The South in Comparison With Other Sections.

Elsewhere in this issue is published a letter from Mr. Edward Atkinson, called forth by a copy of the pamphlet "Facts About the South." Mr. Atkinson, commenting on comparisons made in that pamphlet showing the rate of progress of the South in contrast with the growth of the North and West, takes exception to this feature. He claims that it is an error to seek to attract attention to the South by comparisons with the North and West. In taking this position Mr. Atkinson omits one important fact. The human mind is so constituted that it can only fully grasp the meaning of statistics by comparisons. To say that the South had quadrupled its cotton production and doubled its railroad mileage would, with the average individual, necessarily carry comparatively little weight, because, without a study of what other sections had done, this might mean very little or very much; but to say that the South had increased its cotton production, its railroad mileage, its iron and coal production and the assessed value of its property more rapidly than even the West and North immediately impresses everyone, with the magnitude of this progress. It is for this reason that these comparisons were made. No effort was made to discredit other sections. The Manufacturers' Record recognizes the interdependence of all sections of our country; it recognizes that this is one great country, and no one part can be injured without others suffering; but it also recognizes that the development of the South does not mean disaster to other sections, but, on the contrary, a well-rounded development that must necessarily help to increase the prosperity of the entire country. It was in the Manufacturers' Record that the late Judge Kelley first made the state that "the development of the South means the enrichment of the nation." The southward flow of population which is now setting in and the southward tendency of capital may for the time seem to be a disadvantage to other sections, especially to parts of the West, from which population is so rapidly moving southward. But if the West can furnish a profitable field of employment, it is not only better for the West, but better for the country, that this surplus population should seek the South where every condition makes it possible for the highest development of civilization.

Mr. Atkinson also claims that the true need of the South is to develop "from within, and not from without." The South is doing this. When the same people (except the natural increase unaided by immigration) who is 18-80 were producing $1,200,000,000 worth of agricultural and manufactured goods are now producing over $2,000,000,000 a year, it can be seen that the South is developing within itself. But notwithstanding this, there is need to heed Mr. Atkinson's views and to give close study to his suggestions. It was the wonderful flow of population and capital to the West that created an empire. And we might as well say that the West twenty or twenty-five years ago should have developed within itself, and not from without, as to apply the same reason to the South. Judged by its area, its possibilities of sustaining population, its wealth creating capabilities, the present population of the South is but a fraction of what is needed to fully utilize its vast resources. The South is developing within itself, but it extends to all a hearty welcome to join in this great work, and to do it under more favorable conditions than any other part of this country, or, for that matter, any other country, has ever developed.

Unlike the pioneer who blazed the pathway of civilization in the West and who had to undergo the hardships of a new country, the South offers every comfort and convenience of the highest civilization—schools, churches, social advantages, railroad and water transportation facilities, a genial climate and everything needed to increase the comforts and pleasures of life.—Man's Record.

W. A. McGuire, a well known citizen of Mt. Cay, Ohio, is of the opinion that there is nothing so good for children troubled with cough or croup as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He has used it in his family on several years with the best results and always keeps a bottle of it in the house. After having been stricken he was himself troubled with severe cough. He used other remedies without benefit and then resorted to try the children's medicine and to his delight it soon effected a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Dr. W. L. Crouse, Druggist.

Blue Grass Tragedy.

LINCOLN, Ky., Nov. 8.—A bloody political tragedy occurred in Lexington this afternoon at 5 o'clock when John Traynor, marshal of Athens, Kentucky, cut Lew Sharpe, probably fatally, and shot Ike Davidson to death. Sharpe and Traynor were both Democrats, Sharpe being an Owens man and Traynor a Breckenridge supporter. They met in front of Leland hotel. Sharpe accused Traynor of having voted for Denny, the Republican. Traynor denied it, when Sharpe called him a d-d liar. Traynor struck Sharpe, who is badly crippled, as the result of having been shot in the knee during the war. The blow knocked Sharpe to the sidewalk, and before he could get up, Traynor drew a knife and began cutting the old soldier. Pat Toomey, a young friend of Sharpe, rushed to his assistance and knocked Traynor down. Ike Davidson jumped in and tried to separate them. Traynor scrambled to his feet and apparently trying to get away, went down the street with two pistols in his hands, when turning, he fired, the ball striking Davidson in the stomach. He died in an hour. Sharpe was taken to the hospital where he is suffering greatly and it is more than likely he will die. Traynor was locked up. Davidson was a well-known distiller. The origin of the feud between the men dates back some time. On election day John Green, who was Marshal Traynor's deputy, shot and fatally wounded George Toomey, a brother of the man who took part in today's affray. Pat Toomey, Sharpe and Davidson came to town this afternoon to have Traynor arrested as an accessory to the shooting of George Toomey; as the latter is likely to die before morning. Traynor had been arrested and released on bond when Sharpe met him in a room of a hotel.

There was already a great deal of bad blood between the Owens and Breckenridge men here, and it is feared that this will not be the last of the trouble. Green, who shot Toomey, was the Breckenridge man, and Toomey, an Owens follower. Sharpe is closely related to Stephen G. Sharpe, ex-Treasurer of Kentucky.

Good Times Coming.

If the apostles of fusion are not ardent frauds and cheats there are good times a-coming.

They have taught on the stump and though the press and in secret midnight conclaves that the Democratic party is responsible for all the ill's that human flesh is heir to.

Now Democracy has been defeated they must make times better or acknowledge that they are a lot of bunco steers, unworthy of belief and bent on treason, stratagems and spoils.

They have told the people that the Democrats have made the price of wheat so low. Let them now see to it that wheat doubles in value, and that cotton goes booming back to twenty cents a pound,—or let them make the damning admission that legislation is powerless to effect the price of agricultural products.

