HAVE YOU PLANTED

A FALL GARDEN

While we have good seasons in most sections of Stokes county the time is right for the planting of fall gardens. There is still time to plant tomatoes, cabbage, collards, beans, kale, beets, radishes, turnips and many other greens. By making late plantings the crops will be bearing good when frost comes. In this way we are enabled to gather the crops just before the frost and store them for fall use.

If we plant within the next few days we will have our crops in the ground before our biggest tobacco rush comes on. Mid-summer gardens have not been devoted for grain. However, it is good so let's plant everything we may be pastured, cut for hay, can and do everything you can turned under as a green manure to get other farmers to plant crop, or left on the land as a "go down" crop, next spring. The seed bed should be well prepared and the soil sown sufficiently early to permit plants to withstand winter freezes.

In view of the expected shortage of legume seed this fall, he said, farmers of Stokes county should take advantage of this opportunity under the AAA program to protect their soil against erosion through use of small grain cover crops.

Plant a garden now. Grow and eat wholesome foods for your health and for your country.

USE COVER CROP TO SAVE FEEDS AND FERTILITY — MORE FALL, WINTER ACREAGE RECOMMENDED

Early preparations for increased acreages of fall and winter grazing and cover crops are recommended by agricultural and livestock authorities throughout the tobacco belt to help solve the feed problem and save soil fertility. Providing grazing and protecting soils during winter months, these crops also will help to increase yield of feed from crops planted on the land in 1945, authorities point out.

Many crops are available for winter over in the South, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture, including crimson clover, field peas, vetches, and rye, and other small grains. Wide use of such crops on cultivated land in the tobacco belt can prevent heavy winter loss of fertility. Each crop has its own demands as to soil, locality and time and method of seeding, and County Agents can furnish practical information for their own area.

Good preparation of land a month ahead of planting is advised by Mississippi Extension Service, which emphasizes the importance of obtaining a supply of good planting seed in advance and of keeping pastures free of weeds to prolong grazing. Such cover crops as small grains and winter legumes have proved through experience and experiments, that they will materially increase tobacco and corn yields on the same land. Small grains, legumes and other feed crops in combination with tobacco make a profitable and practical crop rotation for the tobacco belt.

STOKES FARMERS MAY PRACTICE PAYMENT OF $150 UNDER '45 PROGRAM

Farmers of Stokes county may earn a practice payment of $150 per acre under the 1945 AAA farm program for establishing winter cover from seedings this fall of wheat, oats, barley, rye, or mixtures of these grains, it was announced last week by J. Moir Hawkins, chairman of the county AAA committee.

To qualify for this payment, Mr. Hawkins said, a protective green cover must be provided and the crops must not be harvested for grain. However, it may be pastured, cut for hay, or turned under as a green manure to plant crop, or left on the land as a "go down" crop, next spring. The seed bed should be well prepared and the soil sown sufficiently early to permit plants to withstand winter freezes.

In view of the expected shortage of legume seed this fall, he said, farmers of Stokes county should take advantage of this opportunity under the AAA program to protect their soil against erosion through use of small grain cover crops.

Postmaster At Lawsonville Faces Serious Charges

(Winston Journal)

Charged with withdrawing postal accounts and converting them to her own use and falsifying postal records, Mrs. Lorena L. Tucker, postmaster at Lawsonville, has been bound over to United States District Court under $750 bond.

Her husband, Eugene J. Tucker, assistant postmaster, charged with aiding and abetting in the violation, also was bound over to District Court by United States Commissioner Charles E. Ader of Winston-Salem. His bond was fixed at $750, which he and his wife arranged immediately.

Postal inspectors who investigated the case said Mrs. Tucker withdrew $313 from postal receipts on or about January 1, 1943 and $150 on March 4, 1944.

The investigators said Tucker admitted that his wife turned over to him $200 on January 1, 1943, and $150, on March 1, 1944.

Mrs. Tucker and her husband surrendered voluntarily when they learned of the charges, and waived hearing. The cases will be tried in Winston-Salem at the November term of court.

Commissioner Ader said he understood that both had resigned.

Charlie Hill Killed By Mule Aug. 4

Francisco, Aug. 5.—A runaway mule dragged Charlie Hill to death Friday, between Westfield and Brim's Grove.

The animal showed unwillingness of being mounted, and upon Mr. Hill's second attempt to mount his foot became entangled in the plow gear. The mule ran, dragging the helpless man over rock piles and stumps. The body was finally torn from the leg that was fast in the gear. Mr. Hill's face was only slightly scratched, but the remainder of his body was scattered over a considerable distance. The mule was finally hemmed and caught by four men in a field.

Death Of Mrs. Flynt

Mrs. J. R. Flynt, aged 70, died at her home near Walnut Cove after an illness of 13 weeks.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 2 o'clock at the home, with Elder J. G. Worrell and Elder J. Watt Tuttle in charge. Burial was in the family cemetery near the home.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Geneva Adkins, Walnut Cove; one sister, Mrs. S. P. Richardson, Walnut Cove; four brothers, J. M. Shelton, Stokesdale; T. G. Shelton, Madison; G. R. Shelton, Lawsonville; W. E. Shelton, Liberty, and one grandchild.

Crop Conditions

Farmers report good crops of corn and tobacco in all sections of the county. The tobacco crop is not only fine, but some say it will be as big in pounds probably as last year. This is owing to the increase in weight due to the recent fine seasons.
