Fire Sufferers—Special Notice.

A relief committee has been organized to assist the sufferers from the forest fires in the settlements contiguous to Pinehurst. This committee requests that all applicants for aid be sent to them; or that all persons aiding any of these families will kindly notify the committee so that aid shall not be duplicated except when necessary. Miss Gilbert of the relief committee will be in Mr. Benbow's front office from 10 to 12 a. m., and from 3 to 5 p. m. every day (except Sunday) until further notice, to receive contributions of bedding, clothing and provisions. She will also provide for needy persons and families during these same hours. Money for the purchase of necessary supplies may be handed to Messrs. Tobey, Spinney and Jenney; or to Miss Upham, at the post office, and Miss Drew, treasurer of the relief committee. New cases of destitution are constantly being brought to the notice of the committee. Every contribution will be judiciously expended and distributed.

The General Not Annoyed.

When a certain general was camping on the lower Mississippi, his negro boy, Harry, was one day asked by a friend whether the general was not terribly annoyed by mosquitoes.

"No, sah!" said Harry; "in the evenin' Mars' George is so 'toxicated he don't mind the skeeters, and in the mornin' the skeeters is so 'toxicated they don't mind Mars' George."—Argonaut.

Once upon a time there was a man who said it was a "solemn crowd" at the Inn. He should have seen the games of "blind-man's-bluff," "going to Jerusalem," and "handkerchief." Wednesday evening. Even dignified gray heads were seen among the players, and one could scarcely accuse them of looking solemn.

The entertainment committee presented the four-act drama "Esmeralda" in the Village Hall last evening, under the personal direction of Miss Eugenie D. Upham, and a very large and appreciative audience were present. All receipts from the sale of reserved seat tickets will be devoted to the relief of the sufferers by the recent forest fires. We shall give a full report of the performance in our next issue.

A certain artist who is spending the winter in our village recently took a walk across the country looking for choice bits of scenery worthy of reproduction on canvas. Arriving at a farmhouse in the woods the rambler was invited to enter, and after looking at the unique features of the building asked permission of the proprietor to sketch it. On receiving his assent our resident suggested to the lady of the house that a picture of the fireplace and chimney would be very pretty and asked if she would object if the artist came some day and painted it. The housewife seemed somewhat embarrassed for a moment and replied that she had been intending for some time to white-wash it herself.

A certain gentleman in Raleigh, N. C., is greatly interested in chicken culture, and possesses a number of very valuable fowl representing some of the best breeds in the country. He has for some time used an incubator to hatch chicks, and even in the winter time has chicks of all ages, and uses the patent brooder in place of the mother hen to keep them warm, which in this climate is not a very hard thing to do. A short time since, the time of hatching having arrived, the chicks began to pip and break the shells in their effort to enter upon the arena of life. An old colored man happened to be present and, after a vain attempt to find the hen, suddenly exclaimed: "De white man done beat God Almighty. He make ice in de summer time, an' hatch chicks widout hens."

Washington's Birthday.

With the valuable assistance of Postmaster Powell of Aberdeen, Hon. C. M. Cooke of Louisburg, N. C., ex-secretary of state, has been secured to give the principal address at the Village Hall Feb. 22d., on the occasion of the celebration of Washington's Birthday. Mr. Cooke is an able lawyer and eloquent speaker. He was captain in the Confederate army during the late war. It is expected that other gentlemen resident in this state will also speak. Gen. H. B. Carrington, U. S. A., will preside. The orchestra will furnish music.

Two young gentlemen rivals called the same evening on the object of their affections. "John," said the one who came in last, and who had an umbrella in his hand, "if I come here again, and find you here, I'll run this umbrella through you, and spread it."
