> > Wacs Go Overseas, Too!

in England, North

While the great majority of the members of the Women's Arm, Corps are serving at army posts and camps within the continental United States, others in considerable number are on overseas duty and are today living and working in lands that might otherwise have remained for them merely names or alluring photographs in travel folders. The dream of seeing far-away places is a dream that can come true in the WAC!

But even the thrill of distant places is secondary to the thrill of being a vital link in the chain that is pulling toward victory, and of being right there on the spot in the big centers of planning and behind-the-lines operations of this global war.

I should like more informaion about the WAC.

What our fighting men dream of Bob Newcomb was reading me a letter the other day-from his son in the Marines. Dick Newcomb's somewhere in the South Pacific, thousands of miles from home, yet he writes to ask:

"Tell me, Dad, do they still pitch horseshoes back of Ray's? is Johnny keeping my tools in shape? Are the trout still biting in Seward's Creek?"

Makes you realize what the about. Sure, they're fighting for and Freedom and a Better World Tomorrow.

But the things they dream of coming back to are the little simple pleasures that mean home to all of us-like a homecooked meal, a glass of beer with friends, a game of horseshoes in the backyard.

From where I sit, one of our most sacred obligations here at home is to keep those little things exactly as they remem-ber them - to keep intact the world they're fighting for.

Making light out of darkness is only one function of your electric utilities company, but it is an important one when every lighted hour means an hour of production. New techniques of industrial lighting have performed near magic in facilitating the processes of manufacture. And the same service which brings new high levels of illumination also supplies the tremendous drive necessary to the machinery of production.

We are proud of the part in war production played by Piedmont Carolina industries and of the privilege of serving them.

atural nitrate of soda shipments from Chile are arriving on satisfactory schedule. Close to half a million tons are already here, delivered or ready for delivery. Another 200,000 tons are expected and every effort is being made to get it here in time for this season's crops.

If shipping estimates hold, there will be about as much Chilean nitrate for top and side dressing as last year. But because all of it is being distributed under the government's allocation program, it may be impossible to supply all sections in the same proportions as last year.

If you cannot get Chilean nitrate when you want it remember the inconvenience is only temporary—one of many dislocations due to war.

Chilean nitrate is here in substantial quantity, but, like every good soldier, it goes where it is told and when it is told by the government.