They have charged the Democrats with cutting down the price of labor and grinding the face of the poor. Let them now see to it that wages are promptly raised, that there is plenty of work for those that want to work and that those who won't work are provided with an office or pensioned off at the public expense.

They have complained that the Democrats have made money scarce, and they made the money question one of the most prominent issues in the campaign. Now let them flood the country with silver and greenbacks,—let them start up the mints and put the printing press in motion and distribute to every man, woman and child the fifty dollars they have promised; or let them admit that they have been guilty of obtaining goods under false pretenses.

Of course, the good times are coming. There will be a demand for an unlimited quantity of cord-wood at two dollars a cord; corn will bring two dollars the year round—money will grow on white oak trees and laborers will only have to name their price to get it.

Yes, good times are coming. The Fusionists will give the country:—

- Free silver.
- A gold standard.
- High tariff.
- Low tariff.
- Free trade.
- Free sugar.
- A sugar bounty.
- Lower bonds for the people.
- Greater profit to the manufacturer.
- Higher wages.

And if they don't give all of these things right away, their names will be mud.

For to the Fusionists everything must be done today, or the party that don't do it will be anathema maranatha.

The good times are coming. If they don't arrive on schedule time, Mary Ann will be at the bottom of it.

For the indications are that Mary Ann—she is the State.—Morgantown Herald.

Croup is a terror to young mothers. To post them concerning the first symptoms, and treatment is the object of the item. The first indication of croup is hoarseness. In a child who is subject to croup it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness, is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even after the rough cough has appeared it will prevent the attack. It has never been known to fail. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Dr. W. L. Crouse Druggist.

The Newspaper.

The good which has been accomplished in the development of the South by the work of its newspapers can never be fully measured. Under many discouragements and often with but meagre support from the business men of the community, the majority of Southern papers have been persistently, day in and day out, laboring for the unholding of that section. It is to be regretted that the great work which they have done has received so little practical encouragement. In other sections the hearty support of newspapers is almost universally regarded as a matter of necessity, and every business man makes it part of his business to deal deliberately with his local papers. In the South, on the contrary, the value of newspapers is not so fully appreciated. Business men generally do not seem to understand that the newspaper is not a luxury but a necessity; that if they want to discover new means of developing their business, they must study carefully the newspapers, and not simply regard the newspaper as something to be glanced over hurriedly and thrown aside.

The local papers should be liberally supported, because the life and energy of every town is judged by the world at large by the look of its local papers. The city that has no live, progressive paper filled with the advertisements of live progressive merchants will attract very little attention from the outside business world. Every man contemplating an investment in any Southern town carefully studies its newspapers, as he can largely judge by them the character of the business men of the place.

Nine men might read a copy of any paper and do it so carelessly as to find little in it of value, while the tenth man, looking for opportunities for business or for information that will be of value, sees opportunities of utilizing this information in many money making ways.—Manufacturers' Record.

TWO LIVES SAVED.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thomas, Eggers, 129 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result every thing else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful, it is such results, of which there are scores that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at Dr. J. M. Lawing Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

A New Danger.

A great danger threatens the people of the South. An evil that is steadily growing, and unless checked will cause great misery and suffering. Liver Medicine, called by all sorts of names, are being sold to the druggist to be handed to the people when they call for Simmons Liver Regulator. Beware! There never has been more than one Simmons Liver Regulator on the market. Take nothing else. The person who tries to persuade you that anything else is just the same is not to be relied upon, for the dealer to be trusted who tries to sell you another article in its stead. You know what Timonius Liver Regulator is, because it has been your good. No, don't be deceived into trying anything else. Wait until the Old Friend, Simmons Liver Regulator, has failed you, then will be time enough to try something else. Remember, Simmons Liver Regulator is what you want. It is put up only by J. B. Zoulin & Co., and a R. D. Z is on every package.

May the Devil Take Me.

In a Caravian town of the most pronounced Catholic orthodoxy the priest preached lately against the Baptists and related such horrible things about them that his pious hearers were literally horror-stricken at the Baptists' impieties. At last the preacher cried out: "The Baptists are so vile that they will all be cast into the pit, and if what I say is not true, may the devil take me now on the spot!" His excitement was terrible, and he so struck he cushion that the book fell from it. Not far from the pulpit there sat an American, who had a negro servant with him to whom he beckoned to take the book up to the priest, who perhaps had never seen one of those sons of ham in his life. The negro at once obeyed, and as he mounted the lowest of the pulpit steps the clergyman repeated his wish, that the devil might come and take him if what he said against the Baptists was not true.

Although the negro went softly the preacher heard his footsteps, and turning around, saw a black object solemnly, steadily and surely approaching him. He looked at him with terror, and believing that he would be the next instant collared by his Satanic Majesty, he cried out with trembling voice, "It is, after all possible that there may be good people among the Baptists." Turning then around to see if the object had disappeared, he saw it still steadily approaching. The perspiration burst out upon his brow, and full of despair he called out: "There are even many good people among the Baptists!" Thinking that this would suffice, he turned round, but what was his horror to find the object was close at hand, and turning partly to the negro and partly to the congregation, he cried out, "May the devil come and take me if all the Baptists are not better than we are!" The terrified priest fainted from the fright and it was only after some time that he recovered.—Ex.

John G. Manger, Editor of the Sunbeam, Seligman, Mo., who married Grover Cleveland for the Presidency in Nov., 1882, while he was Mayor of Buffalo, N. Y., is intimate in his praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says: "I have used it for the past five years and consider it the best preparation of the kind in the market. It is as staple as sugar and coffee in this section. It is an article of merit and should be used in every household. For sale by Dr. W. L. Crouse Druggist
