MASSACHUSETTS appreciates a good governor when she gets one, and no one disputes the fact that Governor Wolcott is an honor to the old Commonwealth and a worthy successor to the many eminent men who have preceded him in the high and honorable office of governor. The voters of the old Bay State did themselves and the state honor last Tuesday in electing Hon. Roger Wolcott governor for another term.

THE death of Henry George appears to have been Tammany's gain, and the tiger has won the race in Greater New York.

THE recent elections show that bossism is not yet extinct.

MARK HANNA is still on deck.

As Others See Us.

THE PINEHURST OUTLOOK, a bright newsy paper, published at Pinehurst, N. C., by Mr. Frank T. Spinney with Mr. Arthur H. Spinney as editor, is before us. We welcome the bright, new journal, representative of its bright new town, among our exchanges.—Warrenton Record.

We have received the first copy of THE PINEHURST OUTLOOK, printed at Pinehurst, N. C., of which Mr. Arthur H. Spinney, recently of this city, is editor. It is a very neatly gotten up eight-page paper, not quite half the size of the Journal, with handsomely printed cuts, and admirable presswork generally.—Portsmouth (N. H.) Journal.

We are in receipt of the initial number of THE PINEHURST (N. C.) OUTLOOK, published by our former postmaster, F. T. Spinney, and edited by a former attache of this office, Arthur H. Spinney. We congratulate the citizens of that beautiful place on the bright, newsy and well printed exponent of their cause. We predict a brilliant future for Pinehurst and expect that the OUTLOOK will do its share in bringing prosperity to the present citizens of the locality and also increase the population by its well-written and finely illustrated articles on the beauties and health of the place.—Medford (Mass.) Mercury.

Pinehurst as a Pennsylvanian Sees It.

The representative of the Leader-Courier, of Osceola Mills, Pa., who recently visited Pinehurst with the Juniata Valley Editorial Association, of Pennsylvania, has the following description of our village in his paper:

"Pinehurst, Moore county, N. C., is a New England village, and it is in the very heart of the long-leaf pine region of the south. It has a wonderfully mild climate, corresponding almost exactly to the temperature of southern France and of Florence, Italy; but is a much more favorable climate for complete mental rest than either of those famous resorts. The rare invigorating property of the long-leaf pine marks this spot as a natural sanitarium, not excelled, so far as known, by any location in the world. In the most favorable situation six thousand acres have been selected for the model village of Pinehurst. The aim is to establish a health resort adapted to the needs of people of refined taste who require the beneficial effects of a winter in the south, but cannot pay the usual high price for accommodation. Those whose health is impaired must have such comforts and conveniences as they have at home. They must have plenty of good, nourishing food, well cooked; with pleasant surroundings, amusements, occupations and agreeable companions. Pinehurst is established to meet the wants of just such persons. It is not a sanitarium for invalids, but a health resort for the weary and overworked. The town is located six miles west of Southern Pines, on the Seaboard Air Line railroad, and five miles from Aberdeen, on the Aberdeen & Asheboro railroad. An electric road connects it with Southern Pines, and trolley cars, both open and closed, (the latter heated by electricity) maintain a regular service between the two towns. It is situated six hundred and fifty feet above sea level, and is laid out like a park. The soil is almost pure sand, of great depth. Mud and malaria are unknown. Its homes are all supplied with running water from Pinehurst spring, a water of unequalled purity (of which we attest, as we tasted it,) which has proved a marked benefit to sufferers from indigestion, rheumatism and kidney difficulties. No land is sold, for the reason that the ideal results at which the owner aims can be assured in no other way. The town has a good hall, school building, printing office, store buildings, museum and a circulating library. A fine park has been established, in which will be found deer, turkeys and other animals and fowls that will interest you. If you go south don't fail to stop at Southern Pines or Pinehurst, which are both growing towns. Mr. Charles D. Benbow, manager for Mr. Tufts, will please accept thanks for courtesies."

"Marriage," said the old bachelor, "is but a lottery, after all." "There's where you're off," replied Henry Peek. "If you draw a blank in a lottery, you can tear it up and that's the end of it.—Chicago News.

Every once in a while a girl says in the presence of young man that all the desirable young men are already married. The young man don't say much, but he suddenly recalls that all the best cooks in the world are also married.—Exchange.

She Was Horrified.

An old lady from the country, who was in town on Saturday, confided to a friend that she thought it was perfectly awful the way the Raleigh men did with their wives. When questioned as to her reason for such an opinion, she said that up by the capital there was a big brick house with "Woman's Exchange" on the sign in front. Not knowing what it meant, she got a gentleman who was passing to tell her, and he said when Raleigh men got tired of their wives, they went up there and exchanged them.—Raleigh Times.

"Is this the skull of a man or woman?" inquired the prosecuting attorney of the famous expert. "It is a woman's skull," replied the anatomist. "How do you know?" "By the worn appearance of the jaws."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Are you in pain, my little man?" asked the kind old gentleman. "No," answered the boy, "the pain's in me."—Indianapolis Journal.
