The farmer goes to town in the fall and contracts for all the butter he thinks he will produce. In the spring he finds he has more and has to sell it for 15 cents a pound because nobody stands ready to take his surplus at 25 cents. So with silver. If the mints are opened so that every man with an ounce of silver can convert it into money there would be no surplus to drag down the price. Can the United States take all the silver offered? If so, we can maintain the parity. The only way to know absolutely is to try, but we are encouraged to try. Remember the silver of France, England and Germanynearly all coined in the world, is worth more now as compared with gold than have and it circulates at 15% to 1. Not an ounce has come here without rising 3 cents. The silver of England is England more than us, because there are more people there that use silver than ever see a piece of gold. China, Japan and India must have their supply, and we would take only what is left. If we can take it all we will fix the price at $1.29 and we would raise the price of those things which come in competition with the products of other countries, thereby restoring prosperity to the farmers, who could then purchase at the stores and make a demand for the product of factories. If you de-stroy the ability of the producers to sell the products of the factories you

Considerable enthusiasm marked the candidate's speech and the cheers grew in intensity as he proceeded. Just as Mr. Bryan boarded his train he was presented with the foot of a rabbit killed at midnight in a church yard during the dark of the moon. Those who saw the presentation manifested their appreciation of the incident by exercising their lungs, and just as the train moved off the candidate called out: "If all the people who have 'given me rabbits' feet in this campaign will vote for me there is no possible doubt of my election." At that time all the monied influences of this country were combined for his overthrow, just as they have combined today to perpetuate a government of syndicates by syndicates and for syndicates. (Applause.) The masses are interested in a government which guarantees equal rights to all and confers special privileges to none. It is the classes who want to use the instrumentalities of government for private gain. The masses are too busy trying to make a living and bearing the burdens imposed on them to crowd around legislative halls and spend a large amount to secure legislation which will enable them to get a larger amount out of the people. If the govin the enjoyment of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness it is all should be asked. AVA Nebraska, writes: "My heart troubled and pained me for 19 years. Shortness of breath was the constant and most common symptom. Intense, excruciating pain, generally followed any severe exertion. Faintness, made me clutch my breast, and palpitation that often staggered me as if I would fall, were frequent attacks. Again, everything would turn black if I arose from a stooping posture quickly. Sleepless nights with their Dr. Miles' prostrating unrest were numerous and I could Heart Cure set no rest day or night.
I consulted leading physicians and tried advertised remedies. They Health..... gave me no relief. One of Dr. Miles' circulars described my case so
