W. 8 chains to the beginning, one acre of this tract of land immediately surrounding the store-house of Geo. E. Holt will not be sold, but the balance of said tract will be sold and the purchaser will get an absolute title to 13 acres of said tract.

Plats will be shown at the time of sale showing the two acres of the Second Tract of land covering by the life estate referred to, and the one acre of the Fifth Tract of land which is not to be sold, and interested person can ascertain the facts in regard to said acres of land covered by said life estate and said acre not to be sold, by calling at the offices of Parker and Parker, Attorneys, in the town of Graham, previous to said sale.

All of said real property is either in or near the town of Mebane, and it is all valuable property.

Said property will be sold upon the following terms: One-third of the purchase price to be paid in money down on the day of sale, and the other two-thirds to be secured by bonds in equal instalments at six and twelve months, said bonds carrying interest from day of sale until paid, and title to be reserved until payment of purchase money is complete.

MAUDE HOLT, Administratrix of J. Y. Holt, Deceased. August 18, 1913.

THE NEWLIN HOTEL

Directly in front of where trains stop near the passenger depot Burlington

Offers attractive accommodation and fair to the transient traveling public.

Don't fail to call. M. H. NEWLIN, Prop. Burlington, N. C.

Landed Him.

"In all my life," she said, with a sigh, "I have seen only one man that I would care to marry." "Did he look like me?" he carelessly asked. Then she flung herself into his arms, and wanted to know what secret power men possess that enables them to tell when they are loved.

Can't Comprehend.

Patience is bitter, but its fruit is sweet.—J. J. Rousseau.

Milk and Music.

It is a little known fact that the most delightful music at the present day is produced by playing on milk. The supply of ivory nowadays does not to a great extent meet the demand. Strange as it may sound, skim milk makes a substitute. It is used for making the keyboards of pianos, and in appearance this hardened substance is hardly distinguishable from ivory.

Dreaming to Order.

Dreams can be made to order by our artists, but not by the dreamer. Yet "Fire!" in the ear of a sound sleeper or allow a sudden draft of cold air to play on the back of his neck and he will dream to order, but he can't go to sleep with his mind made up to dream of any certain thing and then actually dream of it. In spite of this fact, books are sold in Europe which tell what one must do in order to dream the lucky number in the lottery.

The "Alleged Gentleman."

This quaint notice was recently posted in a Cardiff club. "If the alleged gentleman who took three brushes from Mr. —'s color box imagines they will paint poultry with out the assistance of the master hand, he is gravely mistaken and therefore may as well return them to their rightful owner."—Fall Mall Gazette

Imagination in Dreamland.

A man who awakes is most prosaic whose mind is commonplace, who is utterly unable to invent a story or write a drama, will asleep have the most astonishing flights of imagination. He imagines a story. He peoples it with players, men, women and animals, and each one of them—even the animals at times—speaks his part as perfectly as if he actually were alive.

Philippine Subterranean River.

A subterranean river in the island of Palawan, one of the Philippines has been explored and surveyed by two officers of the United States coast and geodetic survey, and is described in a report of that service. The river is navigable for a small boat for about two and a half miles from its mouth the tunnel through which it passes widening in places into large chambers containing beautiful stalactites.

Primitive Shaving.

The Harput barber places around his customer's neck a peculiar pad with a semicircular piece cut out of one side, so that it fits partially around the neck under the chin. Water is put into the pan and the barber makes a lather with his hands and rubs it on the customer's face, usually using his hands for this purpose also.

What He Would Do.

A young lady visiting her relations on a farm went out in the yard to watch her young cousin play with a chicken. Watching him for some time she asked him: "Willie, if that chicken were to lay an egg what would you do with it?" He looked up surprised, then said: "Oh, I'd sell it to a museum. That chicken's a rooster."

Photographer's Paste.

A paste which will prove permanent is made of ten parts of arrowroot, one hundred parts of water, one part gelatin, ten parts alcohol. Soak the gelatin in the water, add the arrowroot having been previously mixed with a small quantity of water, and boil four or five minutes. When cool, add the alcohol and a few drops of carbolic acid or oil of cloves.

If

If life had naught but May days,
If skies were always fair,
If all the days were pay days,
And no one knew despair,
If all the shows "got over,"
If all the deals went through,
If bees found naught but clover,
If all the dreams came true.

If all the girls had beauty
And all the men success,
If no one shirked his duty,
If no one knew distress,
If love ran smooth, ever,
If fate were never hard,
If every man's endeavor
Received its due reward.

If in such joyous fashion
All life should move along,
With never evil passion,
And evermore a song,
Such gladsome daily diet
Would cloy, the cynics say,
But we would like to try it
And find out, anyway!

—Berton Braley.

Cynical View of It.

