Reached From Grave to Deliver Rabe

The following is an excerpt from the will of a Wail street man, which was probated ingthe New York courts:
"To my wife, I leave her lover and the knowledge that I wasn't the fool she thought I was.

"To my son, I leave the pleasure of earning a living. For thirty-five years he has thought that the pleasure was all mine. He was mistaken.

We are a band of brothers, who fought for liberty.

"To my daughter, I leave $100,000. She will need it. The only good piece of business her husband ever did was

"To my valet, I leave the clothe that he has been stealing from me regularly for the past ten years. Also my fur coat that he wore last winter when was in Palm Beach,

The Cup of Paris

Paris, the great gay city, is contained within a cup, says a writer in the Continental edition of the London Daily Mail. You may discover it one day perhaps from a pleasant roof garden and be suddenly surprised to find the city so definitely contained. Wherever you will look there at last appear the soft green hills peeping so serency down upon the welter of life in the city below. You may even see the trees on the hills, so near are they. We used to think the city was so big and spread so far, and the Place de la Concorde, what a mighty space it was! There even now we see the dome of the Pantheon, the towers of Notre Dame, the sudden smoky shoot of the Eliffel tower. Gigantic things we used to think them. But now how easily they are held in the cup of the laughing hills!

The following is a Confederate wa song, author not given, handed in to The Courier by L. O. Sugg, a Confederate soldier, of Erect, N. C. It is sung to the tune of "Old Time"

We are a band of brothers, We are a band of brothers,

We're old time Confederates, We're old time Confederates We're old time Confederates, They're good enough for me. Jeff Davis was our leader,

Our only chosen leader Our true and faithful leader He was good enough for me. (Chorus)

Lee and Johnston our chieftian, Bragg Beauregard and Johnston These were glorious chieftians, They were good enough for me.

We followed Stonewall Jackson, The Christian soldier Jackson, The terror striking Jackson, He was good enough for me.

We fought with Hood and Gorden With Longstreet, Polk and Clea-With Ewell Hill and Hardee,

They were good enough for me. We rode with Stuart and Hampton With Fritz Lee, Duke and Morgan,

With Forest and Joe Wheeler They were good enough for me. (Chorus) We were ourselves out fighting,

We wore ourselves out fighting. We wore ourselves out fighting, For Southern liberty.

Now our Country is united. Now our country is united, Now our Country is united,

The preacher had told Uncle Ben We must all meet in heaven, We must all meet in heaven, To rejoice eternally.

Words That Work Hard

There are words it is almost impossible to avoid using, however carefully we may try to do no.

sible to avoid using, however carefully we may try to do so.

It is said that a quarter of the task of expressing oneself in the English language is borne by nine words—and, be, have, it, of, the, to, will and you. It is also asserted that these nine, with 34 other words, form half the words the average talker uses in ordinary conversation.
