ZR-1 IS WINGING WAY ACROSS COUNTRY

Tour of ZR-1 is to Test Ability of Her Type to Atmospheric Conditions

Washington Oct. 1.—The first cross-country run of a first line naval ship was in progress tonight.

Having defeated the adverse gales which attempted throughout the day to hold her to the Atlantic seaboard, the ZR-1, American designed descendant of the original Zeppelin, was winging her way westward with St. Louis as her destination.

Radio dispatches from the big airship to the bureau of naval aeronauts throughout the flight, tonight told of the improved weather conditions encountered from the time the ship reached the vicinity of Pittsburgh. The constant head winds shifted there and for the first time since clearing from Lakehurst, the "ground" speed of the airship exceeded her "air speed."

The effect of the contrary winds was graphically illustrated by the periodical reports from the dirigible. At Mount Holly, New Jersey, this morning her air speed was 41 knots but her progress over the ground only 17 knots. At Belfonte, Pa., traversed at 2:40 p. m. the six engines of the ZR-1 were turning up 41 knots but her speed was only 37 knots. Over Clearfield, Pa., however, the first favorable wind showed her progress to 48 knots.

The tour of the ZR-1 was designed to test the ability of her type to meet the varied atmospheric conditions known to exist between the seaboard and the great mountain ranges. Aviation officials were confident that the final report on the tour would show that dirigibles of this type are admirably adapted for long distance commercial activity.

Clearing weather, officials said, afforded communities in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, the opportunity for witnessing a spectacular sight tonight. The ZR-1 is covered with a paint in which silver is the metallic base and she reflects vividly the rays of the full moon.

It was originally planned for the ZR-1 to arrive at St. Louis about 7 a. m. tomorrow and to remain in the city three hours. The delay may lead to changes in the program but these had not been indicated in reports from the dirigible to the department tonight.

Resistance is Brought to End

Berlin, Sept. 25.—Germany has decided to end unconditionally her, vengeful and moral fight against the occupation of her economic stronghold the Ruhr, and an immediate resumption of work has been ordered in all fields of activity affected by the policy of passive resistance. Chancellor Stresemann, making this announcement last night after a long conference with representatives of labor, industry and the civilian populations of the Ruhr and Rhineland, said the government's present efforts would be directed toward obtaining the release of prisoners and the return of deportees. Attempts to accomplish these purposes, as well as to obtain guarantees of the restoration of German sovereignty in the occupied region, had been unsuccessful, the chancellor said, thus passive resistance lost its purpose and had become even harmful to the best interests of the country.