Gladstone once talked with much enthusiasm of James Russell Lowell about the noble conduct of the United States government in providing pensions to the amount of tens of millions of pounds sterling a year for men who had served in the Civil war. "I do not wish to disparage the generosity of my countrymen," was Lowell's reply, "but I may just observe that these persons are voters."

Hadn't His Advantage.

A trio of professional story-tellers were in a cozy corner of the club, spinning yarns. Brown had just told a most unbelievable story, and the other two glanced at each other questioningly. "Well, I assure you, gentlemen," said Brown, "if I hadn't seen it myself I shouldn't have believed it." "Ha—h'm—well," said one of the two doubtful ones, "you must remember old man, that we didn't see it."

Warm Epitaph for Ingersoll.

After his lecture on Robert Burns, on one occasion, the colonel was approached by a Scotchman, who said: "Colonel, the title of your lecture should be 'The Epitaph of Your Tombstone.'" "How is that?" said the orator. "Robert Burns," replied the Scot. —From Clark's "Eminent Lawyers."

Seeking to Improve Telephone.

Because the microphone of a telephone transmitter becomes more sensitive in rarified air, German electricians are trying to make a practical application of the phenomenon.

Church Articles Long Hidden.

A secret chamber was found by workmen while engaged in the bestry of St. Sampson's church, Guernsey, the Channel Islands containing a high altar, candlesticks, and the base of a censer. It is presumed that the articles were hidden at the time of the reformation and have remained there over 300 years.

Sets New Fir Tree Record.

Discovered recently in Snohomish county, Washington, is a 300-foot-high yellow fir which is said to eclipse all previous records of big trees in the northwest.

Hint to Readers.

For writing on the margins of newspapers sent through the mails a man was fined $100 in the federal court. This is an offense many commit through ignorance. Uncle Sam has a school to teach them different, and the tuition comes mighty high.—Portland Oregonian.

Declaration of Independence.

"My dear, I see you are having some clothes made for your poodle." "Yes; it is the latest fad." "Well, I serve notice right here that I don't button any dogs down the back."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

One Superstition Exploded.

Contrary to general belief, a man does not look for a white horse when he sees a red-haired girl. Instead, he continues to look at the girl until she disappears from view.

Matter of Size.

A Chicago lecturer declares that a girl with "a pink aura" makes the best wife, but that wise young men will avoid the charmer with a green one. Not a long-green aura, however.

Making Good.

Mrs. Justwed—"Does your husband always live up to his promise of his courtship days?" Mrs. Longwed—"Always. In those days he said he wasn't good enough for me, and he's been proving it ever since."

For Political Aspirants.

To all aspirants for political honors we commend the possibilities of paw-paw juice, for which it is asserted that it renders the skin insensible to fire. They will need it before election day. —New York Sun.

There Under Compulsion.

"You ought to be ashamed to spend the best part of your life in jail," said the kind old lady to the prisoner. "Madam," replied the convict, "don't blame me for it. I assure you that I am here against my will."

Water Ferns at Night.

A fern lover says she waters her ferns the last thing at night during the months they are kept on the gallery. Then she gives the earth in the pots plenty of water and also sprinkles the plants themselves. None of the moisture is lost during the night, and the plants thus have a plentiful supply for the following day.

Daily Thought.

How much lies in laughter; the chipperkey, wherewith we decipher the whole man.—Carlyle.

Somewhat Mixed

A member of the legislature was making a speech on a momentous question, and in conclusion, said: "In the words of Daniel Webster, who wrote the dictionary, 'Give me liberty or give me death.'" At this one of his colleagues pulled at his coat and whispered: "Daniel Webster did not write the dictionary—it was Noah." "Noah nothing," replied the speaker, "Noah built the ark."—National Magazine.

Worth Knowing.

If a package of value is to be sent a great distance, it is an excellent idea to provide the box with a cover of unbleached muslin securely sewed in place. If the shelves and floors of closets are wiped with water which is hot with cayenne pepper, insects will be kept away. Borax and alum are good to put into the cracks.

Jap Women Have Few Rights.

Until recent years, when a Japanese wife failed to present her husband with a son he was free to supplant her with a successor more fortunate, and even today the Japanese girl must always address her brother with the prefix "mister." Love-marrriages are still little known in the "Land of the Rising Sun;" wives receive little respect from their husbands, and it is significant of their condition in the present and the past that only recently have they been allowed to exchange visits or to open their mouths in the presence of their husbands or brothers.

American Indians.

When Christopher Columbus arrived at the West Indies on his voyage of discovery in 1492, he felt quite sure he had discovered islands off the coast of India, so he naturally dubbed the natives Indians. Then, as a matter of course, on his arrival at the mainland, he continued to call the aborigines Indians, and the name has clung to the red man ever since.

Idiots and Accidents.

Man who examined a naphtha jug with a match is the same fellow who periodically investigates a supposedly unloaded revolver and kills a couple of people.
