INTEREST OF PRESS

FINLEY TO N. C. EDITORS.

Mr. Finley, at Asheville, Discusses Mutual Interests of Press and Railways and Their Aid in Community Development.

Asheville, N. C., July 24 .- At the meeting of the North Carolina Press Association in Asheville to-day President Finley, of the Southern Railway Company, delivered an address on "The Relations of the Press and the Railways and the Value of their Cooperation in Community Develop-

Mr. Finley pointed out the natural basis for co-operation between the press and the railways growing out of the substantial identity of their interests in community development and presperity, bringing to the newspapers additional subscribers and advertising and to the railways increased traffic and making it logical that the press and the railways, in their respective fields, should work in close co-operation for community development. He recognized that, while the newspapers and the railways were thus natural allies in community development, it did not follow that there should not be fair criticism of the railways, and ative to our policies. I always take note of newspaper criticism on matters that it may be within our power to remedy and all such matters are given attention so far as it may be practicable to do so"

Referring to the fact that a railway can not win the support of public opinion through the exercise of political influence or in any other way except by the intelligent and effective performance of its functions as a carrier and by its responsiveness to fair criticism, Mr. Finley pointed out that its position can only be secure when the economic conditions surrounding its operation and the importance of its functions to development and to the enlargement of opportunity are appreciated by the people of the community, and that this appreciation was dependent upon enlightened citizenship. He spoke of the moral responsibility of the press in this connection and of its power, by presenting fully and fairly, the economic situation of the railways and the interest of all of the people in their prosperity and efficiency, to bring about that mutual FLANNIGAN good understanding which is indispensable to effective co-operation. As, in an economic sense, production is not complete until goods are put in a position for consumption, Mr. Finley spoke of the railways as creators of value and as an indispensable part of the producing equipment of just as logical as against the railways. ways, just as of any other business enterprise to present their cause, fully and freely, before courts, administrative tribunals, legislatures, and the bar of public opinion, Mr. Finley said:

We shall now investigate what claims the Creator may have in this matter, For certainly His rights must not be overlooked. The divine rights have a three-fold basis. They rest on God's creation of marriage, the home, and the family. They rest on God's providence, by which he has sustained these interest in the creations, and lastly on the color of the saling of the case was continued on account of a witness who was to testify don't may be the case required several hours with concern over Laddele, as a bate in the case required several hours with concern over Laddele, as a bate in the case required several hours with concern over Laddele, as a bate in the case required several hours with concern over Laddele, as a bate in the case required several hours.
