

LIARS' CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL MEET

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR THE ENSUING YEAR — PRIZES AWARDED TO THE MOST LOYAL AND PROFICIENT FOLLOWERS

The Liars' Club held its annual meeting Saturday night to elect officers for the ensuing year and to award prizes to the most loyal and distinguished members who during the past year have rendered outstanding service to the organization.

The meet opened with address by the retiring president, A. G. Sisk, which was much enjoyed and vociferously cheered by the full attendance present.

Dr. R. H. Moorefield was unanimously elected President for the ensuing year.

Alan Southern was named Vice-President.

Recording Secretary — R. J. King.

Awarding of prizes for most outstanding services was made as follows:

First prize, a hound puppy, to Joe Hill for best story of the year, as follows:

Mr. Hill says when he lived in Colorado he awoke early one morning to find a great hurricane or twister raging, and on looking out the window he could see trees steadily flying by the house and on each tree he saw a squirrel sitting pretty. He got his rifle and as the trees flew by he would shoot one of the animals down every time until he had killed 10. He says he could have killed many more but that the law would allow only 10 squirrels each to a hunter in one day.

The second prize, which was a 5-pound caddy of chewing tobacco, was presented to Lon Sisk for the second best story as follows:

Mr. Sisk said when he lived in Russell county when they fed corn to chickens they had to pitch the grains to the chickens

Fine Arts Club Is Entertained

(Written for the Reporter)
 The Fine Arts Club met last Thursday evening, and was delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Elmer Petree, Mrs. Ralph Scott assisting as co-hostess.

A very novel contest, originated by Mrs. Scott, was won by Mrs. Dallas Kirby, with Mrs. Robah Smith taking second prize.

The members were introduced to one of Danbury's newest citizens, the infant daughter of Lt. and Mrs. Leon Van Brunt.

Two interesting book reviews were given, Mrs. Marshall reporting on "Take Nothing For Your Journey" by Ann Steward, and Mrs. Smith reviewing "Avalanche" by Kay Boyle.

After a delicious dessert course, served amid peach blossoms, daffodils and flowering shrub, the meeting was adjourned to meet the last Thursday in April, hostesses to be announced later.
