Big Auction Sale

The Mebane Real Estate and Trust company, will offer for sale Saturday May the second, forty residential lots and ten small farms. See their ad in this issue.

It Is Just This Way

May be it does not concern you, but it is a fact nevertheless that those who do not pay their poll tax by May the 1st, will not do any voting in this year's election.

Junior League.

The Mebane Junior League promises to be a fine organization. Each member is to be given a button inscribed with these words, "We work for beauty," and flower seeds are going to be distributed so as every member can raise some flowers and try for the prizes to be given at the end of the season. As stated in last week's Leader the town is divided into seven (7) sections with supervising committees over them. There will be seven (7) first prizes of 50c each, one to a section, seven second prizes of 25c each, one to a section, and to the owners of the three best gardens or plots in each section including the prize winners, the association will entertain at an ice cream supper to be arranged by some of the housekeepers.

It is not too late for any child in Mebane to join and the dues are only 5c a year. These prizes are only offered to members of the Junior League as an incentive to join and impress its purpose. Miss Pauline Nicholson is President.

Electric Light and Power.

All who wish to have the service wires connected to their premises with the least possible delay are requested to mail a postal card to "Piedmont Railway and Electric Co." Mebane, N. C., stating location and name of the parties desiring such service at once and your request will have prompt attention.

Death of Mr. Ernest Long

Mr. Ernest Long, of Hurdles Mill, a brother of our townsmen, Mr. A. P. Long, died of pneumonia Saturday night last, and was buried Sunday evening. Mr. Long leaves a wife and four children.

Flower Show

The Mebane Civic Association beg to announce their intention of having a Flower Show in the fall of this year, principally crysanthemums and dalias. There will be a number of nice prizes given, which will be worth competing for and no effort will be spared in making the Show as attractive and pretty as possible. All those wishing to compete are respectfully urged to get their plants at once, they are expensive and can be obtained from any Florist. The detailed plans for show are not completed as yet, but soon will be, and other articles will appear in the Leader at an early date.

For any information see Mrs. W. A. Murray or Miss Mattie Johnson.

The entire proceeds will go to the work of the Civic League.

—Poll taxes must be paid by May 1, or the delinquents will be disfranchised under the laws of the state.

Coffin By Parcel Post.

A coffin completely lined and sealed was sent from Lufkin to White City, Tex., by parcel post for an infant's burial the size and weight of the casket conformed to the requirements of the Post-Office Department, and the postage amounted to 21 cents.

Receipt For Killing Flies.

One large spoonful of Rat Poison dissolved in water, set out of reach of children, stir up the water every day. It kills flies. They drink and die.

Big Engines; Long Trains

(From The Littleton News Reporter.) One of the Seaboard's 800 series of locomotives passed here a few days ago with 85 freight cars coupled to it. During the night we are informed one of its 900 series passed carrying an even 100 cars, the equal of five freight trains of 25 years ago.

Within the past week one of the largest mail order houses of the country shipped to Raleigh three car loads of its spring and summer catalogues. These are being mailed out to points in all parts of the Raleigh parcel post zone that includes postoffices in this State and portions of Virginia and South Carolina. The mail order house sent a check for $2,800 to the Raleigh postoffice to pay the postage, 8 cents being required for each catalogue mailed. The freight shipment to Raleigh is to save postage, as it amounts to less than half what it would have been if the parcel post mailing had been done in the home city of the mail order house.—Reidsville Review.

The British Medical Journal advances the theory that love sickness is caused by a bacillus as yet undiscovered. May be so, but a fairly effective anti-toxin in the shape of matrimony seems to have been known and generally applied for, lo, these many hundreds of years.

What Profit in Such A Choice?

Senator Lodge, in support of his substitute "war" resolution: "But we must not, to remove Huerta, put ourselves behind Villa, who began life as a hired assassin, and whose pathway has been marked with bloodshed, rapine, plunder and by unnamable crimes."

Said the Associated Press, in telling of the meeting between George C. Carothers, special agent of the State Department, and Villa, at Juarez: "Why," he smiled, as he threw an arm about the broad shoulders of the government representative . . . "Honest," said the rebel general, between mouthfuls.

War must be accompanied by deeds of valor and heroism. Much must be sacrificed upon the altar of country. It may have been a high, patriotic service that Mr. Bryan's envoy to Villa performed upon the occasion of this Juarez lunch. Our opinion has been, however, that the United States has little to gain, and probably much to lose, by the continued attempt to make choice amongst spoil fish. If the deposition or decapitation of Huerta is to mean the exaltation of Villa, then what's the use? What will it profit the people either of this country, or of Mexico, to pick and choose between the man-killers?

