PREDICTIONS as to who will be the Democratic candidate for President in 1900 are premature. Whether William J. Bryan will "fill the bill" at that time is yet to be developed. We believe that the paramount issue of the next national campaign will relate to territorial expansion and not to the financial question. But there is no need of crossing this bridge until we get to it.

A great improvement in the health of the army has taken place within the last two months, as shown by the last reports to the surgeon-general from the field and general hospitals. The hospitals at Chickamauga Park have been emptied and abandoned. The same is true of the division field hospitals at Camp Hamilton, Lexington, Ky., and Jacksonville, Fla. The hospital train, which carried nearly 4,000 sick men from the various camps to the general hospitals, is now lying idle at Washington. The general hospital at Fort McPherson, Ga, has only 200 patients remaining, and reports 423 vacant beds. The Josiah Simp son hospital at Fortress Monroe has 400 vacant beds. The general hospital at Fort Myer, Va., has 350 vacant beds and only 162 patients temaining. The hospital at Fort Thomas, Ky., which recently received the sick from Camp Hamilton, reports 371 in hospital and 103 vacant beds.

Julian Raiph, who has been for some years in England, writes for the December Cosmopolitan a very clever analysis of what seems to him the English ideas of a gentleman; and Mr. John Brisben Walker attempts to consider the American ideals. We are in the formative stage of American manners, and too much stress can scarcely be given to the dangers of introducing those ideas which are least admirable in the character of our English cousins.

Discovered by a Woman,

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country, "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were un lermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first-dose, that she slept all night, and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at G. I. White's Drugstore. Regular size 50c. and $1. Every bottle guaranteed.

From Our Regular Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12, 1898 .-The bill prepared by General Miles for the recognition of the army has been introduced in Congress, but that is about as far as it will ever get, as the Hull bill, prepared largely under the direction of Secretary Alger, is backed by the administration and by the Republican leaders in the House, and is, unless present plans are changed, to be put through the House before the Christmas recess. The Democrats are opposed to keeping the volunteers in service until the Army Reorganization Bill becomes a law, as proposed by the administration, but their protests will not, it is feared, change the programme, because the desire to get the volunteers mus the increase of the regular army to 100,000 men. The House Military Committee has favorably re ported a resolution offered by Representative Hay, of Virginia, a king the Secretary of War to inform the House what towns in Cuba, Porto Rico, and the Philippines will have to be garrisoned by United States troops, the number of troops for each town and the number that will be required at

The Philippine problem is giving the Republicans no end of trouble. General Grosvenor, of Ohio, is not a timid man in handling political questions, but he acknowledged himself at a loss what to do with this one when he said, after discussing several of the propositions that have been made to get rid of the islands: "For my in the bottom of the sea." Mr McKinley has allowed it to become known to his party leaders that he has no ambition to lead in a Philippine poincy, but will be perfectly satisfied to follow any policy that promies to be in accord with public sentiment, with preference that it should be one that will enable us to get rid of the Philippines if it be possible to do so withot laying this country open to the charge of trafficing in human liberty for a profit and without causing war. There is reason for saying that if it had to be done over again Mr. McKinley would not demand possession of the Philippines and would save the $20,000,000 which we must pay Spain for something we do not know what to do with. But that sort of hind sight doesn't help the situation one bit.

The naval clique that has been trying to keep Lieutenant Hobson from receiving attention and deserved glory ever since his return from a Spanish prison has succeeded in getting him ordered out of the country for an indefinite period. It was discovered that Hobson was just the man needed to superintend the repairs on the Spanish gunboats sunk by Dewey in Manila bay, which have been raised and sent to Hong Kong under a contract made by Dewey. Hobson tried to get a short leave of absence to attend to some private matters before going so far sufficient votes to ratify the treaty away but it was refused him and he was given peremptory orders to leave for Hong Kong on the steamer that sails from San Fran cisco Christmas eve.

The proposition that England and the United States jointly build and control the Nicaragua Canal has not met with any marked favor in Congress. The Morgan bill by which the United States will own a controlling interest in the company which will build the canal, guaranteeing therefor $100 .-000,000 of the company's bonds, to be issued at the discretion of the Morgan, its author, says it will This is the only remedy that is pass by a big majority. Demothe canal be built directly by this F. Morphew, Druggist, government and owned by it, but it is not regarded as a party question and each Democratic Senator will vote in accordance with his individual views. What the House will do with this bill will depend largely upon the attitude of the administration towards it-an at titude not yet clearly defined, although Mr. McKinley is committed in favor of building the canal, The resolutions for congressional investigation of the war have been offered, one by Senator Vest and the other by Representative Sulzer, but there is little probability hat either will be adopted.

For Railroad Commissioner.

