world is off the track. You might as well
stand at the foot of an embankment, amid the stand at the foot of an embankment, amid the wreck of a capsized rail train, proving by elaborate argum in that something is cut of order. Ad in tumbled over the embankment sixty centuries ago, and the whole race, in one long train, has gone on tumbling in the same direction. Crash! Crash! The only question now is, By what leverage can the crush of thing be lifted! By what hummer may the fragments be reconstructed!

I want to show you how we may turn many to rightecusness, and what will be our future pay for so doing.

pay for so doing. First-We may turn them by the charm of a right example. A child, coming from a filthy home, was taught at school to wash its face. It went home so much improved in ap-pearance that its mother washed her face. And when the father of the household came And when the father of the household came home, and saw the improvement in domestic appearance, he washed his face. The neighbors happearing in, saw the change, and tried the same experiment until all that street was purified, and the next street copied its example, and the whole city felt the result of one schoolboy washing his face. That is a fable, by which we set forth that the best way to get the world washed of its sins and pollution is to have our own heart and life cleaned and purified. A man with grace in his heart, and thrist an cheerfulness in his face, and holy consistency cheerfulness in his face, and holy consistency in his behavior, is a perpetual sermon; and the sermon differs from others in that it has the sermon differs from others in that it has but one head, and the longer it runs the better. There are honest men who waik down Wall street, making the teeth of iniquity chatter. There are happy men who go into a sick room, and, by a loot, help the broom bone to knit, and the excited nerves drop to calm beating. There are pu a men whose presence sinces the ton ue of uncleanness. The mighthest agent of good on each his a consistent Christian, I like the Bible folded between its of cloth, of calfishin or morocco, but I like it tian. I like the Bible folded between it is of cloth, of calfskin or morocco, but I like it better when, in the stape of a man, it goes out into the world—a Bible distrated. Courage is beautiful to read about; but rather would I see a man with all the world against him confident as though all the world were for him. Fatence is beautiful to read about; but rather would I see a buffed soul calmly waiting for the time of deliverance. Faith is beautiful to read about; but rather would I find a man in the midnight walking straight on as though he saw everything. Oh how many souls have been turned to God by the charm of a bright example!

Oh how many souls have been turned to God by the charm of a bright example!

When, in the Mexi an war, the troops were wavering a General rose in his stirrups and dashed into the cheeny's lines, shouting: "Men, follow!" They, reeing his courage and disposition, dashed on after him and gained the victory. What men want to rally them for God is an example to had them. All your commands to others to advance smount to nothing so long as you stoy leading. To affect them aright you red to start for heaven yourself, looking back only to give the stirring cry of "Men, follow".

Again: We may turn many to right-ous-And the second of the second o

Not one of us yet knows how to pray. All we have done as yet has only been pottering, and guessing, and experimenting. A boy jets hold of his father's saw and hammer, and tries to make something, but it is a poor affair that he makes. The father comes and akes the same saw and hummer, and builds he house or the slip. In the childhood of our Christian faith, we make but poor work with these weatons of prayer, but when we come to the stay use of man in Let is Christ, then these weators of prayer, but when we come to the stature of men in Jesus Christ, then under these represents, the temple of God will rise and the world's redempt on will be hunched. God cares not far the length of our prayers, or the pendy of our prayers, or the place of our prayers, but it is the faith it them that talls. Believing prayer soon higher than the lank ever sang; plunge desert than dwing beli ever sank; darts quicker than lightning ever flashed. Though we have used only the back of this weapor instead of the edge, what marvels have be a wrought! If saved we are all the captives of some earnest prayer. Would God that it the desire for the rown of scals, we might in prayer hay hold of the resources of the Lord Omniposcut.

