FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1898.

WE have just received No. 1, Vol. I, of the Carthage Unit, published by Carlos McLeod. It will be published weekly and in the interests of the republican party and its principles. It claims to be the only republican paper in Moore county and will fill a want which has for a long time been felt. We wish Bro. McLeod a full measure of success, financially and otherwise.

What Fun.

The News and Observer in a recent issue in sounding its own praise, among other conceited things has this to say:

"The News and Observer will henceforth greet its readers with as clean an appearance as the principles it espouses are pure and elevating.

Now don't that make you laugh?

If the clean appearance of the N. and lifting "principles it espouses" then its pages will be so black that when you carry a copy of it home with you the chickens will immediately go to roost, your lamps will all go out and you will actually have to carry a "bulls-eye" lantern with you while walking around in the daylight .- Carthage Unit.

A man sent this answer to a book-seller who sent in his account for a book some time before delivered: "I never ordered the book. If I did, you did not send it. If I got it, I paid for it. If I didn't, I won't."-Town and Country Journal.

Entertainment at Holly Inn.

The denizens of Pinehurst are indebted to Mr. Jenney for a chaste musical and literary entertainment at the Holly Inn, Friday evening last. Following is the st	1.	Reading,-"How Jinny Eased He	er attini,

		Miss Powers.
1-	8.	Song,-"For All Eternity,"	Mascheroni
		Miss Carrington

When Annie Louise Cary was prima inter pares among the galaxy which included so many illustrious musicians, it was sufficient to say of her performance that she sang as well as usual. This compliment is equally applicable to the orchestra. So much is expected of them that only a falling off from their high standard would be noticed. Our debt of gratitude to them must be met at their testimonial March 1st.

Orchestra.

The audience was introduced to a pleasant surprise when Miss Powers rendered "Crossing the Bar." The poet-laureate wrote himself into his poem, and Miss Powers has fully caught the spirit of it. Her interpretation of the beautiful lines is beyond criticism. The second selection afforded ample scope for her powers of pathos and humor. Mr. Andrews won the favor and applause of the audience by his banjo solo. Another selection was demanded by an enthusiastic encore. Again we took a "Turkish Bath" with friend Rogers with renewed delight. And how we enjoyed his stump speech. Miss Upham and Miss Carrington well deserved the encores they received. Miss Carrington was at her best, and never before in Pinehurst has sung so effectively. We always expect to be pleased with Miss Upham's singing and were not disappointed this time. Had a vote of thanks for Mr. Jenney been called for the walls would have resounded with cheers.

An Unexpected Pleasure.

Scene: one of our cottages.

Dramatis personæ: two ladies from the Holly Inn and the chairman of our entertainment committee.

One of the ladies-"We called to make a contribution to the entertainment fund and to show that we appreciate the efforts of your committee. We could not attend O. is to be measured by the pure and up- the reception last evening, but feeling sure that expenses exceeded the receipts, wish to compensate for an enforced ab-

This leads to the query if it is not generally understood that the entertainment committee was elected at a representative meeting to which all of our people were invited; and the object of the Pinehurst evening receptions is to carry out the wishes of the meeting and to provide the best that can be secured with the money placed at the disposal of the committee. Certainly the ladies referred to above clearly understood this, and their thoughtfulness is highly appreciated.
