

Rubber Growing in Florida Is Planned by Ford.

Tampa, Fla., May 26.—Purchase by Henry Ford of over 5,000 acres in Hendry county centering around Labelle, the county seat, announced the early development of an immense rubber growing industry in Florida.

Mr. Ford is reported to have paid more than a half million dollars for the acreage, which includes the town-site of Goodno on the Atlantic Coast Line railroad and the public utilities and a number of buildings of the town of Labelle.

Already rubber culture experts are busy on the property, according to a report from Labelle, and it is declared the Ford plans contemplated immediate clearance of an immense acreage and the planting of rubber trees.

President Deplores Exclusion in Message With Signed Immigration Bill.

Washington, May 26.—President Coolidge signed the Immigration Bill this morning, including the Japanese exclusion policy which he deplors and which he frankly stated he would have vetoed had it stood alone.

The necessity of a comprehensive measure to take the place of the quota law that expires June 30 is the President's excuse for signing the bill, and in his message he regrets, as other Presidents before him have regretted that he had not the right to segregate what he deems a mistake and an international discourtesy.

On the whole the President's language is much milder than his utterances when the measure was pending.

"It would have been much better, in my judgment," he says, "and more effective in the actual control of immigration, if we had continued to invite the co-operation which Japan was ready to give and had thus avoiding creating any ground for misapprehension by an unnecessary statutory enactment."

In withholding a veto the President is supposed to have gone contrary to the advice of Secretary of State Hughes. It is likely that the fate of the Soldier bonus veto had an effect on the President's course in this problem, but the diplomatic viewpoint is that, even though the veto were overridden, such concrete evidence of the President's own feeling would have done much to save the hurt Japan feel.

The poignancy of that hurt cannot be exaggerated. The Japanese Embassy today was wrapped in gloom. Of course, no statement could be made there, but there is no question as to the gravity with which they view the situation.

"The first direct consequence looked for is the return of Ambassador Hanihara to Japan. This does not mean that Japan will withdraw her Ambassador, but official Washington looks to see Nippon represented by a charge d'affaires for some time, unless there is a formula worked out between Hanihara and Hughes that will in some way ameliorate the situation, and nobody has so far been able to think out a formula that will answer the purpose.

Japan is not looking for the removal of any bar to Japanese immigration into the United States. That was made plain when the President and Secretary Hughes sought delay in Congress to permit them to negotiate a treaty that would accomplish the same result without the affront to Japan involved in refusing her the status accorded other nations and the inference that she did not live up to the letter of the "gentleman's agreement" in preventing the coming of the Japanese to America.

There undoubtedly will be some sort of an official protest by Japan, but it will not be directed to the League of Nations, as has been suggested in some dispatches, but to this country directly. To this the Secretary of State can hardly reply other than to state that Congress is the sole authority in the matter with perhaps some assurances and regrets that the situation has arisen.

The California contingent was jubilant, but Senators Hiram Johnson and Shortridge, and V. S. McClatchy, who was the representative of a flock of California associations that worked for the exclusion measure, avoided in their statements any mention of the President's strictures. So far as might be gathered from these the President had simply approved the measure.

"I apprehend neither difficulties nor dangers," said Johnson. "We have done what was clearly our right without intention of offense, and giving no cause for offenses, offense cannot be taken."

"The President has signed the bill and we have won," said Shortridge. "The country is to be congratulated."

"A possible source of great future misunderstanding has been eliminated," runs McClatchy's comment, "and Japan and the United States should continue in uninterrupted friendship to maintain peace on the Pacific and develop commerce to their mutual advantage. The existing problems in Hawaii and portions of the Pacific Coast, the result of past immigration should be solved by mutual consideration and forbearance."

Submarine Gold Mine Yields Many Millions

(From the Scientific American.)
Diving for $32,000,000 is a form of sport that should amuse any one, whether a diver or not, if he were promised one thirty-second of the treasure.

During the war the steamship Laurentic, laden with gold to the extent of the sum named, was sunk off the coast of Ireland in ninety feet of water by a German submarine. Since 1918 the divers who have been at work on the wreck have brought up the entire amount of gold, in addition to almost $5,000,000 in silver specie.

During the first three years of the work only 608 bars of the precious metal were recovered, but after the adoption of the galvanometer in connection with a prod with which contact is made with the bars of gold, 2,100 bars, each worth $5,000 to $10,000 were recovered, in addition to the silver as stated.

WHOSE BUSINESS IS IT TO DRAW A WILL?

A lawyer's. The belief that anybody can draw a Will is disproved by the records of the Probate Court, which show that although many persons try to draw their own Wills, many such Wills are not legal. The lawyer's fee for drawing a Will is small, and it is false economy to save it at the expense of your heirs.

Therefore, to save time, money, trouble and litigation go to your lawyer today, not tomorrow, because that day may never come, and have him draw your Will.

But the decision and act of making a Will is only part of today's duty. Who shall carry out your wishes as executor and trustee? Upon the wisdom of your choice may hang far-reaching consequences to those you hold dear.

You have thought out the things you will do to maintain and improve your possessions. Have you considered what others must do to conserve those assets when you are gone? Even if they are now so organized that they could be disposed of to advantage, what would they bring if disorganized by a few months or years of bad management?

Ward's Orange-CRUSH
Lime-CRUSH

Nobody's Fool!

Buddy isn't really afraid. For no one—least of all of Funny-Face—could be so cruel as to deprive him of his bottle of Orange-Crush!

Here are six reasons why Orange-Crush is so utterly delicious: (1) The natural fruit oil of oranges—which gives that delicate and distinctive flavor; (2) The natural acid of citrus fruits (oranges, lemons, and limes)—which gives the tang; (3) Orange juice; (4) Carbonated water—which gives "zip," sparkle, purity; (5) U. S. Certified food color—which makes it as appealing to the eye as to the taste; (6) Pure cane sugar.

That's all. My, what a drink!

Always insist on the Krinkly Bottle. It protects you against counterfeits.

Herd of Pure Bred Herefords At Auction

At our barns on McConnell road, Gorrell Street extension, Greensboro, N. C., June 10th, 1:30 P. M. In order to make room for our rapidly increasing Nursery business, we will sell our entire herd of Herefords to the highest bidder, nothing reserved. This is a rare opportunity. In assembling the foundation for this herd we were careful to get the best this and the Old Country had to offer. During the low price of any animal, brood stock goes to the butcher, we have just passed through a period of this kind and the country is now facing a shortage of good brood stock and prices have started upward and as soon as the stockman realizes this, there will be a rush to restock again and cause a drain on the normal beef supply which will in turn cause a shortage in beef. The wise person will stock up and keep a normal supply of brood stock on hand at all times. This is the time to get them. Will also sell one manure spreader.
