To Service Men

The Office of War Information offers these pointers for home-folks writing to soldiers, sailors and marines—based on suggestions gathered in a survey among servicemen at home and overseas.

TELL HIM:

1. How the family is doing everything possible to help in the war.
2. How anxious the family is for the boy's return.
3. How well and busy the family is. Give details.
4. How the family is getting along financially.
5. What's doing in the community: news about girls he knows, doings of friends, who's marrying whom, exploits of the home team and other sports events, social doings, effects of the war on the home town. Reminisce a little about past events and places the boy used to visit. Enclose clippings from the home town paper.

DON'T TELL HIM:

1. Your troubles. He has troubles of his own.
2. Your complaints. He cannot do anything about them.
3. About things you are deprived of. He cannot supply them.
4. Doleful predictions about the future. He's fighting for that future now.
5. Unnecessary details about financial troubles. If there are things he should know about family finances, and he is in a position to do something about the situation, tell him. But don't string it out.

A Proclamation

By The Governor

NORTH CAROLINA DAY OF DEDICATION, JULY 5, 1943

Work is no longer merely a privilege or opportunity, it is a high patriotic duty. No man or woman, white or colored, in North Carolina or indeed in America today has any moral right to loaf or be idle even for a part of the time. We are confronted with the most urgent need for productive manpower in the history of our nation. Farm labor and industrial labor are absolutely indispensable for the protection of the national welfare and for the success of our men in arms. Under these circumstances all citizens of all classes, groups and races have a public duty to engage in productive work, even though the individual financial necessity for such work may not be apparent.

Trustworthy reports have come to me from virtually every section of North Carolina indicating that hundreds, indeed thousands, of men, white and colored, are either not working at all or working only part of the time. Likewise, many women, boys, and girls above the age of sixteen who could be productively employed are doing virtually nothing in the way of productive work. The time has come when every able-bodied person should either be fighting or working.

I herewith call upon the citizens of our state to respond to this most urgent need. I have every confidence that our people will rise to this need and I hope in a manner worthy of our state and its traditions. I urge the ministers of North Carolina and our teachers and school people generally, our civic clubs, representatives of the press and radio, and other public spirited leaders of the state to join in the high endeavor to get every citizen of our state productively employed on a fulltime basis. I further urge the judges, mayors, and law enforcement officers to do everything within their power and within the law to end any idleness or vagrancy that may exist anywhere in North Carolina. Furthermore, I call upon the local selective service boards to study carefully the cases of those who have been deferred on physical grounds but who are able to work and are not working. I am also calling upon police officers and sheriffs to visit places in their cities and counties where loafers and idlers customarily congregate and inquire into the reasons why they are not at work. If these efforts fail to get the necessary response, I should feel it my duty to use the emergency powers granted me by the recent legislature for dealing with these problems so vital to our national welfare.

NOW THEREFORE, I, J. MELVILLE BROUGHTON, GOVERNOR OF NORTH CAROLINA, do hereby set apart MONDAY, JULY 5, 1943, the day on which Independence Day will be most generally observed throughout the state, as NORTH CAROLINA DAY OF DEDICATION, and I urge that in the county seat of every county in North Carolina there will be held a meeting to be attended by mayors, county commissioners, sheriffs, police officers, ministers, farm leaders, health and welfare workers and other public spirited citizens, for the purpose of studying conditions in each of such counties and taking such organized steps as will effectually end any idleness or loafing that may exist in such counties.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I, J. Melville Broughton, Governor of North Carolina, have signed and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed hereto, in the City of Raleigh, North Carolina, this the 23rd day of June, 1943, in the one hundred and sixty-seventh year of our American Independence.
