INTENSE PAIN

Lady, Also Nervous and Weak, Relieved by Cardui.

"I was ill and had to stay in bed under treatment for about two weeks without any improvement in my condition, which was serious," says Mrs. J. T. Abercrombie, R. F. D. 7, Brookville, Ind.

"I had intense pain in my side. I was so nervous and weak and just out of heart...."

"After taking one bottle of Cardui, I felt like getting up. My nerves seemed steadier and I didn't feel so weak. I kept up taking Cardui and was soon feeling like my old self...."

"I am such a believer in Cardui until when I get nervous and weak I take it. I took it before my children were born. It strengthened me and helped my nerves...."

"I took a cold and... my back felt so weak and I had such pulling pains. I took Cardui and didn't have any more trouble...."

"I fell and broke my arm. The fall shook me up and made me very nervous. I told them Cardui would help that, and it did." At all drug stores.

JURIST IS WEDDED TO HIS FIRST LOVE

Judge Stack's Marriage in Winston-Salem Culmination of Beautiful Romance

Winston-Salem, Nov. 28.—A marriage of much interest to their friends occurred here today when Judge A. M. Stack, of Monroe, one of the Superior Court judges of North Carolina, and Mrs. M. B. Brittain, a charming resident of this city, surprised their friends by being united in marriage.

The wedding was a quiet one, solemnized at 10:30 this morning at Centenary parsonage, Dr. C. C. Weaver, pastor of the bride and a former pastor of the groom, officiating.

This wedding possesses an element of romantic interest. When Judge Stack was a young man just beginning the practice of law, he met and became engaged to Miss Mary Bello Crovan, then a girl of sixteen. They were perfectly devoted to each other and indulged in the usual dreams of future happiness. Miss Craven's father was a Methodist preacher and in the course of time the conference moved him elsewhere. The daughter was too young to marry and went away to school. For a long while there was a correspondence that breathed the most ardent affection.

But, mutually, the letters came less frequently and finally ceased. Time and separation had shattered love's young dreams. Each passed out of the life of the other. Each married another and lived happily. But life's sunshine was succeeded by shadows. Death entered their homes and removed their companions. Then came the sorrowful days and lonely years. The former lovers never saw each other again from the day that they parted as sweethearts until the early fall of this year when Judge Stack held court in Winston-Salem. Then it was that chance had a part in their lives. At the noon recess one day he stepped in the store of D. G. Craven and there the couple met again for the first time in years.

Their casual meeting brought tender recollections of other days. There was a call that evening and the intervening years was talked over. Another and another call followed. In passing thru Winston-Salem, going to his courts in nearby counties, other calls were made. Having loved once it was easy for them to fall in love again. Their second love was stronger than their first. Today's marriage was the culmination of a beautiful romance.

The happy couple left on the 11:20 train for eastern Carolina to spend their honeymoon. On next Monday morning, Judge Stack will open court in Greenville, Governor McLean having assigned him to hold a special term of two weeks in Pitt county.

JURORS WOULD KEEP WYATT OUT OF JAIL

Nine of Policeman's Triers Request That He Not Be Sentenced to Prison or Road

Raleigh, Nov. 29.—Superior Court opening here tomorrow will try civil cases only and Judge Garland A. Midyette, who will hold this term, will not take up the Wyatt manslaughter case until two weeks from Monday.

Judge Midyette has been in Franklin, but he comes to Wake for the remainder of the year. He will call the Wyatt case for judgment December 14. At that time he will impose sentence in accordance with the verdict of the jury which found the Raleigh detective-policeman guilty of manslaughter for killing Stephen S. Holt, attorney of Smithfield, 26 weeks ago tomorrow.

Judge Midyette, in addition to receiving a recommendation for mercy when the jury found Wyatt guilty, will meet a further judicial appeal for clemency. Nine of the triers have signed a request that the court do not send Wyatt to jail or to the road. Judge Midyette has never intimated the kind of opinion that he has in the Wyatt case. He does not say whether he regards the Wyatt offense greater than one of simple though criminal carelessness. The state contended that the officer shot directly at the lawyer and being "the best shot on the Raleigh police force," did a perfect job of shooting. The jury did not take that view but did accept the Wyatt statement that he did not know Holt and had no reason for shooting him.

Boy Is Accidentally Killed by Brother

Dunn, Nov. 29.—Jarvis Gray, 11 years old, was accidentally shot and killed late Saturday afternoon by his brother, Carson, aged 14. The two youths were hunting in a field near their home in Grove township, Harnett county, each carrying a gun. Jarvis had crawled under a wire fence and it was while Carson was passing underneath the wire that his gun was discharged. The lead struck the unfortunate lad blowing the top of his head away. Death was instant.

HUNT FOR WOOD IS HANDICAPPED

Police Ignorant of Whereabouts of Relatives of Escaped Desperado

Greensboro, Nov. 23.—The hunt for Otto Wood, escaped slayer of A. W. Kaplan, of this city, is handicapped by the knowledge of the whereabouts of his relatives' home and on his first escape from the state prison, in May 1924, he went and got his wife, in Winston-Salem, and was traced from there to Roanoke, Va., and captured.

His wife, however, since then, secured a divorce and married again. For a while she and her new husband and the little daughter of Wood and herself lived in Winston-Salem, then moved to Caswell county and are said to be residing at Pelham. Whether Wood will go there and try a little vengeance work upon the new husband is a question.

Others are apprehensive of Wood's vengeance. Several Hebrews were who testified against him when he was tried at the December, 1923, term of Guilford superior court, are not feeling the best in the world with the man out of prison. Sam Busbee is said to have been threatened by the man with death. Busbee was formerly warden at the state prison.

Wood was born and reared in the Ronda section of Wilkes county and that place is being watched for him, as he is considered the type of criminal who, like a rabbit finally goes back to the place where he was first "jumped".

Authorities here are of the opinion that he would not hesitate to come here should the whim seize him.

It is so refreshing—PEPSI-COLA. Try a bottle.

PEPSI-COLA has proven a revelation as a refreshing drink.

THE SOUTHERN SERVES THE SOUTH

What every business man knows

Every business man knows the danger of using too much borrowed capital in financing the growth of a business.

But the promise of the ultimate success of an undertaking often justifies the accumulation of debt against the day when established earning power will attract new partnership capital.

Such has been the record of the Southern Railway Company. For thirty years it has been compelled to finance itself by borrowing and the reinvestment of earnings.

But the Southern should now take its rightful place among the enterprises of the South whose solid worth merits the confidence of investors and attracts partners rather than creditors.
