WONT SWALLOW IT.

The State Democratic committee decides after much wrangling that a Democrat in order to vote in the primary election for senator must vote for every nominee on the Democratic ticket. Of course this tyrannical, and drastic measure may be forced down the throats of those who vote, but it will have much to do with reducing the number who will vote in the primary. The committee have said that those who vote in a Democratic primary must not vote a Republican ticket, but it is none of their business to force a man to vote for and support a man whom they do not care to support.

That a few men should attempt to force such rank and unjust conditions upon the Democratic party will have its weight in driving a plenty of them out of the ranks. Such an extreme measure has never been attempted before, and it will not work in this case. People have long since ceased to think because a few self-delegated individuals shall foist a candidate on a ticket that the candidate becomes a paragon in politics, and they are honor bound to support him. We shall feel no regrets if this brazen assumption shall be severely rebuked.

There are Democrats, and a plenty of them who have loyally supported the Democratic party for long years before Governor Kitchin, or his partizan was born, and they do not indulge any conceit when they express the opinion that they know how to vote. These men will not permit any partizan sympathizers to ram down their throats any portion of a ticket that they do not feel disposed to swallow. Tyranny in any form is repugnant to a true American, and the idea of making a condition that a Democrat must swallow the whole hog, or none, hair, hide, and tail, will not go with a large number of Democrats. They have always assumed the right to discriminate against those who have been foisted upon the party, for partizan purposes, those they did not approve of, they will continue to do so, or stay home on election day.

We might think more of Mr. Kitchin's candidacy, if it was not for the very unfair way in which he and his friends have conducted it. Never since our first knowledge of Democratic politics have we known a canvas for the support for an office to have been conducted upon such a low, and dishonorable scale as has Mr. Kitchin. Things have been said, and facts perverted for untrue and unfair purposes to defeat Mr. Simmons, that should shame a camp of followers of Bleas of South Carolina. Mr. Kitchin is not blood thirsty, but some one who knows, should tell us if he has not prostituted every power and influence at the command of the Governor of North Carolina to make of his office a star chamber to a seat in the United States Senate. Mr. Kitchin may win the office through this method, but he can not win our confidence, or respect through it.

Uncle Sam wants 5,000 more men for the army, and in order to get them he is billing every enlisting station and a great many post offices with flaring and attractive advertisement, "men wanted," men would not be so averse to joining the army if it were not for so many discouraging reports that come from the army post. Men who have claims to be gentlemen, do not relish the idea of being kicked around by petty officers, or made cleaners of spittoons, and other filthy vessels.

If Mr. Kitchin was all his partizan friends paint him he would be a great man, but he is not, and all of the carefully studied effort at deception in which the people may be duped, especially if he is nominated to the Senate would make him great. It is a notorious fact that in Mr. Kitchin's twenty years of official life, he has never made a record for anything but to draw his salary, and pave the way for another term in office, and he is as smooth a politician as ever gum shoeed it over a district.

As Children Play

"Did I ever tell you," asks Ervin Nelson, "how my youngest boy baptized his cat? No! It was like this: "Walter's playmate was the son of a Baptist preacher. The 'kid' had seen a few baptizing exercises and was anxious to imitate them. So the children caught the family cat and endeavored to practice the deep-sea method of immersion with the aid of a washtub. The cat couldn't have been sincere in her desire to lead a better life—she scratched and squealed until the boys had to let her go. Then the boy next door hollered:

"Dog-gone you! Go on and be an Episcopal cat, if you want to!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Little Grave.

Keep green, dear God, a grave that lies
Beneath the wide and starry skies.
Keep sweet with sleep and give him rest

Whose hands are folded on his breast
While dreamless slumber fills his eyes.
Keep still, O Lord, our hearts that beat
With hunger for his soft child feet.

With quiet song let springtime stray
Above him, and the violets lay
Their velvet lips on his so sweet.

Keep fresh the trailing vines that grow
Where we have laid our dear one low;
And teach us, rather, through his dust
The upward looking and the trust

That know they should not ask to know.
Keep bright, dear God, the smile he wore,
The rosebud that his soft hand bore;
And teach us, oh, beyond all this
Waits in eternal dream, the bliss
Of clasping those we love once more!
