Dr. Nansen says that Niagara falls is the most remarkable and impressive thing he has thus far seen in this country.

Professor H. C. Crosby (colored), who died recently at Raleigh, left $700 to Shaw university, of which he was an alumnus.

General Dabney H. Maury, the oldest surviving Confederate officer in Virginia, has applied to the state legislature for a pension.

General Benjamin F. Harrison pays taxes in Indianapolis on $105,000 worth of property, about $25,000 less than President Cleveland's valuation.

The University of Illinois has conferred the honorary degree of D. D. upon the Rev. Louis De Cornus, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Columbia, Pa., formerly of Great Neck, N. Y.

Herbert M. Lord, secretary of the committee of ways and means of the house of representatives of congress, has the reputation of being one of the finest tenor singers in the state of Maine.

Frank Mark of St. Louis is the only pensioner in Missouri who is awarded $100 a month, yet he was in the army only 16 days and did not fight a battle. He lost both arms in cannon practice.

Count Dimitri Miljutin, formerly war minister of Czar Alexander II and one of the chief promoters of the emperor's liberal reforms, has just celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of his admission to the Russian general staff.

While he was in England Minister Bayard came into possession of a medallion of John Wesley which was made by Josiah Wedgewood. He has just presented it to the Brandywine Methodist Episcopal church of Wilmington, Del.

One of the sturdy old pioneers of Indiana is Alexander Morrow, Carroll county's oldest citizen, who is now living at Flora. Mr. Morrow was born Jan. 9, 1803, in Northumberland county, Pa. His father was a soldier in the war of 1812.

Colonel John S. Mosby has just refused to receive as a present from one of his old guerrillas a limb from the walnut from which General Custer hanged ten of the Confederate scoundrels during the war. He said that he would not touch the wood with a pitchfork.

H. S. Townsend, who is now living quietly in Missouri, was once prominent in the west, and was spokesman of the committee which presented U. S. Grant with a $2,700 sword on the occasion of his appointment as lieutenant general of the United States armies.

Mr. Gladstone, who has been reading Dr. Moses Coit Tyler's recent volume on the literary history of the American Revolution, writes to the author, "For nearly half a century I have been an admiring student of the American Revolution, and I believe myself to owe to it an appreciable part of my own political education."

Hugh de Grey Seymour, the sixth marquis of Hertford, has joined the members of the aristocracy who have been obliged to quit their ancestral halls. He has just informed the authorities of Alcester, Warwickshire, near which his seat, Ragley Hall, is situated, that he will be obliged to rent it.

POULTRY POINTERS.

Light Brahmas make good broilers. Fowls that are overfed are not healthy. Fowls need a good dust bath as much as they do grit.

Bran and buttermilk make a good ration for laying hens. Plan to hatch as many chickens as possible as early as possible.

With the exception of geese, old fowls of any kind are unprofitable.

If you breed your fowls to short legs, you will gain on the body.

Fowls that have a good variety of food rarely need artificial stimulants.

Too close inbreeding is one cause of barren eggs and weakly chickens.

Poultry of all kinds will fatten sufficiently with three weeks' feeding.

Turkey hens are unprofitable after they are 3 years old. Sell or eat them.

The poet Burns spelled his name Burness (his family name) until the publication of his poems in 1786.

Mrs. Katherine T. Prescott is in New York at work on a portrait bust of the young actress, Miss Julie Opp.

Edwin Deakin, one of the best known artists of the west, has decided to devote the next few years to painting the old missions of California.

Henry Labouchere always dictates his work to a shorthand secretary. Although he has to a great extent given up the active editorial work in connection with Truth, he makes a point of passing on all the proofs each week.

Louis Becke has been severely criticised for using the title "The Ebbing of the Tide" for his book on the ground that it was cribbed from Stevenson's "Ebb Tide." The fact of the matter, however, is that Mr. Becke's book appeared as a serial in the Sydney Bulletin two years before Stevenson's novel came out.

UNCLE ANSON.

Hon. Bebe Anson is to retire from baseball, and is not going into politics or on the stage. Hon. Bebe Anson is a grand old man.—Washington Post.

Uncle Anson will give up the management of the Chicago Baseball club, but he will still remain at the head of the bureau of prediction.—Philadelphia North American.

Anson won't talk to anybody, and the final settlement of the Chicago club's troubles will be announced by some other talker. Uncle Anson is as silent as the proverbial clam.—Chicago News.

WOMEN'S WAYS.

Will the new woman wear her chignon bifurcated?—Minneapolis Journal.

The Chicago billiard room for women will never make money because the women will steal the balls to darn socks on.—New Haven Register.

Mrs. Hannah Gould knows her business. With her 40 women for the Klondike she took a minister. There was never a matrimonial enterprise better equipped or taken to a better market.—Detroit Journal.
