Find Skeleton of Crocodile

Lived 2 Million Years Ago London, June 30.—The complete skeleton of a crocodile, which is estimated to have lived more than two million years ago, has been unearthed from the Oxford clay of Peterborough brickyards by P. J. Phillips, a noted

English geologist.

The skeleton is 16 feet long and is identical with the skeleton of the present day cocodile. The monster was however, a sea going creature belon-ing to the middle geological period.

In a spot where the stomach would be found was a fossilized mass containing traces of organic marine matter, the remains of the reptile's last and evidently too hearty meal.
