Aid of Women in War Work Urged.

Austin, Tex.—Every woman's organization and every locality in the State of Texas are urged, in an address issued to the women of the State, to send representatives to a war college for women which is to be held here, at the state university, from June 24 to 28. The address is signed by the state food administrator, the presidents of the university and the Agricultural and Mechanical College, the state chairman of the woman's committee, Council of National Defense, and the state chairman of the Women's Liberty Loan Committee. The purpose of the college is stated briefly in the words of the woman's committee of the Council of National Defense:

"It is to coordinate the activities and the resources of the organized and unorganized women of the State, that their power may be immediately utilized in time of need, and to supply a new and direct channel of communication and cooperation between women and governmental departments."

All war activities for women endorsed by the federal government will be discussed and plans for increased activity considered.

TRUTH TRIUMPHS.

Mount Airy Citizens Testify For the Public Benefit.

A truthful statement of a Mount Airy citizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney illness, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Mount Airy citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Could you demand more convincing proof of merit?

R. H. Newton 154 Lebanon St. says: "I have always found Doan's Kidney Pills all that is claimed for them. I recommend them to anyone who is in need of a good, reliable kidney medicine. Whenever my kidneys have been out of order I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and it requires only a few doses to make my kidneys act right."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Newton had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. Hoover's Statement.

Washington, D. C.—Following a conference with President Wilson, Mr. Hoover has made public a statement in which he outlines his opposition to the Randall amendment. He says:

"As to the discussion of the suppression of brewing, I wish to say emphatically that from a strictly food conservation point of view, I should like to see the use of foodstuffs suppressed in all drinks, hard and soft. This is not, however, the whole story. We stopped distilling a year ago. There is a long supply of whiskey, gin and other 20 per cent to 40 per cent distilled drinks in the country. We have reduced the consumption of foodstuffs in brewing by 30 per cent and reduced the alcohol content of beer to 2 1/2 per cent.

"If we stop brewing the saloons of the country will still be open but confined practically to a whiskey and gin basis. Any true advocate of temperance and of national efficiency in these times will shrink from this situation, for the national danger in it is greater than the use of some 4,000,000 bushels of grain monthly in the breweries. If the American people want prohibition it should prohibit by legislation to that end and not force the Food Administration to the responsibility for an orgy of drunkenness. It is mighty difficult to get drunk on 2 1/2 per cent beer; it will be easy enough if we force a substitution of distilled drinks for it.

"The Food Administration has gone as far as it can toward temperance without precipitating a worse situation. If the American people or Congress will stop the sale of distilled liquors, the Administration will find no difficulty in stopping brewing."

In a letter to Senator Sheppard, leader of the prohibition faction in the Senate he referred to an exchange of communications between the President and the Senator, and indicated that the President held the same views as himself. He wrote:

"The wines produced in this country are from grapes of which a very small proportion are available as table or raisin grapes, and therefore the stoppage of wine making would add no consequential amount of food to our national supplies. The conversion of vineyards to other production would not be likely so long as there is prospect of resumption of wine making at a late date. The conversion of these grapes to grape juice instead of wine, as suggested, would add nothing to our national food supplies.

"With regard to brewing, the alcoholic content in beer was reduced to 2 1/2 per cent, and the amount of grain and other foodstuffs that could be used has been limited to 70 per cent of that used during the corresponding period of the previous year, the effect being to stop any expansion of brewing and to reduce the foodstuffs consumed by 30 per cent. The actual amount of grain being used in the brewing of beers is at the present time approximately 4,500,000 bushels per month, of which approximately 30 per cent is recovered as cattle feed and the loss, therefore, into the beer is practically the equivalent of 3,150,000 bushels per month, the grains used being barley, corn, and broken rice.

"There is, of course, a great deal of contention that the beer itself contains the remaining food values. But omitting this, the cessation of brewing would effect a saving in grain of approximately 3,150,000 bushels a month, from a nutritive point of view. It needs no comment from me, from a food point of view, that I should favor the saving of this amount of grain.

"It does appear to me that the losses in food are entirely secondary to the moral and physical dangers. The President's letter indicates his feeling in this particular.

"You are probably aware that I have been a life long believer in national temperance; on the other hand, as a purely administrative officer of the government, I have felt strongly that I should not enter into any contentions matters."

Stomach Troubles and Constipation.

"I will cheerfully say that Chamberlain's Tablets are of the most satisfactory remedy for stomach troubles and constipation that I have sold in thirty-four years' drug store service," writes S. H. Murphy, druggist, Wellsburg, N. Y. Obtainable everywhere.

LONG DROUGHT BROKEN.

The long drought which has prevailed in west Texas for two or more years, causing little less than disaster to the cattle raising industry of Texas has been partly if not wholly broken. Three good, soaking rains fell in that district within the first 17 days of May. Grass is now coming out, water holes have been partly filled and a general spirit of optimism prevails with the cattlemen, many of whom staked fortunes on the effort to hold out.

Ranchmen who had waited from month to month for the rains shipped thousands of cattle out of this district to other ranges. All of Texas west of a line drawn north and south through San Antonio constituted the drought district, practically all of which is devoted to the cattle raising industry. Part of the district, however, contains some agricultural land devoted mostly to truck farming. Little cotton or corn is grown.

The drought began in some sections late in the summer of 1914, and almost ever since the cattlemen have had a fight on their hands to save the herds, with which the ranches were populated at that time. In 1915 the situation grew more serious and the rainfall was far below normal. Early in 1916 a large part of the district had fair rains, but there were many large areas which had none and others where the rain fell so rapidly that it did little good. Throughout the summer of 1916, all through 1917 and well into 1918, conditions grew steadily worse.

Pioneers of west Texas declare it was the worst dry spell over that section in a century. Dust storms which swept the section a few weeks prior to the rains were the worst and most severe experienced in a generation. In San Angelo the dust storms were so severe that all outside work had to be suspended and the sky was so dark that it was necessary to use electric lights for indoor work.

A general influx of cattle which had been shipped out of west Texas is expected to begin soon. Cattlemen however, point out that it will require years to stock the ranches as before the drought hit the ranges.—Ex.

Teach Children to Beware of Flies

Explain to them how flies are hatched in filth. How, after crawling around in outhouses, privies, manure piles and over dead animals and decayed matter, they come into the home and wipe their nasty feet on the family food, leaving a trail of disease germs everywhere.

Flies Cause Infantile Paralysis, Typhoid and Other Fevers

The best doctors in the world will tell you that flies are the cause of a great deal of sickness, especially summer complaint, infantile paralysis, dysentery, typhoid and other fevers. Don't let flies bring sickness into your home.

RED DEVIL LYE KILLS FLIES

Keep a can of RED DEVIL LYE in your outhouse and sprinkle it on the filth freely, once or twice a week. It consumes the filth, destroys the fly eggs and prevents odors and sickness.
