SUNDAY SERVICES.

General Carrington Delivers a Very Interesting Lecture at the Casino.

The services last Sunday were held in the parlor of the Casino. Rev. R. B. Tobey of Boston conducted the exercises, beginning with a service of praise, followed by the Doxology, the Lord's Prayer, responsive reading of the Beatitudes, prayer, familiar hymns, and as the Scripture lesson, the third chapter of II. Corinthians, emphasizing the closing verse as appropriate to General Carrington's remarks upon the theme "The Bible Mirror of Man." We give notes of the leading points of the address, which in these times are worthy of special thought.

By way of introduction, the general made the following statement: "Existing family documents bring the settlement of New England so definitely before the mind, that if all printed histories were lost, the facts of the settlement are definitely certain. In like manner, the long life of the evangelist St. John, through his disciple Polycarp, Ireneus and others, connect as definitely with the date of the earliest copies of the New Testament, making the record of Christ's career as certain as the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers. And so the long lives of the overlapping descendants of Adam up to Moses, cover only five generations, when the authentic record began. Adam was contemporary with eight generations of his descendants; Noah, with all of these but two; Noah and Shem were contemporary with Lamech and Methuselah, and so on, so that Moses could receive the history of the creation, fifth hand from Adam."

The following is a brief extract of his address: "The Bible, the oldest book in the world, combines history, geography, biography, physical science, natural history, invention and art, without fundamental error, and all corroborated by secular history and the discoveries made in ancient ruins. The Bible is the only consistent and satisfactory key to the origin, mission, capacities, possibilities and destiny of the human soul. Every possible taste, passion, and ambition; every possible crime, wrong, or abuse of person or property, are illustrated with their natural and eventual fruition. No wrongs are glossed over when committed by the great, and none are extenuated so long as persisted in; but in every phase of life good conduct and penitence for wrong-doing are blessed with divine favor, so that paternal love never fails to satisfy the filial longings of the soul when it renders filial homage and duty. All the books in the world, gathered and analyzed, could not thus fully reveal and mirror man in every possible aspect of his being and needs. Within ten years more copies have been distributed than have ever been published of Shakespeare, "Robinson Crusoe," and "Arabian Nights," and Shakespeare himself is indebted to its text for more than five hundred of his choicest delineations of character and conduct. It has been printed in 365 dialects and languages, being more than six times as many as any other volume.

Its true democracy, republican government, and educational system which began with the youngest child, were commented upon, as well as its civil code, from which nearly all British and American laws have been derived. The conduct of its judicial tribunals as to crimes, testimony, and the police regulations of camps, cities and villages, with assessment of taxes, weights and measures, etc., are the basis of all modern legislation in such directions. The military system, both trained and militia, was upon the decimal basis upon which modern organizations are fashioned, and its verified prophecies have no parallel in the history of any other people or record. It is a true mirror of human life, showing to every soul its inner self and the line of duty that brings happiness and blessing."

Union religious services will be held every Sunday during the season, and will include a preaching service at 10.45 a. m., Sunday school at 12 m., a preaching or conference meeting at 7 p. m., and a mid-week prayer meeting each Thursday evening at 7.30 p. m. Until further notice all the services will be held in the little red school house at the foot of the Village Green.
