You think you have a right to entertain, and express your opinion of any man who may be your preference to hold a certain office. Don't you for get that the other fellow has just as sacred a right as you have, and he is most certain to exercise it.

If you know of any local news that should appear in the Leader, that does not appear, if you fail to hand it in the office do not blame any one but yourself, but the fact is you should feel sufficient interest in your town to hand in all local news to the Leader office.

Mr. W. E. White, President of the White Furniture Company returned to Mebane Tuesday after an absence of several weeks in the North West and South placing large orders for the finished goods of his company.

Mr. T. P. Cheek who is a professional paint spreader, has just completed several nice jobs in Mebane, including upper and lower portion of the two new brick stores recently erected by Mrs. White. He did a nice job on the walls of Mr. H. E. Wilkinson's store.

Ellis Stone and Company of Durham take space in this weeks Leader. This is one among the most popular dry goods houses of Durham. Samples of anything furnished on order, or your fare paid too and from Mebane to any customer whose purchases with them equals fifteen dollars.

Holmes-Warren and Co., swing to the breeze in this weeks Leader a full page advertisement. It is interesting reading, while young Buster Brown is mixing a good deal of his common place philosophy in advising you as to price, place, and things, he is a logical little fellow and it will be worth your while to see the Holmes-Warren Co., people during this mid summer cut price sales. They have a nice stock and will treat you right.

Homer Satterfield, the little son of William Satterfield was right badly bitten in his thigh Friday evening last by a dog belonging to Mr. C. J. Kee. Dr. Thompson cauterized the wound made by the dogs teeth. The puncture was some depth in the flesh. To ascertain as to whether the dog which bit the little boy was affected with rabies, and if so to enable the immediate application of the pasture treatment, the dog was killed Saturday evening and his head sent to Raleigh, and examination did not reveal any evidence of the virus. The little boy seems to be getting along well.

If You are Delinquent

If you owe for the Leader on subscription, do not wait to be personally asked for it. Send it or bring it in, you know that it cost money to issue a paper, and the amount you owe is an honest debt and should be met. Don't put it off, send it now, it is needed to day. One dollar will help, let us have it.

The New Presbyterian Church

Work was resumed upon the new Presbyterian church after several months waiting for material. We learn there is enough money in sight to advance the work a considerable. A great number of bricks have been placed upon the grounds.

1200 Miles

Sugar, it is said, is hauled from New Orleans to Battle Creek Mich. for 27 c. per 100 lbs. The distance is about 1200 miles. While we presume it is taken up the Mississippi river beyond St. Louis where a water route would make the rate much cheaper, yet the discrepancy is unfair when compared with shorter distance, on such local traffic.

Farmers Institute.

Farmers Institute will be held at the following places on the dates named.

Elon College Saturday Aug. 17

Friendship Monday Aug. 19

Mebane Tuesday Aug. 20

These Institutes have great educational advantages, what they teach is information that every one who lives on the farm should have. Hope the Institute to be held here on August the 20th will be largely attended. Everything is free, but it is of great value to the farmer his wife, his sons and his daughters.

Indicted For Setting Fire to Their Plant.

Stewart Brothers of Winston-Salem were indicted last week in the superior court for having attempted to burn their printing office in order to collect a large insurance. It is said that the plans laid for the fire were among the most systematic, and elaborate it was possible to conceive of. If these men are guilty, it is to be hoped that the property they are allege to own, will not be sufficient to purchase immunity for them. Mr. Young the insurance commissioner has been an efficient prosecuting official. He no doubt will endeavor to protect the states good name.

A Card of Thanks

We extend our sincerest thanks to friends and neighbors for their kindness during the sickness and death of our father, J. C. Freshwater.

Family.

Governor Kitchin is trying to induce people to think that anything and every one in politics is wrong! that does conform to his way of thinking, or contribute to his personal interest. Govern the people will get you down straight after a while.

Thaw Must Remain in The Asylum.

Harry K. Thaw seems no nearer liberty to day than he has been since he was first incarcerated in Matteawan asylum. Although it has taxed the state of New York more than three hundred thousand dollars to keep him safe from doing the public harm in his three trials for liberty the state has succeeded in doing it. His defense insisted that he was crazy when he killed White, the state insists that if that be true then he is still crazy. New York is not trying murders and acquitting them on the Baxter Shemwell plan. She dignifies law, and justice, she does not degrade it by making her courts a farce by pardons.