The Asheville Citizen nominates Hon. M. L. Reed, of that city, for Railroad Commissioner, and gives some good reasons why he should be chosen. It says, "Mr. Reed is a substantial farmer and familiar with public affairs," and that he "was the leading spirit in the building of the deaf and domb asylum at Morganton, and has been one of its board of directors since its establishment, and is now the president of the board." The Legislature will choose suc cessors to Commissioners Pearson and Caldwell at its coming session, and in selecting these men it should exercise great care and sound judgment. The office of Railroad Commissioner is one of the most important in the State. But few men are fitted for such duties as devolve upon these officials. They should have the juditered out is counted upon to help cial temperament in an eminent get the votes needed to authorize degree. They must see that the interests of the people are regarded and at the same time be careful that the rights of the corporations with which they deal are respected. No man who is incapable of seeing things from these two standpoints is fit to be Railroad Commissioner.

IN THE HOLY LAND.

CHRISTMAS DAY AS IT NOW IS IN BETHLEHEM.

The Modernity of Jerusalem - The Scene of the Nativity-Incongruous Visitors In the Sacred Grotto.

Christmas Night Rituals. "All aboard for Jerusalem, Ramleh, Artouf and the tomb of Samson!"

The poet Lamartine, writing of the Holy Land in his "Meditations" sixty odd years ago, tells of buying an arsenal of pistols, salers and other weapons to arm his company against the Greek pirates who infested the archipelago sea and of divers other dangers which made the corney to Jerusalem full of danger and excitement.

Nowadays an uneventful sail on one of the Messagerie's steamers brings one to Alexandria. Another stop occurs at Port Said, just long enough to take a cocktail served solemnly by a barkeeper in a white cravat, his establishment being in a six story building of iron framework, with nothing in the least oriental about it. Then the next morning your boat is bobbing up and down in sight of Jaffa. The deck swarms with priests and ecclesiastic al travelers, representing all the countries and religions in the civilized world, and some that are not civilized, which puts the sailors in a bad humor, as they believe that priests on board bring bad luck.

Close by the sea at a short distance from the city a railway wation stands, a little one, it is true, but genuine. It is a strange experience indeed riding to Jerusalem behind a puffing and whistling locomotive. After having passed through fragrant gardens the line opens into a plain famous in Bible history as the garden of Palestine. This was the land of Canaan, the country of the Philistines spreading away

under our eyes in the clear oriental atmos phere, bounded in the distance by the vague blue lines of the mountains of Ju-

The train rushes onward, and now the distant points of the mountains of Judaa grow plainer. On the right in the dis-tance a white point marks the tomb of Samson and a little further on a second white point, to the left this time, is said to show the place where he was born. Finally one reaches Jerusalem, and in spite of dreams and spiritual exaltation it is impossible to deny that the first effect is disappointing. One passes into the Holy City through streets and avenues which resemble nothing so much as the unattractive thoroughfares which run out of Paris from the St. Ouen quarter. There is nothing in the least oriental about them. Instead of Zion and Golgotha, one sees only red roofs and long new buildings with monotonous lines of windows which look like hospitals and orphan asy-

Passing outside the walls of Jerusalem one traverses the valley of Gehenna, sees Job's well with its white cupola and then finds himself advancing up the slopes of Mount Zion, which stands to the left. Continuing along the road one passes a Jewish city which was commenced by Sir Moses Monteflore with the idea that it would be inhabited by poor people of the Hebrew faith, and of late years crowds of this persecuted race have been coming to the land of their ancestors and to this par ticular city from all parts of the world. Arrived at Bethlehem one naturally hastens to see the scenes of the Nativity, full of expectation and yet ready to be dis-appointed. The Mount of Olives, Golgotha, the sacred sepulchre, all were in my eyes spoiled for the want of that exquisite sim-plicity which had filled my childish visions. Everywhere the ardor of the faithful has shown itself in upsetting and improving things in a deplorable manner.

Passing through the narrow and crooked street which outs Bethlehem into two parts one finally reaches the extremity of the burg and finds himself in an oblong square, which in its turn opens into an esplanade paved with stone, here and there showing openings into cisterns which served for baptisms and for ablutions among former generations of Christians. In those days it was the usage to wash be fore entering the sanctuary.

A curious scene is here on the very border of the place of the Nativity. On one side a burial ground with white tombs, on two other sides rows of bare, high walls, like a fortress or a prison. Here and there windows pierce the walls, but no doors. One looks about him mystifled, but finally discovers a black hole in and out of which people are passing almost on all fours, so low is it. This is the chief entry to the sanctuary of the Nativity. Having passed through this hole, one finds himself in a large hall divided by four colonnades and surmounted by a roof flanked by heavy beams. People stand about talking and smoking, children play, Turkish soldiers sew up their uniforms, women give suck to their infants, fakirs offer oranges, beads and candies for sale, while Greek and Franciscan monks hurry about as if on business of pressing importance. Formerly, I am told, the Arabs used to stable

But this is not the stable where Jesus was born, and one is some time in discovering it. On the left two Turkish soldiers with rifles are stretched lazily on a bench. One is asleep, the other yawns. In front of them a circular stairway goes down to a door which seems to indicate a crypt. The door passed, one continues the descent by a narrow staircase until he comes to two other Turkish soldiers, this time standing up, with guns on the floor, and on the left, lighted by hanging lamps, is the following inscription: "Hie de Virgine Maria, Jesus Caristus, Natus Est" (here Jesus Christ was born of the Virgin

We are in the stable. This discovery is much of a surprise, and one's first inovement is for protestation, for the simple reason that nothing at all like a stable is apparent. We are in a grotto. To this objection the reply is made that in olden times it was the tom in Palestine to use grottos for stables. At night the Christmas service in Beth lehem begins at 10 o'clock with a pontifical mass celebrated at the Franciscan church near the basilica. The richest vestments are worn for this office, these having been presented in the name of the French republic by Marechal MacMahon. This first ceremony is concluded about midnight, and then a long procession with candles in hand moves toward the grotto of the Nativity. First comes the cross bearer, followed by Franciscan monks and members of other religious bodies. patriarch comes last, and directly behind him, at the head of the laymen, walks the French consul with his attendants.

Only those who precede the patriarch carry candles, but that dignitary bears in his hand with infinite precaution a beautiful little child in wax, which with sweet smile seems almost on the point of drying out. The divine child rests in a mange on silken cushions rose colored and embroidered with gold. At its feet are cloths of fine lace, and under the cushion stands

THE CHILDREN'S DAY.

Christmas Should Be the Happiest o Their Holidays.

In every household special pains should be taken to insure a "good time" for the little ones of the family, and in homes where there are no children the opportunity is afforded to make it a pleasant day for some less fortunate little ones whose parents have not the means of providing gifts and a good dinner for them.

Perhaps during the year that is nearly gone death has taken from your home the child God had given you and you mourn-fully sit at your lonely hearth brooding over your grief, refusing to be comforted. It may cost an effort, and perhaps you feel that you cannot now endure the sound of childish voices in your silent rooms, yet it will surely bring comfort to you if you throw off this feeling and invite some children to spend the day with you.

In memory of your own little one, who now needs them no more, prepare a few gifts for your guests. Whatever these may be, toys or useful articles of which they stand in need, they will not fail to give pleasure to the recipients. Let the dinner be as good as you can prepare it, and the memory of it will linger long years in the little hearts of those who partake of it. It may be as bread upon the watersknows?

As far as possible let the gifts be suited to the needs of the recipient. The boy whose toes ache with cold will appreciate warm shoes, and to the little girl who has no other head covering than a summer hat a new hood will be welcome.

A lady once remarked in my hearing that she thought it a mistake to make only gifts of wearing apparel to poor chil-dren, even if it was needed. Children, she said, appreclate toys, candles and nuts, or even ornamental gifts more than they do clothes, and that a child would get more enjoyment out of such things, even if he went with cold feet and bare hands.

Be that as it may, each of us is able to give pleasure of some sort to some child at Christmas time. Let not this joyous season pass while we selfishly lavish gifts upon those whom we have every reason to expect will return the compliment and leave unnoticed those to whom Christma neans so little more than the name. WOMAN'S WORK.

chares that woman's work is never done. This is true of the housewife's manifold duties and ap-proximately true of the thousands who work all day in factores and stores and half the night in making and mending their own clothes or sewing for others to patch out a meagre income. Women who are too much on their feet, or who are unable to stand the strain of over-work and worry are peculiarly susceptible to the weak-nesses and irregularities that are the bane of womankind. The symptoms of such derangements are insufficient or excessive menstruation, headache, backache, neuralgia, leucorrhœa, displacements and extreme nervousness amounting in many cases to hysteria. The use of morphine is dangerous and examinations by male physicians are painful and unpleasant.

A Letter to the People.

My DEAR FRIENDS:--Knowing as I do your every wish concerning the happy Christmas tide now so near at hand, I take this method of doing you a little service in the way of setting you right in making selections of the numerous little gifts you are to purchase for those who are near and dear to you. And the matter is indeed very simple for in your city there is a store in which is assembled together such a goodly assortment of attractive and useful presents that cannot fail to please the most fastideous purchaser. I am sure you will agree with me that the line is by far the nicest and most artistic ever in your city; that each article will appeal strongly to the very best taste, means and preference of every right-minded practical buyer.

Take my advice and see if this is not so. Do your Christmas shopping largely at the store of J. B. Swindell. Sincerely your old friend and well wisher.
