INTRODUCTORY.

Having purchased the interests of Mr. T. G. Cobb in THE MESSEN-GER, with this issue I become associated with Rev. W. H. White in its management.

The high standing THE MES-SENGER has attained is a source of pride and gratification to those who have earnestly labored for its success and the welfare of the people of Marion and McDowell county, and we shall endeavor to merit a continuance of the generous patronage the paper has already received.

Under the new management THE MESSENGER will strive to still further extend its interest and usefulness, giving especial attention to the needs of Marion and vicinity. Rev. Mr. White will continue his relations with the paper as heretofore, and we hope the able to the publishers and people. Respectfully,

I. W. COUNT.

Russell is an iconoclast-an image smasher. Some three hunnations, a party arose with such zeal for the truth that it broke into fragments the images of worship found in cathedrals and temples. They were iconoclasts in religious matters-breakers of images. So Governor Russell is breaking images, the representatives of the power in his party, and injuring the party, some of the things his party has admired and worshiped. With the club of the breaking spirit he is shattering them to pieces. Expectations elected are being disappointed. As proper, he has been given good time to develop greatness, but he is unpromising. The "powers that be" should be respected and obeyed until a lawful method can be reached of changing peaceably from the party governing. > The President made a trip to the Tennessee Centennial at Nashville, shortly after Hanna had him counted in, but we have no record that he visited the graves of his illustrious democratic predeces-sors, Andrew Jackson and James K. A few weeks later he took another deadhead ride to Lake Champlain, the most notable occurence being his weeping over the grave of the patron saigt of Hanna Republicanism, John Brown, formerly commander sin chief of the forces to incite insurrection and murder helph ss women and innocent children.

If the abuses of government could be corrected, the useless offices abolished, and the unnecessary expenses cut off, the burdens that weigh down our tax-ridden people would be reduced more than onehalf of what is now upon them.

Those who have visited the Tenessee Centennial Exposition now being held at Nashville, are unanimons in expressions of pleasant surprise and patriotic admiration at the very fine aggregation of American arts, science, industry agricultural products there displayed. It is a splendid show, highly creditable to Tennessee and her sister States that have joined her in making it such a pronounced success. While not so elaborate as the Atlanta Exposition, of two years ago, it is in some respects far more attractive and interesting. The buildings are very handsome indeed, close together, and the displays compactly grouped, thereby readering them easy of inspection, thus affording even the hurried sight-seer as fine view of what American art, science, industry and skill has done and can do as has been made in the United States.

The grounds are simply beautiful, the landscape gardening lovely; in this respect said by those who have seen all the expositions to be even lovelier than the grounds of paign, and there is no doubt but the great fair at Chicago. of White People to Supply the Cotton Mills with Help, The Boston Transcript gives undue importance to the recent strike at the Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills, says the Atlanta Journal, which was caused by the employ-ment of a few negro women. The Transcript is inclined to believe that the time is near at hand "when the Southern manufacturers must employ colored help or shut down."

"There is no such prospect in the South. Of all the cotton mills in this section only one, that at Charleston, has changed from white to negro labor. The owners of the Charleston mill declare that they found it impossible to obtain enough white operatives to run their factory and determined to employ negroes only, as they knew it would be impossible to work whites and negroes together.

"Charleston is an exception. In all the other South Carolina cotton mills all the operatives are whites bunal other than a self-constituted and no difficulty has ever been found in obtaining all the white help that was needed. The same thing is true of the cotton manufacturing centres in other Southern States. Many of the cotton mills in this section are located in small towns, and as soon as they were built abundant labor was to retire the greenbacks, and presents to Congress, with a grand sent it to Congress, with a grand flourish of trumpets, that this is "a brated band, such as Sousa's, Gillows and the congress of the congres bilities. recopments of the Past Week in a Sub-ject of Widespread Interest. Naturally, the subject of public interest uppermost in the minds of our citizens the past week has been that with reference to the developments in the controversy between Governor Russell and Maj. J. W. Wilson, of Morganton, and S. Otho Wilson, State Railroad Commissioners. For some time past it has been generally believed throughout the State that the Governor would remove the two members of the commission above named. There was not much surprise, therefore, when Governor Russell sent the following letter to Chairman J. W. Wilson on Thursday last: "Take notice that after due investigation and consideration, I am convinced that you have violated the railroad commission law in some of the particulars men tioned in my letter to you of August 24th, and that you have not only violated said act in the specifications set out in it, but that you have otherwise within its meaning, intent and words become disqualified to act. Now, therefore, in obedience to the duty imposed upon me by said act, I do hereby suspend you from the office of railroad commissioner, and chairman of said commissioners, such suspension to continue until the question of your removal or restoration shall be determined by a vote of the Legislature in joint session. The fact of your suspension, together with reasons therefor and evidence, documents and information connected therewith, will be reported to the next Legislature. You will further take notice that under and by virtue of the power conferred, and duties imposed, upon the chief executive, I have appointed L. C Caldwell, of Iredell, to fill the sion. Inasmuch as you are under stood to deny the power of the I have requested Mr. Caldwell to make demand on you for posses sion of the office, and upon your refusal to bring action therefor to the end that the title to the office may be judicially determined."

Mr. Wilson shook his head and explained that it was a matter of great regret but really. he said, under the law, he should be compelled to have to decline Mr. Pearson's request to step out. He then went on to explain that he was elected to the position by the Legislature and he did no recognize the Governor's right and power to turn him out,

"I still consider myself Railroad Commissioner, Mr. Pearson, and therefore I cannot turn over my office to you or any other man until my term expires." Referring to the refusal of Mr.

Otho Wilson to give up the office, Mr. Pearson said: "I will bring suit in Wake Superior Court beginning October 24th. There will, of course, be an appeal to the Supreme Court and the latter will advance the case. This position came to me entirely unsolicited. I think the interests of the State can be served without oppressing railroad corporations in the State. Mr. L. C. Caldwell, of Statesville, who was appointed in Major Wilson's place, took the oath of office before Judge Furches on Friday, and made demand on Mr Wilson for the office by the service of papers through Sheriff Webb, of this county. Mr. Caldwell expects to bring suit in Iredell Superior Court for the possession of the office and the case will prob ably come up for trial at the