Surely Mr. Carothers has misconceived the nature of his mission, if he is under the impression that Washington wishes to make of Villa a guide, councillor and friend. Besides, the matter of taste should find some place, even in war. Most American citizens would infinitely prefer, we think, to be shot at now and then by the snipers of Huerta, if the alternative must be found in being fondled and caressed by the colored Villa person.—Greensboro News.

Behind the President

The masses of the American people are standing squarely behind President Wilson in his determination to punish the Huerta government for the insult heaped upon the Stars and Stripes and hence upon the American people. If it were necessary a million men would rally to the call of the President to go to Mexico and defend the flag but we are not looking for anything half so serious as that. More than likely no larger force will be needed than is already en route to Mexican waters. We imagine that no very large force will be needed to effect quick seizure of Tampico and Vera Cruz, and adjacent territory and to establish an effective blockade of both Mexican coasts. And this is all that Uncle need do. With this done, the rebels, Villa leading, can be depended upon to do the rest to Huerta.—Winston-Salem Journal.

Public's Safety.

Mebane has a great many freight trains to pass through town every day and like most everything in life, they usually come in a bunch and this particular time the railroad crossing in the center of town are very dangerous. One of these days somebody is going to be run over and then what? Within the last six months there have been several near accidents and it does seem reasonable where four tracks run abreast they should be guarded in some way. It also frequently happens when a passenger train pulls in, the freights keep right on shifting, and one never knows just what to do in order to be safe. The Mexican question might rest a little, while we think about Mebane's dangers. "Observer."

Some of the boys are not going to be quite so anxious to volunteer for service in Mexico after reading that United States government has just loaded nearly a thousand coffins on a transport at Galveston for shipment to Tampico and Vera Cruz. Might not this be taken as an intimation of what he has a suspicion there may be just ahead?—Henderson Gold Leaf.

A Cure For Sour Stomach

Mrs. Wm. M. Thompson, of Battle Creek, Mich., writes: "I have been troubled with indigestion, sour stomach and bad breath. After taking two bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets I am well. These tablets are splendid—none better." For sale by Mebane Drug Co.

To Mexico City, Mr. President.

"We are dealing with facts," said President Wilson in his admirable reply to Carranza. Such being the case, let us deal with all the facts, including those which the Administration is disposed to ignore.

One of these facts is that we are actually at war in Mexico. War is a condition, not a definition, and no juggling of words can change the record that has been written in blood and iron at Vera Cruz.

The President reminds Carranza that we are dealing with Huerta in the territory he now controls. The City of Mexico is the capital and centre of that territory. The best way to deal with Huerta is to supplant his authority with the authority of Major-Gen. Leonard Wood. The sooner Gen Wood is in the City of Mexico, where he can begin the administrative work of substituting government for anarchy throughout a distracted country, the better it will be for most of the people of Mexico and for all the people of the United States.

We shall gain nothing by delay, but we may lose much by temporizing. The inevitable is one of the things that must always be accepted. Whether we are to have a long war or a short war may hinge wholly on the quickness and decisiveness with which the Administration acts.

It is apparent that Huerta has no intention of retiring without a fight. He is now testing his case on the hope that all factions can be united against the "foreign invader." Carranza's note proves that such hope is not altogether misplaced. The Administration admits it by restoring the embargo on arms. One thing is certain—the minds of the followers of Carranza, Villa and Zapata are as likely to be impressed by instantaneous action on our part as by diplomatic hesitation while our army marks time. Mexicans who hate us will hate us none the more in the City of Mexico than in Vera Cruz, and their hatred will be far less dangerous.—New York World.

Clean Up The Town.

With summer weather almost upon us and the fly season already here, we as a community find ourselves confronted by a fact and not by a theory. It has been thoroughly demonstrated by scientists that flies bred in horse stables and that they can be prevented from doing so by cleaning out the stables every few days and spreading the manure where it can be reached by an abundance of light and sunshine. That flies are filthy in the extreme, annoying to everybody, and carriers of disease, are facts too well established and understood to require discussion.

