

TO THE MAD HOUSE!

A Sad Parting of Those Near and Dear Last Night.

A Mother Goes to a Mad House While the Husband Mourns.

FIVE CHILDREN IN THE TROUBLE

People Who Come and Go—Brief Brevities of Interest to All Readers of The Globe.

One of the saddest sights we have witnessed recently, was at the R. & D. depot yesterday. The wife of Mr. A. L. Thatcher, whose mind has been impaired for some time, was brought to the evening train to be taken to the asylum at Morganton.

When the carriage arrived at the depot Mrs. Thatcher refused to get out, saying that she did not intend to go, as she left all her children—six in number and the youngest only five months old—crying for her.

Her husband, whose face exhibited deep grief, took her gently by the arm, but it became necessary that he have assistance, and a gentleman standing near by proffered his services, when the poor unfortunate was taken into the waiting room.

By the persuasion of her husband, who accompanied her, and of sympathizing friends, she was induced to go without further trouble.

It is to be hoped that a short stay at Morganton will fit her to return to the children from whom she was so loath to part, and to the husband who has been sorely wounded by this unfortunate visitation.

PROHIBITION CANDIDATES

BIDWELL OF NEW YORK AND CRANFILL OF TEXAS THE WINNERS.

The Cincinnati Convention Presents a Lively Scene and Harmony Prevails.

The prohibition convention which convened yesterday in Cincinnati, and which was opened with a ringing and characteristic speech from John P. St. John, has had no monkey work, but proceeded at once to get down to business.

Bidwell was nominated on the first ballot at midnight. The vote was: Bidwell 590, Demorest 189, Stewart 179, Bascom, of New York, 3. Necessary to a choice 487. John Bidwell was born in Chautauque county, New York, August 5, 1819. He migrated to California. He served as a major in the war with Mexico until its close. In 1860 he was a delegate to the national democratic convention at Charleston, S. C., served a term in congress from 1865 to 1867 and 1875 was a candidate for governor of California, and was defeated.

Cranfill, of Texas, was nominated for vice-president this afternoon, and the leaders are still whooping it up.

Colonel Jim Southgate, who is a cold water man on general principles, will begin next week to stump the state, in anticipation of the coming election.

Take Hood's and only Hood's, because Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures. It possesses merit peculiar to itself. Try it yourself.

ALL IS READY NOW!

The Big Crowd Will Find Room in the City of Omaha.

The Money for Entertainment Is All Subscribed To-day.

ABOUT THE BIG BUILDING FOR THEM

The Largest and Most Important Crowd of Delegates Ever Gathered in the United States.

OMAHA, Neb., July 1.—[Special.]—The local entertainment committee that is looking up accommodations for those who will be the city's visitors during the independent convention is at work canvassing for rooms, and has now a list showing accommodations for a little over 12,000 people.

The finance committee had secured $6,853 yesterday on subscription, and of this amount $4,900 been paid in. The outstanding $1,900 is as good as collected, as it was subscribed for specific purposes, and will be forthcoming when needed.

The street railway company which subscribed $1,500, has paid in $500, and the remaining $1,000 is for the rent of the chairs which are now being placed in the coliseum, and will be paid when called for, and the $2,200 which was required to make up the committee's pledge, was turned in this morning.

Thousands are coming and thousands are here.

Grand Master Workman Powderly, of the Knights of Labor, left Chicago last evening with a number of the officials of the order and a large number of the eastern delegates to the convention on a special train over the Northwestern. They arrived this morning.

The convention hall has a seating capacity of about 7,000, with ample space in the aisles and passageways for 2,000 or 3,000 more in crush. Committee rooms have been arranged in the annex to the rear, where also the telegraph companies will be provided with ample working space.

The street car company has agreed to run a stub line from the Twenty-fourth street motor line over to Twentieth and to extend that line over to Sixteenth street, making a connection with the motor line on that thoroughfare. This will give three lines of cars between the city and Coliseum building. With increased car service it is estimated that the vast crowds can be handled readily.

Chairman Strickler says that the Coliseum building will be in readiness for the guests by noon to-day.

The arrangements of the chairs, and the elevation on an inclined plane of all chairs, outside of the space allotted for delegates in the center of the building, is far superior to anything that has heretofore been made in the building. A platform 100 feet long and thirty feet wide has been built on the west side of the hall for the chairman, secretaries, national committee and the newspaper men. The two press associations, will have prominent places on either side of the speaker's stand. Next in position to these will be the editors of the prominent independent newspapers of the country. After these are provided for the representatives of the metropolitan press throughout the country will be assigned to places, and the remaining seats will be allotted to the editors of the Nebraska weekly newspapers.

As to the candidates all is at sea. While General J. B. Weaver, of Iowa, seemed to have the support of the local independents up to the time of the return of the disgruntled silver men from the Chicago convention and the announcement of their decision to come here and seek satisfaction at the hands of the independents, the sentiment has changed and it is now openly asserted that Weaver is no longer in it. The talk is all in favor of a nominee from a mining state, and Stewart, of Nevada, and Adams, of Colorado, have the call, with Watson, of Georgia, for second place.

This, however, would destroy the pleasing alliteration that many of the new movement have been counting on. For a while they counted on Donnelly and Davis—Ignatius, of Minnesota, and J. G., of Texas. Then Polk and Powderly caught the popular fancy, but the death of one and the absolute refusal of the other to be considered for either first or second place, necessitated the election of another pair, and Weaver and Watson were set forth.

Now comes the silver situation with other favorites, but it has not yet presented a second place A to go with Adams or an upper case S to trot with Stewart. Unless this deficiency can be remedied the nomination of either of the mountaineers would not give full and complete satisfaction. HAYNES.
