BRIEFS

PEOPLE WHO COME AND GO.

ITEMS OF INTEREST GATHERED BY OUR REPORTER.

Mr. Charles Harris is visiting his brother-in-law at Concord.

Miss Annie Ferguson left last week for Darville.

Mrs. W. C. Clark spent Monday in Burlington with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sykes of Spencer spent Sunday here with relatives.

Miss Blanch Bradley and Mr. Claud Sykes spent Sunday out in the country.

Miss Alice Bowlin of Burlington spent last week with Mrs. T. B. Pettigrew.

Mrs. J. W. Bradley of Burlington spent a few days in Mebane with friends.

Mr. West Warren spent a few days at home from Pages Mill S. C. the past week.

Misses Vallie and Grace Cheek of Burlington spent last week with Miss Sadie Clark.

Mrs. J. D. Hunt and three children left Friday for Virginia to visit friends and relatives.

Mr. Marcus Ham of Morvin was in Mebane visiting his brother Mr. W. E. Ham Thursday.

Mrs. J. W. Hudson left last week for Pages Mill S. C. to spend some time with her husband.

After spending a month at Black Mountain, Mr. Paisley Nelson is back home again much improved.

Miss Virginia Clark left for Durham Sunday afternoon where she will make her future home with her mother.

Miss Ruby Mitchell of Yanceyville, and Mrs. Cattie Taylor of near Roxboro are visiting Mrs. James.

Mr. John B. Grant and wife of Atlanta, Ga., are visiting his brother Mr. C. R. Grant on fifth street.

Mr. Walter Malone was here from Pages Mill S. C. Sunday, and went out in Caswell to see Mrs. Malone.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Clark and little son, William, of Richmond, Va., spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Clark.

Para silk ties, the best possible value, in all colors, and effects. Nothing better than one four in hand. Mebane Supply Company.

Mrs. J. S. Warren left Friday for Pages Mill S. C. to spend two weeks with her husband who is at that place in the tobacco business.

Mr. W. E. Ham made a brief trip to Goldsboro the past week accompanied by his brother Marcus, who was here on a visit from Morvin.

Mr. Walter Hunt of Greton, Va., spent a few days last week with his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hunt.

See change of advertisement of H. E. Williamson Co. in this evening's Leader. They particular direct your attention to their superior hosiery. See ad.

Mrs. A. M. Cook, Miss Sadie Cook, Helen Warren and Dorsie King were driven out to Pearson county to see friends in an automobile by Mr. Ed King Friday morning.

Ed Robinson (colored) was arrested near Back Creek one day last week, by Mr. A. P. Long as an escaped convict. Mr. Long was assisted by Mr. Jim Shaw in making the arrest.

A beautiful line of four in hand gentlemen ties including the latest shades and colors, and the Bulgarian effects. Something stylish and catchy. See our line, Mebane Supply Company.

Mr. Frank Marable of Austin Texas came in Saturday morning to visit his uncle and family, Dr. J. D. Huffman. Mr. Marable left the East when quite a young man, and made good in the West.

How to rid Mebane of vagrancy? is a question, but it ought not to be any trouble for the town Commissioners to answer it. If they feel that they should not act under a State law, it will be the slightest trouble to enact an ordinance that will fully, and completely cover the bill.

Road Building in Orange County.

The Good Roads Commissioners made a contract a short while past with Dabney-Nottingham and company for the construction of a highway between Hillsboro and the Alamance county line. The work to be completed in two hundred working days.

Mr. T. L. Scrubs is building a road to the Durham county line to be completed by the first of the year. The commissioners have also closed with N. L. Teer of Durham to use his teams and general supervision in the construction of a road from Chapel Hill to the Alamance line.

Barrel Workers

Where are all the Barrel Workers? How are the ladies who promised to work for the church, going to do it when they don't come to the meeting nor own a barrel to work at home.

New Flour Mill Machinery

Mr. Ralph Vincent has received and is installing machinery for a forty barrel flour mill. Mr. Vincent's mill was destroyed by fire some time last winter, after he had a very successful run for some time.

Barrel Workers

Be sure to answer present at the home of Mrs. Will Cheek's next Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock as we have something good to tell you in which all the ladies will be interested.

A Call Meeting

There will be a call meeting of Bingham Lodge A. F. M. Saturday August 2 for work instruction, a large attendance desired
J. S. Cheek, W. S. Harris, Sec. W. M.

A Fine Crop of Tobacco.

From general reports it is believed that the farmers of North Carolina have the best crops of tobacco this season known in the State for years. That in the Eastern portion of the State is ripening fine, and that in central North Carolina is growing to a splendid stalk. If no untoward condition happens we shall have a fine crop of tobacco.

Warehouse Completed

Our Greensboro friends have completed their brick warehouse for the sale of leaf tobacco. It is 80 feet wide by 175 long, a near by building contains six rooms for the accommodation of patrons of the warehouse. We learn that they are already receiving tobacco at the warehouse.

Threatened His Life.

Charlie Pettiford colored who bore evidence against Sid Evans in the case when Evans was charged with the illicit selling of whiskey, was shot at while on duty as a watchman at the White Furniture Co. Sunday night. It is alleged that since Pettiford gave his testimony, that both Sid and Joe Evans have threatened his life.

Raise Honey

Mr. L. T. Johnston has all ready gathered 750 lbs of honey of his own home raising. Finding more than he needed for his retail trade he has shipped away a portion of it at 16-23 cents per pound. The honey business ought to promise good results in this section. There is an abundance of clover blossoms. Try a few hives, the results will be gratifying.

Would Be Glad of Help.

Some time ago when a mass meeting was held in Mebane to determine a number of questions then pertinent before the people, the matter of prosecuting the sellers of illicit whiskey, Mayor Shaw remarked that the town did not have the money for prosecuting these cases. Some gentleman said go ahead they would assist in the work. Mr. Shaw says he is without money now and would be glad of help.

Elicit Whiskey Selling

Sid Evans colored was arrested Friday charged with the illicit selling of whiskey. The evidence seemed pretty conclusive, but Sid said it was all a mistake, but some how, or other the Mayor thought differently, and asked a bond of Sid. Sid readily gave cash security, as it seemed that Sid had been doing a land office business in finance, having quite a respectable sum in the bank to his credit. Sid will find money mighty handy when he gets to monkeying with the court at Graham.

Ice-Cream Supper

The ladies of the Presbyterian church led by Mrs. Ralph Vincents Club will give an ice cream supper on the Leader square Friday night Aug 1

BOOZE PLANT DESTROYED.

Revenue officer Vincent, assisted by Sheriff Cook and Deputy Sheriff Story made a big haul Saturday capturing one of the largest bootlegging outfits that has been taken in this county in many years.

The outfit was found on the lands of Mr. H. M. Holt, a prominent farmer and citizen some four miles south of Burlington on the road leading to Belmont Cotton Mills and was a 200-gallon capacity outfit. A thousand gallons of beer was destroyed, but only six gallons of the "real article" was found.

Mr. Holt was arrested and was given a preliminary hearing Monday, but it is not known what evidence the State and Federal Government have against him.

DR. JOHN MCPHERSON

Choose A Suicide Grave.

Died from his own hand early Monday morning, or some time Sunday night at the home of his parents, at Liberty about fifteen miles from Burlington, Dr. John H. McPherson in the fortieth year of his age of New River.

Dr. McPherson had a short while past suffered from a serious domestic misfortune, his wife had left him, as to causes sufficient, or insufficient, it does not concern the world, the fact develops that it was of sufficient torture to Dr. McPherson's mind to drive him to a suicide grave.

He had gone to his fathers home to participate with them in a family reunion, it was there he was vividly reminded of the fact that for him there was no reunion, that his mate was gone and his heart was desolate. If it was a reawakening of sensibilities, it was none the less poignant, that he gave his life to ease his suffering, is the one awful fact that can not be doubted.

No one was near in that fateful moment, no one heard him say that he dreaded the dark cold tide that was plashing around his feet, no one heard him soliloquize as he stood face to face with eternity, that in that sleep of death what dreams may come, which cut the deeper, the pangs of despised love, or the slighted, and trampled upon opportunities.

He lifted his hand and with the keen edge of a razor, he severed the main artery that feeds the brain with the crimson tide of life, and the red stream gushed out and wasted away, leaving a poor frail helpless body of clay God had not required this of him, but in reckless haste he had washed his soul, naked and unprepared into the judgment seat. Let us look with pity upon this pathetic picture.

A Near Riot.

It seems that Winston had a near riot last Friday when the Snipes boys undertook, and for a time did run things. They had a fight with a couple of fellows and getting the worst of it, went home and got their whistles, and marched through the streets unmolested, breathing threats of a most serious character. The way the police handled the matter gave offense to the citizens, and there was a pronounced protest, Chief Thomas and some of his subordinates were temporarily suspended. People of Greensboro who have much to do with police work, and who can peep over in Winston's back yard, believes the whole thing and many other things of a like character, due to too much politics.

The arrest of a man with a strong political pull in Winston is said to be all most the impossible thing. They grow up with a contempt for law, and act with the same indifference. It is charged and seemingly correctly that Winston is dominated by pulls, and no city can reasonably hope for a decent municipal government as long as such is the case.

When your rich and powerful citizens can dare your highest officials to lay their unhallowed hand upon some treasured privilege under threat of decapitation, and that dare is respected by the weak and servile, then you have a city government worth watching for whether you see it, or not, in mischief is brooding in the basement, at some ones cost. You had better prepare to clean out the kitchen for there is going to be trouble.

Driver Burlington Auto Injures Himself at Mr. J. W. Cates

A serious automobile wreck occurred Tuesday morning midway between Elon College and Gibsonville, on the Greensboro road, in which four men were hurt, two of them seriously.

Albert Kernode was driving the car in which were O. F. Crowson, editor of The Burlington News, W. H. Carroll, lawyer and J. W. Cates, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Kernode attempted to pass another car that was making 30 miles an hour. In attempting to avoid the other machine he lost control of his own and seems to have lost his head, too. He left the road, running over bushes, stumps and gullies, and finally fetched up against a tree which wrecked the machine and threw all the occupants to the ground.

Messrs. Crowson and Carroll escaped almost unhurt, but Messrs. Cates and Kernode are badly injured. They were brought to their homes where they are under the care of physicians.

Rept. S. Arthur White, P. M. Mebane, N. C.

Efland Items

Mrs. O. L. Baity and little son Orin Lockett of Winston-Salem are visiting Mr. Baity's parents Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Baity.

Miss Ida Pittard of Cedar Grove spent Saturday and Sunday with her friend Miss Annie Jordan.

Mr. Gene McCadams of Weldon is spending sometime with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Cole McCadams.

Misses Alene and Nellie Perry of Orange Grove are visiting the Misses Murrays and attending the protracted meeting at the M. P. Church.

Misses Irene Williams, Reber Reeves and Lilly Thompson also Halcott Williams and Paul Reeves of Cross Roads neighborhood were Efland visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Smith and baby girl of Greensboro visited relatives near Efland Sunday.

Miss Pearl Tapp has gone to Chatham to spend a few weeks with her grandmother Mrs. Thompson.

Misses Alice and Mamie Lashley of Durham are visiting Miss Mattie Stanford.

Mrs. Roy Thompson and children of Mebane are visiting Mrs. George Thompson.

T. R. Fitzpatrick who has been confined to his room with rheumatism for several weeks is able to be up again.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Thompson and little daughter Georgia visited Mrs. Thompson's sister Miss Jennie Bacon near New Sham last week.

Mrs. Sallie Efland on the sick list this week also Miss Audrie Jones, we hope they soon recover.

Miss Sadie Pratt who has been seriously ill so many weeks is getting better now. Her friends will be glad to see her well.

Mrs. Joe Thompson and children who have been visiting her mother Mrs. Sharp at Madison has returned.

The protracted meeting commenced at the M. P. Church in Efland Sunday, Revs. Stubbins and Hutton are conducting the meeting.

Ask Annie Jordan, Ida Pittard and Lettie Thompson about the snake, horse and buggy and big mud hole last Saturday.

What has become of all the old writers? We are anxious for their return guess they are like me melted, oh this hot weather is just awful. "Pat."

Better the Streets

Our streets are in good conditions now, but this is no reason for believing that they will remain so during the wet weather of winter. Would it not be a part of wisdom to arrange to put on a few car loads of coal cinders, or something that will help in preserving the better condition of the streets during winter when there is so much leaf tobacco to be hauled over them.

He Stuck to the Job

It is pointed out that the reason District Attorney Holton is not ousted is because there are one or two very important cases on tap that the department of justice want's him to attend to. This moves some one to remark that if it takes him as long to wind them up as it did in the Breese case he will be in office a long time. But, like a turtle, he never turned loose in the Breese case. Not one man in a thousand would have stuck to the job until he landed him.—Greensboro Record.

May be they did in the Breese case, but they broke his hold in the Williams case. Judge Boyd said he ought to do, and then Judge Blynum agree with him, then it was done.

The Merry Rompers Go "Romping" at Bonnett's Pond.

Bonnetts Pond, July 22nd 1913

The beautiful pond located lake, known as Bonnett's Pond and for years famed as a scene of much society activity and the end of the pleasure seekers journey, continued during the past week in good form to play its role in the life of the gay world through the agency of the Merry Rompers. This social organization of only a few years existence originated in South Boston, Va., in the home of the Mebanes.

Those present for the weeks festivities were: Misses Mary Bell and Fannie Bell, Chase City; Maude Mebane, Myrtle Mebane, and Mrs. A. M. Moody, (Chapman) South Boston; Annie Hurdle, Union Ridge; Helen Pickard and Lucile Pickard, Greensboro; Katie McIntosh, Richmond, Va.; Messrs. Chas. Daniel, B. F. Mebane, F. H. Mebane, Robt. Fawkes and W. W. Bollow, South Boston; A. N. Scott and Dr. J. H. Hurdle, Mebane; Johnette Burks, Bedford City; Stafford Patterson, Danville, Va.; Henry Bell, Chase City, and Arthur Gentry. Those present as visitors were Misses Lee Fowkes and Virginia DeJette, South Boston; Eva Aiken, Greensboro, Mildred Conally, Leasburg, Messers Clifton Sutton and Rossler Clarke, Greensboro; Frank Harelsson and D. J. Walker, Union Ridge; R. Cheek, Roxboro; George Norwood, South Boston; Wash Reed and Dr. Reed.

These merry rompers with the experienced and popular Mrs. A. M. Moody of South Boston as chaperon arrived at the pond on July 15th, from time dates the romping which continued until July 22nd. With a full moon and fair weather the god of pleasure had done his best and nothing else was needed to heap to overflowing the full measure of happiness that bubbled from the face of every one present. There were lilies to gather in the mornings and boats for the evening moonlight and shady nooks for cupid and winged arrows and cars for joy rides to Roxboro and other places. These and good music for dancing at any hour in the day added to the unbounded hospitality and congeniality which permeated the atmosphere every where were some of the things which enabled the Merry Rompers to make this seasons Romping the loudest and the happiest in the history of Bonnett's Pond.

Patronize Home Institution.

Get your job work done at your home job office. It does work well, strives to please you, and is always here to make things right, and as a rule the work does not cost you as much as it does elsewhere, besides you can see your proof if you wish, and know what you are getting. You want people to support home industries, patronize home stores, then why not you patronize home institutions? It is the best principle to inculcate all around, it made Atlanta famous, it will help every town that adopts it.

DRIFTING FROM GOD.

The Niagara of life is scene of many heart tragedies. "Only two weeks ago two boys playing in a boat on Niagara River found themselves adrift, the rope having broken," says Rev. E. A. Culter. "Soon they were being rapidly carried to the whirlpool rapids, while hundreds on the shore were powerless to rescue. A part of the river called Swift Drift hurried them on to their fate. They were capsized and engulfed in the raging torrent, and while later two lifeless bodies were the gruesome relics of the terrible catastrophe.

THE STORM

J. C. Ripple's Tobacco crop Total Loss.

The storm that swept Davidson Co., Saturday and Sunday afternoon did thousands of dollars damage. Several barns were burned, horses, mules and cows were killed and damage done to growing crops that cannot be estimated in dollars and cents. Mr. Louis F. Weaver's fine barn was struck by lightning Sunday afternoon. One of his mules was killed and good work by members of the family saved the other stock. The barn was struck right at the worst of the storm and this undoubtedly saved the corn cribs and machinery nearby. They caught on fire repeatedly but the heavy rainfall quenched the flames. Mr. Weaver's loss was about $1,500, with no insurance. The barn cost more than $1,000 to build and the mule was a very valuable one. Last week he threshed his wheat and oats and the straw was in the barn. Seventy five bushels of oats in the barn and a costly feed cutter were destroyed.—Lexington Dispatch.

DR. ORR'S SERIES OF 4 SERMONS ON "THE SPIRIT OF CHRIST."

ROM. 8:9

"If Any Man Have Not The Spirit of Christ, He is None of His."

That which makes one a Christian is the positive, definite reception of the living Christ. If we have Christ in our hearts He will manifest His spirit in our lives.

1 To please the Father always, Jno. 8:29. To do God's will was Christ's object in coming into the world, and doing the will of the Father was His daily work, His meat and drink. He did His work to please God, not to be seen of men or merely for results even.

2 Humility, Jno. 13:4,5. Christ first humbled Himself; therefore other could not humble Him, for His humility reached the greatest possible depths by His own decision. Their attempts to do so, therefore, proved only to be persecution, hence to add to His glory and blessedness. This is true of all who are really humble, mock humility counts nothing.

3 Endurance, Heb. 12:3. To endure, to bear with, made possible the extension of Divine mercy to man. The same spirit must, characterize those who would help their fellows when circumstances are adverse, surroundings discouraging, and the future promises little or no success.

4 Grief over hardness of the human heart Luke 19:41. This was not sympathy, merely; it was real heartache on account of human sin. When He thought of Jerusalem's wicked record, and her refusal to receive God's Messiah Christ wept. In His lonely night-watches of prayer, in the garden and elsewhere Christ manifested His grief for human sin. Those who love God and others must heartily feel real grief for that others sin before it is possible to appear real help.

5 Prayerfulness, Mark 6:46. Over and over the record speaks of Christ's praying. He needed to pray; He needed to commune with the Father; He needed heavenly aid and comfort. He not only prayed for Himself, but for others, and not only for His friends but for His enemies. We are commanded to pray, not only for ourselves, but for and with others. For prayer is touching God in a way to influence Him to grant our desires as well as to put us in the correct attitude to receive Divine gifts.

6 Forgiveness, Luke 23:24. In this we have the very heart of Christ, of God, without this spirit God would never have offered salvation, and Christ would never have come to work it out, and the Holy Ghost would not knock at our hearts, pleading to be allowed to apply to us the redemption purchased by Christ.

Christ was subjected to the greatest indignities; yet He said, "Father forgive them." We can and must forgive if we expect to be forgiven, and none of us have as much to forgive as Christ had.

7 Resignation, Luke 22:42. This is quite different from submitting. We submit because we can't help it; we become resigned of our own free will. A nurse usually goes with submitting; safety, ease of mind, and favorable results follow resigning. Two men are approached by an officer; one says he will go willingly, he is resigned, and his case will not go so hard with him, the other refuses, and is hit on the head with the officers club, he submits, and his case will go hard with him in addition to his having a sore head. We must be resigned to God's providences, not merely submit to the inevitable.

8 Self denial, Rom. 15:23. If Christ had not denied Himself of heaven, of comfort, ease, pleasure and exaltation in this life He would never have been the Savior of the world. If we do not deny ourselves of many pleasures, opinions and selfish efforts we can never uplift our fellowman. Church unity can come only as the result of self denial, for churches must give up many non-essentials if they join hands and lives with other churches differing from them.

9 Unity, Jno. 17:21. Christ claimed to be one with the Father. His life proved his claims true. We must be united with Him in God; but we must be united among ourselves.

10 Industry, Jno. 9:5. Christ was never idle. He worked God's works unceasingly. There is no such thing as a lazy Christian, God has no place in His kingdom for one who will not work for his own improvement, the uplift of others and the glory of God.

11 Zeal, Jno. 2:17. To work in a half-hearted manner accomplishes very little. Zeal suggests that the work is not very important, and so discourages others; we should put our whole soul into the work.

12 Love, Jno. 13:34. All that is really worth while is born of love. God so loved the world that He sent His son to die. Christ so loved us that He came, The Holy Spirit so loves us that

He knocks at our hearts door. Mothers love let them suffer for their children. Father's love causes them to stand by friend. But as God loved His enemies, so must we.

13 To attend church, Luke 4:16. It was Christ's custom to go into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day. David said, "I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go up to the house of the Lord." The church is the place where God meets His people in a special manner. Those who fail to attend church regularly also fail to count for much as Christians, generally.

14 To seek and save the lost, Luke 19:10. Christ not only saved those who came to Him for salvation, but He sought the lost. We must do good not only to those who seek help at our hands, but to those who make no appeal, we must seek opportunities for doing good.

15 Sympathy, Jno. 11:35. Christ had great sympathy for all who needed it, and He manifested it to those He came in contact with, we must let others know that we sympathize with them. Do not take it for granted that because we and they are friends or acquaintances that they know of our sympathy, express your sympathy privately and heartily, but do not be ashamed to manifest it publicly if occasion demands. It will help others.

But Who Pays It

The state of Texas has just secured a round half-million dollars from the Standard Oil company as a penalty for violation of the anti-trust laws of that commonwealth. The Texas school fund is to be fattened with this oleaginous cash, a most commendable turn of events. But if the Texans believe that they are to be the gainers they have, in the language of the street, "another guess coming." Too often has the octopus been squeezed thus not to have invented a "comeback." In a few days—or weeks at the utmost—the price of oil will be boosted a cent or two on every gallon; a little while and another cent or two will be added, and this process will be kept up till that $500,000 and $100,000 more has been taken from the public and returned to the coffers of the corrompt combine.

There is no way of preventing this, but there is a way of punishing these lawbreakers without making the public pay for their crime. That way is to impose long jail sentences and compel the convicted ones to serve every day of them. So brazen a gang as that which directs and controls the oil trust deserves no mercy, nor even consideration.

The legislature of Pennsylvania at its recent session imposed a tax of 2 1/2 per cent on every ton of anthracite coal mined in that state. At once the coal companies added that amount—about 5 cents a ton—to the prices at the mines. The retailers, not satisfied with merely "breaking even," clapped a ten-cent advance on to the price to the consumer. So that the man who is least able to stand the extortion is the one who is hit the hardest.

A striped suit and a few years of prison fare would go far toward deterring would-be emulators of these harpies, and certainly the men who "pays last" would be greatly joyed by the spectacle.—Nashville Tennessean.

"The Blow Has Fell."

In the language of the classics, "The blow has fell." E. J. Justice has formally announced that he will be a candidate against Senator Overman. Former Governor Glenn has as good as announced himself also. We can see it sticking out right now—that election is going to be a repetition of one other election that was held in this state last year.—Charlotte Chronicle.