Now is the time for the city and the citizens to join hands and begin a determined and effectual fight in which it does not behoove any of us to talk about the rest of us. With each and all of us, the good work, like charity, should begin at home. Let the city set the pace and the good example for the citizens by cleaning up its premises, and you, kind reader, set your neighbor a good example by showing him how clean you can keep your property. It is a proposition that no one person or set of persons can solve alike. Therefore it is incumbent upon each one to know rather than tell his neighbor what a good thing cleanliness is.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

HARD DRILLS SOFTEN IN DEPTHS OF EARTH

Deepest Hole in the World Now 6,500 Feet, is Adding to General Scientific Knowledge.

Scientists have asserted of late that the earth's interior is not a molten mass, but rather is a solid substance with greater rigidity than steel. Practical experience with the deepest hole into the interior of the earth known to be in existence smiles and declares that a drill proves an entirely different conclusion.

On the one side, advancing the claim of theoretical science, are the detailed experiences of Prof. Albert A. Michelson, near the Yerkes Observatory at Lake Geneva, Wis. He declares that his test is proof conclusive that the interior of the earth is rigid, and yet of great elasticity.

On the side of practical knowledge is to be had the experience of the drillers of the famous deep well near Okadale, this county, belonging to the People's Gas Company, which has now reached a depth of nearly 6,500 feet.

The men in charge of the drilling smile at Prof. Michelson's claim. Not only do they say that their drilling operations prove the contrary, but each day brings some new evidence to prove the fallacy of science.

Long since the immense drill, which is boring into the bowels of the earth, was attached to a steel cable, as a rope continually burned off. Even though specially constructed hard steel drills costing thousands of dollars have been made, they will only hold their point for a few minutes, the heat being so intense that they soften rapidly. Different kinds of mineral formations brought up by the big drill also weaken Prof. Michelson's claim.

In short, the drillers of the deep well smile and say they can prove the interior of the earth is hot—and mighty hot too.

Health Notes For Mebane.

Are you sleeping with the windows open wide. Screen the doors and windows.

Clean up the back lot and haul the dirt and trash off.

Will the business men of Mebane help the Civic League to clean up Mebane and then keep it clean.

Why was Rome the cleanest city in the world, because every man swept before his own door. Now if every one in Mebane will sweep before his own door, we will have a clean town.

First Strawberries

The Wilmington Dispatch of Saturday announces the formal opening of the strawberry season in eastern North Carolina, and it yums yums as if all the first crop is not whirled right through Wilmington to the Northern markets, the first berries being considered too rich for home blood. Until the Northern markets are supplied, the home towns scarcely get enough for short cake purposes, to say nothing of a supply calling for cream and sugar. All because we love money more than we do the tickling of the berry palate, for the South is abundantly able to meet the berry tariff if it wanted to. Commercialism is the ruling spirit in the strawberry district.—Charlotte Observer.

The Orchard Industry.

Mount Airy News. The orchard business is getting to be a large enterprise in this section as is evidenced by what has recently been done. The Cleveland orchards have recently changed hands, and report says that the new owners paid something like seventy-five thousand dollars for the property. This orchard is located at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains and was started something like a dozen years ago. The land was bought up for a very small sum per acre and planted in trees. A bright, energetic young man, Mr. W. H. Woods, was placed in charge and took one-fourth interest in the business. From year to year the land was cleared and planted until now as many as 200 acres are set in trees. Last year the company paid about five thousand dollars profit and it is understood that the trees are just beginning to bear in a way to be profitable.

The Fly An Advance Agent of Summer Sickness.

The Mebane Civic Association would like to have Mebane flyless town and it is their purpose to keep the subject before the public, especially for the next month as this is the time to begin to fight the fly. Always remember where there is no filth there are no flies.

(By Woods Hutchinson, A. M., M. D.)

"No longer can we dismiss the fly with a contemptuous 'Shoo!' He is an influence to be reckoned with. Black as he is painted, we must concede him certain virtues. From a worldly point of view, he is a hustler 'from way back'; perpetually on the job, and always delivers the goods.

He distributes samples of pestilence with a lavish hand, and the goods always match the samples whether you have ordered them or not, and are marked D. O. D.—Death on Delivery.

We may admire the fly for his industry, pertinacity and business enterprise. We may even love him—lukewarmly—as one of God's creatures, but we had better wipe him gently but firmly out of existence, just the same. Flies, like Artemus Ward's Injuns, "is prizen wherever found."

He is the best traveling salesman known to humanity; carries a grip on each of his six legs and a trunk on his head. His line of samples is the most extensive and longest known, and will last you, not merely from this year to next, but from time to eternity.