Convicted.

Claude Allen, one of Hillsville, Va., outlaws, was convicted Saturday of murder in the first degree for the killing of William M. Foster, commonwealth's attorney. At a former trial he was found guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of Judge Thornton L. Masse.

He is the second one of the Allen clan to be convicted of first degree murder. His father, Floyd Allen, also was convicted.

There seems little doubt but what Floyd Allen and his son will both be electrocuted. Virginia officials are going a little slow but they are doing their work in a strictly judicial way, according to the law of equity. If these men had been tried in North Carolina they would all likely to have been home long ago ready to do some more murders.

Will Cause Heavy Damage.

The army worm which is "marching through Georgia," will do $1,000,000 worth of damage to the corn, cotton and other crops of that State, according to an estimate by the State entomologist of Georgia in a report to the department of agriculture. What the amount of injury will be in the other Southern States which the pest has invaded has not yet been figured, although it is feared that farmers and planters will suffer heavily.

THE MIKADO DEAD

Japans Great Emperor Mutsuhito Died Monday.

Emperor Mutsuhito died last Monday morning at 12:43 o'clock, in the 60th year of his age, on the 48th year of his reign, after an illness covering several weeks. The emperor was unconscious for the 48 hours prior to his death.

His imperial majesty Mutsuhito was the 121st emperor of Japan. He was born at Kyoto on the third of November, 1852, and was the second son of the Emperor Komei. In 1860, seven years before his father's death, he was declared heir apparent. He ascended to the throne as a boy of 15, and at that occasion gave his solemn promise to grant some form of representative government. He fulfilled that promise in the most liberal manner and thus gave to his country its new birth. He is acclaimed by the entire world as the father of modern Japan.

Commendation For Simmons.

As we look at the matter, Senator Simmons and his lieutenants should come in for commendation for the conservative course which they have adopted for the campaign. While Governor Kitchin is going up and down the State wildly attacking what has become known as Simmons' record, Simmons has refrained from complaining Kitchin's twelve years' record as a Congressman, or his pardoning record as a Governor. By this course, Senator Simmons insures, so far as he is concerned, a canvass pitched upon a high plane, a campaign incomparably more decent than the gubernatorial campaign four years ago, when Kitchin record was aired up and down the State by Craig. Again we say, Simmons course should be applauded. Kitchin is certainly making no votes by the course he is pursuing, for the people know that Simmons record is one of accomplishments—a record of results secured. The more it is talked about the better it is understood and this better understanding is all to Simmons good.—Charlotte Observer.

"How Come?"

Governor Kitchin now seems to be very much wrought up lest men who are not Democrats vote in the senatorial primary this fall. The Herald also thinks only straight Democrats—those who vote the ticket from snout to tail—should be allowed to vote in that primary, but "how come?" the governor such a stickler for party regularity all of a sudden? Only as far back as 1909 he was upholding the hands of the bolters and political soreheads in Rockingham who deliberately defeated the late Reuben Reid for the state senate, and appointed one of them to an office over the protest of Senator Reid and his wing of the party—the wing that always votes the straight ticket and in season and out fights to keep the party true to its principles—in regard to trusts as well as other matters. Governor Kitchin took pleasure in serving and tying up with that crowd then; he shouldn't be so "straight" and sanctimonious now. We write this in order to keep history straight.—Madison Herald, July 18

Business Side of Baseball.

(From Current Literature.)

The people of the United States spend approximately fifteen million dollars a year to see baseball games. The total number of persons registered at all professional ball games during a season reaches fifty millions. So rapid has been the growth of baseball enthusiasm that—so we are told by Edward Mott Woolley—owners of baseball teams predict the time when the aggregate of baseball patronage, including major and minor leagues, will be three hundred millions. They believe baseball to be still in its infancy, and on this prophecy they are staking their cash in monster stadiums of iron and stone, and laying out business plans to take care of their profits that they count up in the millions. As a business investment, we are assured, baseball has United States Steel and all the stocks quoted on the stock exchange "beaten to a frazzle." Baseball magnates, Mr. Woolley goes on to explain in McClure's pay salaries of $10,000, $12,000, $15,000, even $18,000 to their managers and players. One baseball magnate paid no less than $22,000 bonus for the right to employ a single player. Millionaires like Charles P. Taft, brother of the President, invest in baseball franchises as they do in railroads and industrials. Mr. Taft, backed by his wife's fortune is the Morgan of American baseball, his investments reaching into the millions. Baseball, we are told, is a business—a wonder business.

