THANKSGIVING DAY.

Our annual national festival day is to-morrow. Plenty and prosperity abound and health and happiness are ours to enjoy. Let it, then, be made a genuine Day of Thanks. Let us be thankful for the blessings of heaven, in the varied contents of "basket and store," for the fruitage of the orchards, the holdings of the granaries, the friends that are with us and the tender memories we have of those who have gone beyond. Let those who have plenty give thanks that they have much to enjoy, and thanks that it is their privilege to give of their bounteous store to those who are less fortunate, and thanks again that it is not only those who receive, but those who give who are blessed.

Day of Thanks to those who have but little, that it may be made the means of comfort and enjoyment by the mingling of what little they have with the leaven of content. Day of Thanks to the sad and sorrowing, to the needy and unfortunate, to those who suffer from wrong doings of their own or from others, that dark clouds often have silver linings and that the gloom of night is always followed by the light of day. Day of Thanks for the life that now is and the hopes and promises of the life to come; for the life-giving, health-giving and wealth-giving elements so positive and plentiful on every hand; for what we have and for the much more that we may have, of our own choice, in the way of careful, conscientious and prudent living.

Day of Thanks for the precious memories of the past, the tenderness of affections and endearment of the present and for the rich promises of the opening future of the Home Life before us. Day of Thanks for the loves of our homes and the endearing ties of kinship, for the occasions of family reunions, for the opportunities of mingling together of the old and the young, for the loving embraces of parents and children, for the ample means afforded for the bestowment of blessings of the aged sire and mature matron upon the children and children's children of their day and generation, for the giving of benedictions by the grand-sire and grand-dame upon the little ones of the family flock, for the privilege of being recipients of such blessings and benefits.

Day of Thanks to the lofty and lowly, for the freedom of thought and action which is their heritage in this land of liberty; for the protecting care that our national, state and local governments afford us. Day of Thanks for the "olive branches" that may gather around the Thanksgiving table; for the circumstance that brings so many who have strayed from the old roof tree back to the embraces of loved and loving family circles. Day of Thanks for the old who are still with us, as we reach one hand backward to them and another forward to the little ones who are the connecting links of the lives not only of those who have gone before us, with our own, but of our own with those who are to come after; for the duties that these little ones demand at our hands, and for the lessons of life that they teach us as we go on our way from one Thanksgiving Day to another and making each one, as it comes in its turn, a genuine DAY OF THANKS.

The Greensboro Daily Record has entered the second year of its existence with brighter prospects than ever. It is a newsy paper, carefully edited, and is clean and neat in its typographical appearance.

They went to New York Wednesday to purchase counterfeit money but when they returned home on Saturday they found by opening their packages nothing but sawdust and paper.

Pure blood is what oils the machinery of life, causes every movement of the body, removes stiffness of the joints, drives out pain from the nerves, stimulates the brain, protects the liver and kidneys from irritation, enables physical exertion without fatigue, prolongs life, and makes men and women perfect in health and feature. Good blood and good brain are inseparable. Aim to keep the blood pure by using the only true blood remedy, B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm.)

Miss S. Tomlinson, Atlanta, Ga., says: "For many years I have been afflicted with rheumatism combined with severe kidney troubles, indigestion and nervous prostration. Several physicians were employed and numerous patent medicines resorted to without benefit. At last I began the use of B. B. B., and its effect was like magic. Rheumatic pains ceased, my kidneys were relieved, and my constitution improved at once."

Z. T. Hallberton, Macon, Ga., writes: "Three years ago I contracted blood poison. I applied to a physician at once, and his treatment came near killing me. I employed an old physician and then went to Kentucky. I then went to Hot Springs months, but nothing seemed to cure me permanently, although temporary relief was given me. I returned home a ruined man physically, with but little prospect of ever getting well. I was persuaded to try B. B. B., and to my utter astonishment it quickly healed every ulcer."
