The Dilemma of a Governor

During his recent visit to North Carolina Governor Trinkle kept quiet on his pay-as-you-go policy that is keeping Virginia in the background. It is not on record that he made pronouncement of his views at any stopping place in the State. The surprise, however, is that he should have gone back to the Old Dominion an unconverted man. He must have seen things and conditions in North Carolina that were calculated to jar him out of obstinacy. The Richmond Times-Dispatch made editorial reference to the proposed visit of Governor Trinkle, and its abiding fear was that the Governor might be called upon to make a speech here or there and it did not want the people of this State to size up Virginia by the utterances of its Governor. It feared he might be heard preaching the strange doctrine to the people down here. But what the Richmond paper feared more than all was that the Governor of Virginia would have nothing but Virginia "history" to talk about. What could he say to a North Carolina audience? The Times-Dispatch tells what he could not say. He—

Could not give any advice as to the proper and wise manner of conducting affairs, "because the truth is—humiliating as it is to Virginians—that North Carolina is from 10 to 20 years ahead of Virginia in the race of States. He could not refer to Virginia's achievements, for the unpalatable reason that Virginia domestic achievements in recent years have not been of a character in which her people were, or are, justified in taking pride. He could not, with anything save mere oratory, point to Virginia's plans for the future, because such of her plans for the future as are not nebulous are being hotly contested by the Governor himself and his allies. He could not point with pride to Virginia's administration of the criminal laws, for the reason that even in that respect North Carolina is far more expeditious and rigidly just than Virginia. He could not summon to his rhetorical aide the wisdom of Virginia's Legislature, because North Carolina is entirely free from the almost unceasing conflict between city and county representatives that mars the sessions of our General Assembly. He could not even glory, without qualifications, in Virginia's mighty port of Hampton Roads, because from that district comes the Virginia Pilot Association, which for years has been the most powerful political log-roller in the State."

But the hopes of The Times-Dispatch that the Governor was coming into North Carolina to learn and with no idea of instructing, were realized. He met the dilemma by saying nothing, perhaps realizing, as his home paper had suggested, that "this is no time for comedy at the expense of Virginia."

GIVING OUT

The Struggle Discourages Many a Citizen of Mt. Airy

Around all day with an aching back, Can't rest at night; Enough to make any one "give out." Doan's Kidney Pills are helping thousands.

They are for kidney backache; And other kidney ills. Here is Mount Airy proof of their merit:

Mrs. A. McMickle, 201 Granite St., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills soon rid me, they acted so often. I became lated my kidneys. My back was so bad at times that it was all I could do to sweep the floor. The poor action of my kidneys annoyed and distressed me, they acted so often. I become weak and nervous and the least little work tired me out. A neighbor advised Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking three boxes, I felt like a different woman. The backache had gone and my kidneys were regulated. I am always ready to tell others what Doan's did for me."

Nervous Break-Down

MRS. ANNIE LANGE, of R. F. D. 1, Burlington, Tex., writes as follows regarding her experience with Cardui: "Some time ago I had a nervous break-down of some kind. I was very weak and so nervous. I had fainting spells and suffered a great deal, but more from the weak, tremble, no-account feeling than anything else. I knew I needed a tonic, and needed it badly. I began the use of Cardui to see if I couldn't get some strength, as I know of other cases that had been helped by its use. I soon saw a great improvement, so I kept it up. I used seven bottles of Cardui, and can say the money was well spent, for I grew well and strong. Am now able to do all my housework and a great deal of work besides."
If you are weak, run-down, nervous and suffer from the ailments peculiar to women, it is very likely that Cardui will help you, in the way it helped Mrs. Lange and has helped thousands of others, during the past 40 years.
Ask for, and insist on, Cardui.

CARDUI
The Woman's Tonic

"Keep those tires up!"

—says the experienced Fleet Boss. And he's right, absolutely. His long experience has shown him that it wastes gasoline to run on under-inflated tires—that a loss of 15 or 20 pounds of air pressure in the tires can cost you as much as 1 to 1 1/2 miles per gallon, whereas an extra passenger cuts off only 1/10 to 1/5 of a mile. Polarine is built around a practical experience of more than fifty years which has shown us a thousand and one things that affect the performance of a motor oil or fuel. You can trust it as thoroughly as you can trust the finest tire or motor car.

Say "Polarine"—not just "a quart of oil"