After three years of persistent drilling for oil in Allen county, the patient labor of the operators was rewarded a few days ago by a sudden outburst of oil from a well 130 feet deep. The owners of the well had not figured on tapping a gusher and when the oil began to spout at the rate of 150 barrels a day they were rather poorly prepared to take care of it. They immediately proceeded to buy up all the barrels in the country and rush them to the scene, but the barrel supply soon gave out and the flow of oil continued. When there were no more barrels to put it in it was permitted to run into a creek near the well while some of the drillers left for the oil fields of Illinois to secure a supply of tanks and others began trying to plug up the well.

A GREAT SPEECH

Simmons Arrangement of Payne-Aldrich Tariff Law

Senator Simmons made one of the best speeches of his career last Thursday in the Senate when the wool bill was presented to the senate for passage and received the hearty felicitations of his colleagues upon the concise and able manner in which he presented the Democratic side of the question. The platform of both parties in 1908, he said, promised an honest revision of the tariff. This followed a demand from the people for relief from the oppression caused by the excessive duties of the existing tariff act.

"Under the shelter of the tariff the necessities of life were monopolized and placed beyond the reach of some classes," said Mr. Simmons. "The cost of living has been materially increased, and many articles can not be purchased by working men, clerks, and others of limited means. The people had a right to expect promises would be kept and the burden lessened. In this they were disappointed. There was indeed a revision, but one that afforded no relief. The slight changes did not tend to remove the burden borne by the consumer. No change whatever was made in the wool schedule although it was notoriously the most objectionable and excessive in the land. Republican leaders in the senate declared the revision was a mere sham and the people would never forgive the party for betraying them. No appeals were heard except from the beneficiaries of protection. The President and the leaders had to choose between the people and the interests, and they selected the beneficiaries of protection.

"A storm of disapproval and condemnation swept the country after sham revision was accomplished. It was shared by a large element in the Republican as well as the Democratic party. It was the beginning of that division in the Republican party which culminated in Chicago and has given the country for the first time in years a third great political party."

Mr. Simmons reviewed the action of a democratic house recognizing the mandate of the people and beginning tariff revision on sound and reasonable lines. The woolen industry, he charged, though receiving tariff favors were paying the lowest wages of any industry in the country, and that in certain sections they have practically ceased to employ Americans in their factories and were recruiting their labor from the backward countries of Europe. This industry, he said, while paying low wages and employing pauper labor from southern and eastern Europe instead of our own, whenever a suggestion of reducing their 90 per cent protection was made, swarmed around the capitol, demanding a continuance of these excessive and outrageous rates in the name of protection for American labor, and declaring that if these duties were reduced, they would be forced to go out of business or reduce the wages of their employees.

His indictment of the wool schedule of the Payne-Aldrich bill was terrific and scathing. He showed that the general average tariff on woolsens was over 90 per cent and that 27 articles in this schedule were protected by duties of over 100 per cent.

Evil Days for South Carolina.

New York Herald.

Men high in the public service have been impeached and convicted for lesser crimes than those charged to Gov. Cole L. Blease of South Carolina, and if the Palmetto State would purge herself of the stigma which this blatant chief executive has brought upon her she will have to investigate Blease very thoroughly. Ignorant and vicious, could be elected governor of any State.

These be evil days for South Carolina. They have stopped electing their best men to office down there. Once, and not so long ago, the high type of the State's public men was the boast of her citizens. But the old stock is still there and doubtless yet will reassert itself.

Blease is a thorn in the side of South Carolina. He threatens to become a candidate for the United States senate, and declares that he will be elected should the State refuse to give him another term of governor. We sympathize with South Carolina.
