Rev. O. L. Springfield, of Raleigh, made a most interesting ad dress on Tuesday night in the Baptist church in favor of christian education. He canvassed the Baptist congregation Wednesday to secure funds to aid in finishing the Baptist Female University at Raleigh. Mr. Stringfield told several of us that he liked this location here for the yearly Baptist State Sunday School Chatauqua better than any other locality visited. Everything was favorable for the location of that institution here but one thing : and that is the presence of our saloons. While we have licensed saloons here, he Mrs. said that he would not recommend the chatauqua to come here, and this is not unreasonable nor should it be wondered at. In our trying to build up we have to choose between retaining the saloons or gaining such great and good enterprises as the above. Nothing of the kind of any church will likely come here while we have open saloons. Some children are of the injured men are in a serious not sent here to go to school for the same reason. When will we awake to the duty of having no saloons? The dollar and cent argument is threadbare and worth less as in their favor. Some things are worth more than dollars. Mc-Dowell's and Marion's incubus is whiskey

The militia had to let the mobbers alone-too many of them and too determined. But you say : In Ohio? Of course. If the Ohioans were living down here they would be just as we are, if not worse, on this unlawful procedure of lynching. It matters a great deal, you growing out of it.
