FRIDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1897.

It is claimed that New Hampshire patriots had the honor of striking the first blow against British power in America; but North Carolina has the honor of issuing the first declaration of independence from British rule. An exact copy of the famous Mechlenburg declaration will be found in another column.

Home Wedding.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Shaw in this village, the contracting parties being Miss Maggie, second daughter of Mr. Shaw, and Mr. George Colcutt, also of Pinchurst. The impressive ceremony was performed by Daniel Blue, justice of the peace, and the rooms were tastily decorated with flowers and evergreens. The bride was prettily gowned in white lawn, trimmed with white lace and heliotrope ribbon. After the marriage ceremony, which was witnessed by the relatives and friends of both families, a reception was held by the happy couple, followed by a wedding supper, to which all present did ample justice. The table was ornamented with four handsome loaves of bride's cake. After supper dancing was indulged in until a late hour.

GREENSBORO, -N. C.

She had never been to a dinner party before, and so was a bit nervous. When the ices came, small cakes were passed with them. Most of the cakes were covered with pink icing, but on the further side of the dish was one coated with chocolate. "I will take this," she exclaimed, and attempted to pick up the cake. To her surprised it seemed glued to the platter. At the same time attention from all quarters was centred on her by the remark of the sable waiter, "Beg pardon, miss; but that's mine." The supposed chocolate was his thumb !-Boston Home Journal.
