From the North will receive special attention. The proprietor is familiar with the haunts and habits of the game in Moore county, and with gun and dog will give all possible assistance to his guests.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Dr. W. A. Monroe of Sanford was in town yesterday.

Supt. Rhodes of the experimental farm was in town yesterday.

Chase Carrington, formerly a resident here, is spending a three month's holiday in El Paso, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. George Calcutt will please accept our thanks for a generous portion of bride's cake.

Miss Nathalie Bent of Allston, Mass., has rented cottage C on Main street, and will soon take possession.

Fred H. Bacon of New Hampshire will again act as one of the engineers at the power station this winter.

M. C. Stanback, traveling salesman for the Merchants Grocery Co. of Greensboro, was in town last Tuesday.

Charles E. Vale returned last night from a two days' trip with his camera in the northern part of the state.

Rev. Rufus B. Tobey of Boston, Mass., has rented cottage No. 33, East Village Green street, for the winter season.

Mr. Ab. Fry and family, who now reside at Mineral Springs polling place, will soon move to the vicinity of Jackson Springs.

F. R. Baker of Boston was in town Thursday looking over the village. He is making his headquarters at Sanford at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery, who spent last winter in Pinehurst, have taken up their residence in Newport, R. I., where Mr. Emery has a position.

William Keuster of Charlotte, formerly employed here as plumber, returned to town last Saturday and resumed his old position for the winter.

It is rumored that Mr. Leonard, a prominent figure last year on the tennis court of Holly Inn, will spend the coming winter in El Paso, Texas.

W. D. Trotter, traveling salesman for a Richmond hardware firm, was in town last Wednesday trying to persuade Supt. Benbow that his goods were the best on earth.

Arthur Root of Springfield, Mass., who spent last season in this village, has returned and is now in this vicinity looking for a place where he can make a permanent home.

W. C. Bain, of the firm of Bain & Longest, contractors and builders, who has been visiting his family in Greensboro during the past week, returned to town yesterday.

John Blake who last winter conducted the Pinehurst meat market, will remove to a farm he has purchased near the village of Candor, and butcher on his own account this winter.

Mrs. H. B. Carrington and daughters, of Hyde Park, Mass., will start for Pinehurst on the 9th inst. They will make their home in cottage No. 22, on Main street, during the season.

Dr. and Mrs. Cate and Miss Cate have taken a house in Danvers Plains, Mass. Miss Cate has been quite ill the past month, but is now convalescent. We hope to see them in Pinehurst again this winter.

O. W. Gorrill and family of Oakland, Cal., will again occupy cottage No. 22, on Magnolia road. Like many others Mr. Gorrill cannot stay away from Pinehurst in the winter season.

Miss Mabel T. Hall who, with her father, occupied a suite in "The Palmetto" last season, has engaged accommodations for the season at the Holly Inn. Equestrian parties will now be in order.

Mr. I. W. Springfield, proprietor of the Wolfeborough Mills, who was with us all last winter, writes that he and his wife are again drawn to this favored locality and will come down shortly.

Dr. C. D. Jones of Milton, N. H., so well and favorably known in the village last winter, will soon return for the coming season. As a hunter the doctor is a close second to Bro. Powell of Aberdeen.

Our old friend E. Rogers of North Adams, Mass., well known here last winter as the "pilgrim," has been ill for the past two months in his northern home. His friends here all wish him a speedy recovery, and expect to see him in Pinehurst during the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Turnbull and Miss Grace Turnbull, who were at Holly Inn last season, will spend the winter months in Asheville, N. C. Miss Turnbull, who was the leading spirit in Sunday school work among the colored people of Pinehurst, will be greatly missed.

Dr. Hale's Joke.

The other morning several ministers who were assembled at their weekly meeting place were entertaining each other with jokes and stories on the brethren of the cloth.

"I heard a little story the other day which I believe has never been given to the public," said the pastor of a well-known south side church. "I understand the incident occurred some time ago, but for some reason or other it seems it did not get out, at least not out west.

The story concerns two eminent churchmen, one of the Unitarian and the other of the Episcopalian church, E. E. Hale and Bishop Huntington of New York, respectively.

I believe at one time Bishop Huntington was a member of the Unitarian church but afterward changed over to the Episcopalian flock.

Bishop Huntington and Dr. Hale were old friends, and I believe they continued such after the conversion of the bishop. This story would certainly indicate as much, anyway.

You know the Episcopalians have a lot of saints assigned to the various days of the year. When an Episcopalian minister writes a letter on any day for which there is a saint he always writes the name of the saint at the close of the letter instead of the date.

Bishop Huntington learned all of these things quickly and began to practice them at once. The first time he had occasion to write to his old friend Dr. Hale after joining the church he used the regulation method of closing his letter, placing 'St. Michael's day,' after his signature.

A reply from the doctor came, and after his name he had written in a full, round hand, 'Wash day.'—Chicago Chronicle

MEN AND WOMEN.

An unhappy woman is the most unhappy looking thing on earth.

Some men smoke cigars as short as they can, but others smoke them as long as they can.

According to the advance sheets of fashion, a woman's hat will not be on straight this winter unless it is on crooked.

After a woman has realized her ambition and owns a writing desk she continues to write her letters on the kitchen table.

A man handles a needle very awkwardly, but when the button he sews on comes off a little bunch of cloth goes with it.

There isn't perfect confidence between a man and his wife unless he voluntarily tells her when he has had his salary raised.

When a woman refuses to go away on a vacation for fear her husband might get lonesome, it is really because she is afraid he might not.—Acheson Globe.

PERT PERSONALS.

The diplomatic world is ready to concede that the sultan is the sly old man of Europe.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Fitzsimmons was struck by a drunken coachman the other day, and Bob says it was the hardest blow he ever received. As a side swipe at Corbett this remark is a masterpiece.—Washington Post.

Sarah Bernhardt is to play Hamlet. The only obstacle which she may encounter in her path toward success in that role will be that the majority of the people will mistake her for the ghost.—Denver Post.

When the kaiser met the Austria-Hungary emperor at Totin, they kissed each other twice. And again the public is wild to know what the kaiser will do when he meets Queen Lil.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The descent of Queen Victoria has recently been traced to Turlough O'Connor, an Irish king of 1400 A. D. Victoria O'Connor! What a shock to the old lady, who has never particularly cared for Ireland!—Lewiston Journal.