We may turn many to righteensness by

We may turn many to righteousness by Christian admonition. Do not wait until you can make a formal speech. Address the you can make a formal speech. Address the one next to you. You will not go home alone to day. Between this and your place of stepping you may decide the elemal destiny of an immortal spirit. Just one sentence may do the work. Just one sentence may do the work. Just one enestion. Just one look. The formal talk that begins with a sigh, and ends with a canting anule, is not what is wanted, but the hearttiroh of a marin dead earnest. There is not a sent on earth that you may not bring to God if you rightly go at it. They said Gibraltar could not be taken. It is a roke exteen bus hed feet birth and three most one. But the English and Dutch del take it. Artillery, and suppers and miners and these pouring out volleys of death, and thousands of men, reckless of danger, can do anything. Again: Christian workers shall be like the stars in the fact that they have a light independent of each other. Look up at the night, and see each world shows its distinct glory. It is not like the conflagration, in which you cannot tell where one flame stops and another begins. Neptune, Herschel and Mercury are as distinct as if each one of them were the only star; so our individualism will not be lost in beaven. A great multitude—yet each one as observable, as distinctly recognized, as greatly celebrated, as if in all the state from cate to gate, and from stace from gate to gate, and from bill to bill, he was the only inhabitant; no bill to bill, he was the only inhabitant; no miving us—no mob—no indistriminate ruch; each Christian worker standing out illustrious—all the story of earthly achieve ments adhering to each one; his self denials, and pains, and services, and victories published. Before men went out to the last war, the orators told them that they would all be remembered by their country, and their names be commemorated in poetry. and in song; but go to the graveyard in Rich and in song; but go to the graveyard in Rich mond and you wid find there six thousand graves, over each one of which is the inscription, "Unknown." The world does not remember its heroes; but there will be no un recognized Christian worker in heaven. Fach one known by all; grandly known; known by acclamation; all the post story of work for God gleaming in cheek, and trow, and foot, and paim. They shall share with distinct light as the stars, forever and ever. Again, Christian workers shall shine like the stars in clusters. In looking up, you find the worlds in family circles. Brothers and sisters—they take hold of each other's hands and dance in groups. Orion in a group. and dance in groups. Orion in a group. The Pleiales in a group. The solar system is only a company of children, with bright es, gatherel around one great fireplace, words do not straggle off. They go in squadrons and fleets, sailing through im

So Christiam workers in heaven will dwell. in neighborhoods and clusters. I am sure that some people I will be in heaven a great deal better than others. Yonder is a constallation of stately Christiana. They lived on earth by rigid rule. They never in the! They walted every hour, anxious list they should lose their dignity. But they loved should lose the r dignity. But they loved God, and youder they shine in brilliant constellation. Yet I shall not long to get into that particular group. You'ler is a constellation of small hearted Chistians—asteroiding the eternal astronomy. While some souls go up from Christian battle and blaze like Mars, these asteriods dart a feeble ray like Vests. Vonder is a constellation of martyrs. Ve.11. Yonder is a constellation of martyrs, of apoeties, of patriarchs. Our souls, as they go up to heaven, will seek out the most congenial so riety. Yonder is a constellation almost merry with the play of light. On earth they were full of sympathies and songs, and it would require scales with a pillar hun-freds of thousands of miles high, and chains hundreds of thousands of miles high, and at the bottom of the chains basins on either side hundreds of thousands of miles wide, and hundreds of the sands of miles wide, and that then of mipot use alone could put the mountains into the scales and the brids into the balance. But puny man has been equal to the undertaking, and has set a little balance on his recometry, and weighed wor'd against world. Yea, he has pulied out his measuring line, and amounced that Hers hell is tourty six theusand miles in diameter, Saturn seventy-nine thousand miles in diameter and Jupiter eighty nine thousand miles in diameter, and that the smallest pearl on the beach of heaven is immense beyond all imagination. So all they who have toiled for agination. So all they who have toiled for Christ on earth stall rise up to a magnitude of privilege, and a magnitude of strength, and a magnitude of holmess, and a magnitude of joy; and the weakest saint in glory becomes greater than all that we can have improved a supplier of the stall that we can have improved a supplier of the stall that we can have improved a supplier of the stall that we can

That is what will be the matter with the mount tains. The chariot in which they ride shall halt so suddenly that the Kings shall be thrown out. Star after star shall be carried out to leave a near the largest and hurn cat to burial amid funeral torches and burn out to turnal annu lineral for less and some growths. Constellations shall throw ashes on their heads, and all up and down the highways of space there shall be mourning, mourning, because the worlds are dead. But the Christian workers shall never quit their thrones—they shall regn forever and ever. If, by some invasion from hell, the attempt were made to carry them off into captivity from heaven, the souls they have saved would rally for their defense, and all the angels of God would stike with their scepters, and the retheir decease, and all the angels of cod-wou'd stilke with their scepters, and the re-deemel, on white horses of victory, would rite down the foe, and all the steep of the sky would resound with the crash of the overwhe med cohorts tumbled headlong out of heaven.

A Dancing Floor on Rubber Springs.

After the recent big fire in Tammany Hall, New York, a lot of wee flat rubber wheels like little doll grind-tones were found under the floor of the dancing

"Do you see this, "said Manager Bush, holding up one of the rubber wheels,

He explained that they were laid under the floor to give it clasticity and spring. "In laying down a dancing floor boards free from knots have been selected, that it will wear smooth," he said,

Then the rubber wheels are hid on the beams about eighteen inches apart, and the space between the Leams filled up to the flooring with cork shavings. The boards are then solidly naited down and with the rubber and cock shavings press ing on the under side the floor is firm and springy. After this is done the floor is planed off and oiled, then planed again, after which it is sandpapered smooth as glass and ready for dancing.
