THE DEER PARK, PINEHURST.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

The chicken hasn't got no song
Like birds dat carol sweet.
He doesn' frow no sweetness roun'
But saves it foh de meat.

—Washington Star.

The Pinehurst fire department has received a new supply of hose.

The first cold snap of the season was experienced during the past few days. An overcoat felt comfortable.

Louis A. Page of Aberdeen has sold his plantation known as Linden, situated about two miles from this village.

The county court for civil cases has been held at Carthage during the week. We have not heard of any case from this neighborhood.

Calvin McKenzie has erected a grist-mill near the Culdee church. It is run by water and will grind a bushel of corn in twenty minutes.

The Greensboro Telegram announces that the Boston base ball club, to the number of twenty-five, will be in Greensboro about March 21st.

A glove lost inside the village limits last Wednesday can be returned to the owner if the finder will leave it at the office of THE OUTLOOK.

Charles L. Longsdorf, formerly traveling passenger agent at Philadelphia, Pa., has recently been appointed New England passenger agent of the roads comprising the Seaboard Air Line, with office at 306 Washington street, Boston, Mass.

Owing to the storm last Sunday, preaching services at the Culdee church were postponed until next Sunday at 2.30 p. m., when the pastor, Rev. C. H. Dobbs, will conduct the services. This church is located in the woods about three miles from town. Our winter visitors are cordially invited to be present.

The Christian Union services next Sabbath will be held in the Village Hall, at 11 o'clock a. m. Rev. Mr. Ellery I. Wilcox of Providence, R. I., assistant rector of the Church of the Messiah in that city, will conduct an Episcopal service. Rev. Mr. Wilcox is a winter resident here, and no doubt a large audience will assemble to hear him.

Christian Union services were held last Sabbath morning as usual in the Village Hall. Rev. Mr. Emery preached on the temptations of Christ in the wilderness. The session of the Sabbath school was held immediately after the morning service. In addition to the regular lessons, Mr. Chivers drew illustrations in oil bearing on the bible study of the day.

Mrs. E. F. Adams entertained about thirty of the young people of Pinehurst at her suite in the "Marlborough" last Thursday evening. Candy was made, pulled, and voted a success. Games were played, in one of which the exercise of the memory was made an emphatic point, and prizes were awarded. The evening passed rapidly and pleasantly. An invitation to one of Mrs. Adams' "at homes" is always a guarantee of a good time.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Thomas M. Dobson is a guest at the Holly Inn.

T. B. Jones and wife of Boston are at the Inn for the season.

Mrs. J. H. Roblee and family of St. Louis, Mo., are occupying a suite in the "Beacon" and will spend the season here.

Professor D. F. Lincoln of Boston is at the Holly Inn and is prepared to form a class of students in the higher branches of education.

We were pleased to again greet Mr. B. E. Taylor, Pinehurst's architect, last Friday. He came to inspect the buildings recently finished.

Miss Hopkinson has gone on a week's visit to Fitzgerald, Ga. She will be heartily welcomed on her return by the many friends she has made in the village during her stay here.

W. L. Adams of Boston, Mass., who was here on a visit to his mother, Mrs. E. F. Adams of the "Marlborough," last week, has gone on a business trip to Mexico and Central America.

Mrs. Amanda McMurry of Washington, D. C., is a guest at the "Oaks." Mrs. McMurry passed the first of the winter in Asheville, but found the weather altogether too cold in that section.

The following are the arrivals at Holly Inn last evening: A. M. Evans and wife of Worcester, Mass., J. C. Duncan and wife of Clinton, Mass., F. W. Hunt of Richmond, Va., Miss S. Ballard of Portland, Me., Miss T. Hunt of Newport, R. I.

Miss M. E. Stone of Chicago, Ill., is at the "Cedars" for the season. Miss Stone is on the staff of the Eye published in Englewood, that city. The railroads have just commenced to sell return trip tickets to Southern Pines, and Miss Stone was the first purchaser.

Newton H. Smith of Fayetteville, N. C., visited our village last Saturday. Mr. Smith is a well known real estate agent in this section of the state. He is now making a specialty of a number of small farms of from ten to twenty-five acres on the Yadkin Valley railroad, a few miles north of Fayetteville.

Dr. C. F. Hildreth of Concord, N. H., who is traveling through this section of the South, paid our village a visit last Tuesday. He was accompanied by Mr. George E. Gordon of the Atlantic house, York Beach, Me. Both gentlemen were well pleased with the village and will return here in a short time for a prolonged visit.

A Welcome Announcement.

In response to an urgent invitation from the Pinehurst Christian Union, Dr. Edward Everett Hale will preach in the New Hall Sunday morning, March 27th. Dr. Hale will also give a reading from his own works Thursday evening, March 24th, in the regular entertainment course, for the benefit of the Boston Floating Hospital, one of the departments of the Ten Times One society, of which he is the president.

Pinehurst Reading Room.

The reading room on the second floor of the Casino is open free to all guests in the village, and the regular issues of the following newspapers and periodicals can be found there:
