Who is it that does not admire high class jewelry, jewelry whose intrinsic merit bespeaks its value. There are so many persons to whom a present of some jewelry would be appropriate, would a suitable and an acceptable gift. It would be difficult if not impossible to find a place to make a purchase that would come nearer pleasing you than at Snider-Wilcox-Fletcher and Co. Durham.

A Watermelon Feast

Through the courtesy of Mr. W. E. Ham a number of his friends enjoyed a water mello feast Tuesday afternoon. The mello weighed 5 1/2 and had been cooling in a refrigerator for more than 24 hours. It was a splendid mello, sweet and firm. The Editor of the Leader is indebted to Mr. Ham for the pleasure of participating in the luxury.

A Lumber Point.

Mebane is getting to be much of a lumber distributing point, and it is all a very superior quality of lumber. Some of the lumber brought here from the country is shipped to Scotland, some to Germany and some to England. The cedar wood industry is also an important item. It is sawed up here in large quantities, to make chests for keeping bed covering in.

In order to meet every possible contingency, and to exhibit the best of intentions. The Piedmont Company is instituting a subsidiary plant to especially take care of the Mebane Bedding Co., power business until they can bring and install their full power and plant here.

Might Get Shot

It seems that after all Policeman Long had some trouble in getting rid of the merry-go-around man. He had found Mebane such a sweet and juicy town Mr. Gibbs was not inclined to leave in accordance with the wishes of the officials. Mr. Long went to him Monday and told him it was desired that he remove his hobby-horse machinery, and not operate it Monday night, Gibbs insisted that he should do so, threatening the town with a suit in the event it sought to prevent him, and telling Mr. Long he expected to run that night regardless of the consequence, warning Mr. Long that he had better be careful in attempting to stop him, and if he came on his premises he might get shot. Mr. Long had just the mettle in him to meet such an emergency, and it was not long before Mr. Gibbs was willing to pull down his merry-go-around and seek another section.

The people of Mebane feel very grateful over the riddance of the thing. They had gotten more than enough in the merry-go-around business.

We learn that Post-Master Dick will continue in his employment Mr. Sam Thompson, and Miss Maud Holt. They are both excellent people and have given very satisfactory service in the Mebane Post Office.

That Merry Go-Around

The managers of the merry-go-around who has been giving nightly entertainments, Sundays excepted, in Mebane for the past three weeks packed up their ponies and other belongings Monday, and left Tuesday. There were a number of people who thought the merry-go-around business had been over done in Mebane for the past three weeks, and that the town could well afford to have been spared the noise and racket of its running. Those in the future who have no regard for others feeling, or who think a merry-go-around is next to the kingdom come should be sure to have the next one that comes to Mebane located near their houses, so they may enjoy it to its fullest. Do that, then the merry-go-around will become unpopular at once.

The Record To Date.

This is the 24th of August. Every other day since the beginning of this month, some human being has been hurled into eternity by violence in the state of North Carolina; every other day somebody has received the stamp of Cain. As this editorial is written a Charlotte policeman is hovering between life and death; and perhaps by the time that the paper reaches its readers, his name will have been added to the terrible list.

Here is what a hasty glance over the files of the Daily News for the month of August has revealed, the date in each case being the date of the paper in which the news appeared.

August 1: Robert Berver, white, shot by an officer at Lenoir.

August 2: Will Morton, white, found on a public road near Mount Gilzead, in a dying condition. Skull fractured; assault unknown.

August 3: Deputy Sheriff Robert Bain shot and killed at Pomona, a suburb of Greensboro, by Jim McClure, negro.

August 22: Silas Cogsdell, negro, shot and killed as he was driving through the streets of Goldsboro. Assailant unknown.—Greensboro News.

You had better watch out while prowling around an other house, there is a possibility of it being extremely dangerous.

New Schedule on Norfolk Southern.

Running time to Norfolk shortened—freight cars taken off express trains.

Effective Sunday, August 24th the Norfolk Southern Railroad will put into effect a new schedule for the night passenger trains between Raleigh and Norfolk. The change will shorten the running time between the two points approximately forty-five minutes. The most important feature of the new schedule will be that the train leaving Norfolk at 9:00 o'clock at night and also train leaving Raleigh at 9:30 p. m. for Norfolk will not have any freight cars in their make-up as has been the case heretofore.

The night train from Norfolk will arrive 6:30 a. m. instead of 7:15 a. m. Passenger will be allowed to remain in sleeper until 7:30 a. m. so they will not be inconvenienced.

The night train to Norfolk will leave Raleigh at 9:30 instead of 9:00 o'clock as at present. The day train will arrive Raleigh at 7:45 p. m.

The Railway officials consider the elimination of the freight cars from the night express the most important part of the improved schedule. Beginning Sunday also the day trains between Raleigh and Norfolk will make a dinner stop of fifteen minutes at Edenton instead of stopping only ten minutes there as now. As restaurant is close to the station passengers will be enabled to enjoy a midday meal where now they have only time to snatch a sandwich.

World's Tallest Building

A skyscraper whose topmost tower will rise 901 feet above the curb is planned by the Pan-American State Association of New York. Unless plans miscarry, it will be built in that city, constructed wholly of materials from the Latin-American republics, will wrest from the Woolworth building the distinction of being the world's tallest habitable structure and will be ready for occupancy with the opening of the Panama-Pacific Exposition in California in 1915.

Such at least are the tentative plans of the promoters. Plans and specifications for the structure have been drafted and will be given to a building committee of the association Tuesday for review and acceptance. Francis H. Kimball, designers of notable downtown skyscrapers, made the plans. The estimated cost of the structure is $9,000,000. The site has not yet been selected. It is intended to erect the building as an enduring monument to Pan-American industry.

The Woolworth building, now the tallest in the world, is 750 feet high; the Metropolitan, its nearest rival, 700 feet

HARRY K. THAW IS TO BE DEPORTED

Will Be Sent Back to Vermont

Harry K. Thaw this week will be deported from Canada Wednesday afternoon or Thursday according to information obtained from an official of the Dominion immigration department. "He will be taken across the border into the state of Vermont. Instructions to such effect have already been sent to the immigration agents of Sherbrooke," said the official. "They are David Reynolds and T. B. Whittan. Thaw is not to be discriminated against. He is to be treated just as hundreds of undesirable in the past have been handled by the immigration authorities.

"There will be no ceremony attached to his deportation. He will be taken back over the border and into Vermont by the railroad that brought him into Canada. The law provides that the railroad shall transport him. It has done so in other cases and the authorities see no reason to make an exception in the case of Thaw. He can pay the railroad if he wants to but he does not have to. The New York authorities asked Canada for Thaw. They apparently understand that he will be sent to Vermont and the question will then be put up to New York and Vermont.

Thaw is exceedingly interested in the movements of his wife, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. He asked the reporter about her latest movements and where she was living, but showed no interest in her little son, Russel. The prisoner denied having sent his wife a telegram in which she was warned to take her name off the sign of the theatre in which she is playing.

In his quarters at the jail Thaw has the constant service of a stenographer to whom he dictates for several hours daily. His lawyers refuse to discuss his conflicting orders to them, contending themselves by saying that "he is of great assistance to us."

Their number was increased to six by the arrival of Attorney Harry Hirschberg, of Newburg, N. Y. The five other lawyers are Canadians and all were selected on the advice of Geo. L. McLeish, a friend of the Thaw family, with particular reference to their political affiliation.

Cocaine Negroes

The latest shooting of a Charlotte policeman bears further witness to the danger in which officers of the law continually live at the hands of bad negroes and to the well-grounded nature of their apprehensions concerning the cocaine. In this case the officer fell into a virtual ambush. It only remains to urge strict enforcement of the stringent anti-cocaine legislation now on the statute-books at the State.—Charlotte Observer.

THE GREAT STATE FARM

Has 7300 Acres in It—Six Thousand Acres in Cultivation—Will Make 100,000 Bushels of Corn.

Mr. H. B. Varner, Chairman of the state prison board, made inspection of the state's farm in Halifax county last week, and he was very much pleased with what he saw. He said this farm contains 7300 acres and that it is probably the finest farm in North Carolina. There are something like 6,000 acres in cultivation. There are nine miles of dikes on the farm, seven and a half miles on the Roanoke river. These dikes are built to prevent the river from overflowing and destroying the crops on the farm. They are 100 feet at the base and about 20 feet on top, from 30 to 40 feet high. Sometimes the rains become so heavy and the river gets so high that it breaks through the dikes. When it does, the crops are destroyed.

Capt. C. N. Christian, a native of Stokes county, and Capt. Rham, of eastern North Carolina, are in charge of this farm. They are most excellent farmers and they say that the prospects this are the finest they have ever seen. They have 2400 acres in corn, which will produce 100,000 bushels; they have 1800 acres in cotton, which will produce a bale to the acre; 350 acres in peanuts, which will produce from 40 to 50 bushels to the acre; and 400 acres of cow peas and soja beans.

There are on the farm 200 head of cattle; 3000 hogs, 240 horses and mules; 1000 chickens, 150 turkeys, and about 2500 pigeons.

There are 450 convicts doing the work on the farm. Of course, it takes a considerable number of guards and overseers to look after these convicts. It is a little world all to itself and is a very interesting place to visit. No North Carolinian would regret spending the time and money sufficient to visit this wonderful farm and see these wonderful products.

A Rainless Shore.

(From The Providence Journal.)

For 2,000 miles of coast, as more Americans than are at present informed will doubtless discover as soon as the Panama Canal develops more neighborliness between the North Atlantic and the South Pacific, one need not carry an umbrella except to keep off the sun. In Peru, on the sea side of the Andes, they build out of mud what seems to be magnificent marble palaces, and clapboard effects are popular also, though wood is worth its weight in gold. Stucco, a paint brush and a lively fancy serve for this stagey decoration, but there is not even a pretense of cultivating lawns, though that might be indulged, too, with the help of a pot of green paint. Rain enough would not fall in a generation to wash the green off the front yard, or the patio.

That stretch of coast is one of the most remarkable of all nature's demonstrations of waterless desolation. It is an elongated Sahara. From Coquimbo, one-third of the length of Chile below the Peruvian border, to Quayaquil in Ecuador vegetation is unknown. An agreeable effect is to relieve the equatorial heat along the coast and the slope of the Andes of humidity.

WHAT FAMOUS SIEGES COST.

Reduction of Fortified Places Stubbornly Defended, Means Fearful Loss of Human Life.

No details are yet available of the losses incurred in the reduction of Adrianople by the Balkan nations, but they are bound to be enormous. The capture of Port Arthur cost Japan 34,000 wounded and 58,000 dead. In the France-German war the loss of the besiegers was very small in all cases. But that was because the French garrison surrendered quickly, or where the French held the Germans did not attempt an assault. Strasburg was taken with a loss of 866 men. Belfort cost the Germans 2,100 men. At Paris Metz, and the other places the loss was insignificant.

In 1877 the Russians besieged two fortified places held by the Turkish troops. Kars was carried by a surprise night attack, at which the Russians lost 2,3000 men. Plevna showed a very different result. Here the Russians carried out three assaults, all of which failed, and their total loss in killed and wounded amounted to the immense number of 27,700 officers and men, or nearly one-third of the besieging army.

The great siege of Sabastopol in 1855 was a desperate affair. It lasted 11 months and in that period the Russians had 84,000 men killed and wounded while the French lost 60,000. In this case, however, the Russians were able to get reinforcements to the end.

At Bonnett's Pond

On the morning of August the 14 as the rays of day were just beginning to light up the sky, a happy crowd of young people of Mebane in a covered wagon, for Bonnett's Pond, forty miles away. The young men of the town had planned this camping trip, thinking that the camp would not be complete without the girls, they invited the "girlies" to accompany them, chaperoned by Mrs. Jas. Cheek. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Cheek, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Davis, Misses Loretta Swain, Etta Compton, Mary Cooper, Clara Warren, Eula and Deane Graham, and Messrs Silas Compton, Sam and Jack Thompson, Glenn Scott, Sam Satterfield, Frank Warren, Percy Amick, Henry Johnston, and the mascot "Master Tom Holt."

Congeniality prevailed through out the trip. The boys enjoyed the water, as swimming was the favorite sport for them, while boating brought much pleasure to the girls. The weather was ideal, only one little rain during the stay at the pond. The moon-light nights were lovely for a boat ride up the pond. Early in the morning, one could see the boats gliding up the pond to the lily bed which covered about ten acres, and a magnificent sight it was, to see the beautiful lilies and to get the fragrant odor as it was wafted to you, by the wind.

The most important part of the trip was "grub" time, and a funny sight it was, when the whistle sounded for the meals, to see the boys and girls scampering for a place at the table, and may I low that crowd did eat. There was always an abundance of good things on the table, and Henry Johnston said he could just eat those fine biscuits all day long if only Frank Davis would agree to stay by him, and this crowd did not forget to observe, the Sabbath, for it was indeed a noble sight to see them arrayed in their Sunday clothes, marching to the Club House where they had been invited, to gather with two other camping parties, when it was learned that the Mebane camp had Bible quarterlies, and song books, preparing before leaving home to remember and bear in mind, God's great command as it is given in the fourth commandment.

The ten days came to a close only too rapidly, the merry party was reluctant to leave dear old Bonnetts. They resolved to return next year and spend at least two weeks. The crowd reached Mebane Aug. 22nd safe and sound; not a thing had happened on the trip to mar the pleasure of one, may that same crowd live to make many trips to Bonnetts Pond.

A girl.

HARRY K. THAW

The Escaped Convict

"Extradition proceedings in Thaw case are now before court. This department cannot deal with him until court has decided in extradition application.

Mr. Glynn was visibly disappointed when informed that dispatches from Canada announced that Thaw's attorneys were successful in deferring the court hearing until this week, also that Washington dispatches represented the Federal officials as being in doubt respecting the proper steps for them to take.

BRYAN SAYS HE IS HELPLESS.

Without authority to make a formal request in the name of the United States Government for the delivery of Harry K. Thaw by the Canadian authorities. Secretary Bryan responded to Acting Governor Glynn's appeal for assistance in the effort to bring the Matteawan fugitive back into New York by sending the following personal telegram to the British Ambassador, Sir Cecil Arthur Spring-Rice, now at Dublin, New Hampshire:

"We are informed that Harry K. Thaw, who lately escaped from an insane asylum in New York in which he was confined after acquittal of murder on the ground of insanity, is in custody in the Providence of Quebec with a view to his deportation under the Canadian immigration laws. The Department, while not in a position to make a request in the matter, which in its present aspect is not within our extradition treaties, brings it to your notice with a view to such action as the Canadian authorities may find themselves justified in taking."
