OUR NEXT PRESIDENT. The work of the great Chicago convention has been done, and it has become a thing of the past.

The result was no surprise to the writer of these lines, for Mr. Cleveland's nomination was a foregone conclusion long before it was really settled.

Anything we might, in feebleness extreme, try to say of this greatest of American statesmen, would fall far short of portraying his sterling worth.

From the earliest moment when candidates for the nomination were being spoken of, we put forward the name of Mr. Cleveland as being the man best suited for that high exaltation in this great commonwealth.

Though there were other good men who were candidates, the eternal fitness of things loudly called for Mr. Cleveland's nomination.

And how great was his triumph! Though he did not so much as raise his hand as far as personally working for his nomination is concerned, it could be seen all along that he was the man whom the people wanted, and the man whom they were bent upon having as their standard bearer.

This makes the third time he has had the high honor of getting the presidential nomination at the hands of his party. No man, however distinguished, has ever had that exalted honor conferred upon him.

mental affairs, with the esteem and confidence of the people. He is a man of too broad a standard to "bend the pregnant hinges of the knee that thrive might follow fawning."

The great body of people admire a man of Mr. Cleveland's "build." As to the nominee for the vice-presidency, Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson is a man who has long enjoyed the confidence of the Democrats.

Indeed, he was favorably mentioned for President, and did run second best to Mr. Cleveland, having received 31 1/2 votes, if we mistake not.

His parents were natives of Ireddell county, N. C. They moved to Kentucky two or three years before Mr. Stevenson was born. The ticket is all that anyone could wish.

There need be no fears of Democracy falling into repute in the hands of so worthy exponents as they have proven themselves to be. It is not necessary for us to enjoin upon all Democrats to see that the ticket is successful.

We believe they will do that. This will be a winning year for Democracy. It is said that South Carolina will be solid for Cleveland.

Senator Irby says, as its chairman of the State Democratic Committee, he is determined to make the best effort of his life for Cleveland.

This don't look much like the predicted desertion of South Carolina in case of Cleveland's nomination.

The Democrats will pull together and elect its nominees, State and National, by an overwhelming majority. Work and pray for it.

Cleveland must be the next occupant of the White House. The National Democratic platform is out-spoken against the Republican party policy, and especially against its pet theory, the force bill.

On the tariff it is sound, and it denounces "protection," in no uncertain sound. We quote its plank on the tariff: "We denounce Republican protection as a fraud on the labor of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of a few."

We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the Federal government has no constitutional power to impose and collect a tariff duty except for the purposes of revenue only.

And we demand that the collection of such taxes shall be limited to the necessities of the government when honestly administered. Here is what editor Dana, of the New York Sun, has to say of the situation:

"The Republican party is by its nature and traditions under the necessity of enacting and executing an election law whose purpose and effect will be to put the negroes in control of several of the Southern States."

Rev. Thos. Dixon has at last got into trouble, or at least has been in for some time. He made the statement that Commissioner Koch was the biggest scoundrel of them all.

He was arrested and brought before a magistrate, who found him guilty. The grand jury in the case has since found a true bill against him, and he will now have a trial.

He is in a close place, and should he fail to prove his assertions, it may go hard with him. Some of these ranting Third party leaders remind us of the boy who had gone up into a tree to saw off a limb.

In place of getting out on another limb to do the sawing, he sawed between the tree and himself. That is very much analogous to those who are leaving the staid old Democratic craft for a frail bark.

A better ticket than that promulgated at Chicago could not have been devised. Cleveland and Stevenson stand for all that Democracy stands for.

They are worthy exponents of a worthy party. It's useless to say that they will get there. Blaine will never have any more ambition to again dabble in politics.

That act of our convention at Chicago tendering him condolence, was the "touch of nature that makes the whole world akin."

Working corn is the order of the day. David Seehret was found on the 20th in an old house. He said he had nothing to eat in two days.

Mr. James Easler wears a smile. It's a boy. Mrs. E. J. Gordon is very ill. Mr. Albert Myers finished cutting wheat on the model farm last week.

Mr. Louis Woodard started for Virginia last week. Messrs. Edrons: I thought you might like to hear from this community, so I take the privilege of writing a few lines.

The farmers are well-nigh through with their harvest and every one well pleased with the abundant reward which they are receiving for their labor.

Corn is looking well, the prospects are very good for an abundant corn crop. People are generally enjoying good health.

We recently learned that Prof. W. H. Crowder was very ill, at his mother's home in Montgomery county.

We sincerely hope he will speedily recover. Prof. Crowder is one of our best teachers, and has taught a very successful school at Farmers Academy, ending May 13th.

Take Simmons Liver Regulator. As a matter of fact, it is necessary to have your liver in good condition to be able to do your work.

It is indeed a shock, a thunderclap from a clear sky, not only to the relatives, but to the many friends who knew her, several of whom had seen her only a few days before, seemingly in perfect health.

It is as if it cannot be that we shall never again take that hand in friend's warm clasp, shall never hear that dear voice utter another word, yet we know that it is true.

There is no higher tribute we can pay to her memory than to say she discharged her duty faithfully in whatever she was called upon to do.

She was laid to rest in Pilgrim churchyard the day following her death, with funeral services by Rev. Jacob Wyke.

And now, while her eyes are closed forever to earthly scenes, we know that she is "asleep in Jesus" and when the resurrection morn shall come, she will be with the ransomed throng singing glory and praises to the Lamb forevermore.

Many a poor sufferer who submits to the surgeon's knife, in consequence of malignant sores and scrofulous swellings, might be cured, without an operation, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Win. Thomas, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble."