A fly in the house is as dangerous as a rattlesnake, as filthy as a louse, and as disgraceful as a bedbug. The time will come when any modern, cleanly home will feel itself shamed and disgraced by the presence of a fly, and when every householder upon whose premises a brood of flies is detected will be heavily fined or sent to jail.

The Refusal to Recognize Huerta.

It is objected by some of President Wilson's critics, friend and others as well, that he committed an initial error in not recognizing Huerta as the de facto ruler of Mexico from the outset, in which case the right of the President's insistence on Huerta's salute of the flag would be clearer, more logical and tenable. We do not know about this. It is a question that goes too deep into international morals and diplomatic casuistry for us to digress and follow after at this juncture. On its face, it seems to us, one might as well say that, under the old personal code of honor, one could not seize and tattle a bully and ruffian who had affronted and assaulted him because, the code, the bully and ruffian was not his equal and could not be recognized and called out as such.—Columbia Record.

Greeks Volunteers.

The United States is, perhaps, the most cosmopolitan country in the world, but when war threatens the spirit that has made America a true republic and filled her career with conquests burns within every breast and, regardless of nationality, every man in America rushes forward to fight under the stars and stripes. In Richmond something like one hundred Greeks have banded together and offered their services to the United States. All Greeks are fighters and in the ranks of these loyal volunteers are a number of old warriors who have seen service in defense of beloved Greece. They and their companions will strike strong blows in behalf of their adopted country should the call to arms be sounded. The noble Grecian gladiator still lives.—Wilmington Dispatch.

Advertising Pays

(From the Wall Street Journal.) Being solicited for renewal of an advertising contract which expired recently, the office manager of a large brokerage house, in an endeavor to reduce expenses during dull times, hesitated about renewing the contract until the solicitor asked him: "Have you lost your faith in advertising? Don't you know that when a duck lays an egg she waddles off as if nothing had happened? When a hen lays one, there's a dickens of a noise. Then her advertisement: hence the demand for hen's eggs, not duck eggs; The contract was renewed.

Orange Grove Items.

(Too late for last week.)

It begins to feel a little like corn planting time.

Messrs. E. N. and Ernest Cates of Mebane spent Sunday at the Grove

The Rev. Mr. Dixon preached an excellent sermon Sunday and was heard by a large crowd.

The bond issue for the building of the Greensboro Northern and Atlantic Railway was carried by five majority in Bingham Township. Now let her come.

The many friends of Miss Inez Reynolds will be surprised to learn that she was married on June 20, 1913 at Asheville to Prof. Privett now Supt. of Schools in Beaufort County. The marriage had been kept a secret from their relatives and friends, but was recently announced. After the announcement they took a tour of the Northern Cities. Miss Reynolds, the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Reynolds is a graduate of the Orange Grove School, and had taken a course at King's Business College; also a special course in art and music at Limestone College of S. C. and held before and since her marriage has held a responsible position with the State Board of Health. Mr. Privett is a graduate of Wake Forest College, and has taken a special course at Chicago University. They have the best wishes of a host of friends.

The Orange Grove School commencement will be held on Friday evening and night April 24th, beginning at 2 o'clock P. M. In the evening Prof. M. C. S. Noble of the State University will lecture, followed by exercises by the students. At night "Josiah's Courtship" will be given. The whole program is splendid and a large crowd is expected. Supper will be on the ground and everybody is cordially invited.

Quite a number of the Orange Grove people attended the picnic at Occaneechee Easter Monday and had a very nice time.

Accommodating Visitors.

Raleigh expects to have another celebrity, Madam Gaski, appears at the Auditorium early in May, which promises to be even more popular than the Melba-Kubelik Concert of Feb. 13th. It is predicted that special parties from all over the State are making preparations to attend and, it is earnestly hoped that our capital city will be better prepared to accommodate the crowd and not treat visitors quite as ungraciously as she did the last concert at least five days in advance not a single reservation could be secured at any hotel and many returned on night and early morning trains because of the city's inadequacy to take care of them.

Fly Poisons.

A cheap reliable fly poison which is not dangerous to human life is bicarbonate of potash in solution. Dissolve one dram in two ounces of water, add a little sugar and place about the house in shallow dishes.

To clean rooms of flies use carbolic acid, heating a shovel and pouring on it 20 drops of the poison. The vapor kills the flies.
